Franks Case Is Nauseating One.

The trial of the two young men at Chicago for the murder of young Franks, a brutal, cold-blooded affair, has filled the newspapers of the United States for the past several weeks and to date me for tonight and I had all the horrible details have been raked up and hashed over to- to throw him down for a flat tire gether with photographs showing the demeanor of the boys at like this poor fish! Life sure is every stage of the trial. The only excuse for such publicity was tough. the fact that the lads were sons of millionaires and that the murder was a singularly brutal one.

If the boys are committed to imprisonment for life, it is to be assumed that they will obtain their liberty in time, something hair are crazy and I know the which should not be allowed. The verdict on September 10 ones who have not done it are will be awaited with interest.

Board Of Trade Excursion To Interior.

A number of local people left last evening for Smithers, Telkwa and other points to take in the two annual events there and to see something of the interior country. They will spend a week there before returning. That the trip will be beneficial to them goes without saying. They will return and spread the news of the great things they have seen and we shall all become enthused over the future of the Bulkley Valley.

There is a representative of the Daily News in the party and reports will be published in this paper of the progress of world. the party and of the things they see and do.

Visit Here Of High Commissioner.

P. C. Parkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, is coming to the Pacific coast to study trade conditions. He cannot well do that unless he visits Prince Rupert. This port will very soon be a factor in overseas trade and business will be done with the United Kingdom through this gateway. There is a rumor abroad that Larkin will be the representative of Canada to the United States. If this happens he will need to know about Prince Rupert because this port does more business with the states than any other on the coast.

Settling Down To Administering Province.

Since the elections were called the administrative end of the business of the province has resolved itself into a matter of routine.. Nothing could be done until the elections were over. Now that everything is settled the cabinet is being reorganized and things will get back to normal. Such matters as immigration, improvement of overseas trade, better freight rates and land settlement will be receiving closer attention.

If it is decided to permanently reduce the number of members of the cabinet the province will be the gainer. The cost of government is too great in the province. That is generally been submitted to public tender period of 1923. A natural inadmitted. We have too many ministers and too many members of the Legislature. All have to be paid. Seven cabinet minis- nationality was made, and most sible for the gain, but the road ters ought to be able to handle the affairs of a half a million people.

Splendid Steamship Service This Year.

There has been a splendid steamship service to Prince Rupert this year. The three companies have given regular services so that there have been boats coming in almost every day. This added to the excellent train service has been of great benefit to the city. One thing lacking, however, is a better mail service with the interior. We should have a daily mail as well as a daily train. Then we should have little to complain about in regard to service.
