Christmas And What It Means.

Once again the Daily News tenders to its readers and advertisers and the people of this city and district generally that time-honored greeting—"A Very Merry Christmas." Tomorrow, in accordance with custom long since set down, we devote ourselves to joyful festivities commemorating that day nineteen and twenty-five years ago when to "the world a Savior was born." It is fitting that we all should spare a very few moments from the gala Christian day to ponder over the event — sometimes unwittingly forgotten—that actuates that well known spirit of Christmas which the whole Christian world celebrates and without which it would be a very sorry world for all. In this spirit, again let the Daily News extend its sincere wish that Christmas 1924 will bring comfort and blessing to all.

Cemetery Road Is Badly Needed.

There should be no hesitation in supporting the money bylaw that the city council will present to the ratepayers at the next civic election to authorize the grading of the cemetery road. The estimated cost is but $17,000 — an expenditure which, spread over a long period of years, will hardly be noticed. The work proposed is something that has long been required and will insure against danger of accidents which have already occurred but which, fortunately, have not had any very serious results. The money will be well spent and there is no doubt that the work will be authorized by the citizens.

Time To Think About Election.

The annual civic election is but three weeks off and, so far, there is very little stir. It is only occasionally that one hears the subject of the campaign mentioned. The usual excitement seems to be delayed a little later than usual. With the holiday season over, we should see the candidates coming out and the electors beginning to interest themselves in the matter of choosing municipal guardians to whom will be entrusted the affairs of the city for a year in which a great deal of development and expansion is anticipated.

First Make Sure Of The Profits.

The subject of light and power rate reduction is once again before the city council. Some of the aldermen favor it and some are against it. Both sides are undoubtedly sincere in their contentions. The matter is entitled to the careful consideration that Ald. Macdonald asked be given it when he introduced his bylaw. The question to be decided will be whether the principle of using utilities surpluses to enhance general fund and reduce general taxation is to be followed or whether the consumers of power and light are to be given the benefit of the profits that those utilities are alleged to be piling up.

Before this matter of principle can be decided upon, however, it is necessary to establish definitely and authentically that the utilities are really earning all these profits that are attributed to them by those who are championing the cause of rate reduction. Also in this matter it would seem but logical to consolidate all the utilities—electric light and power, telephones and water—and ascertain that collectively they are profit bearing. There has been a good deal of heating around the bush during recent years as to the actual financial condition of the utilities. A certified audit, however, should settle this matter to the satisfaction of all. Then, and not until then, will it be time to decide whether the taxpayers or the utilities consumers are to receive the benefit from such surpluses as may be made from the utilities.

Think of the Unemployed
AT this glad season of the year
When all the world looks bright,
And you snuggle round the great big fire
With all the doors shut tight.

Just cast a thought to other men
Who are not placed like you,
And dig down in your pocket-book,
A dollar pays for two.

The final games in the cribbage tournament were played last Thursday night at the Benevolent's dance after the players had been eliminated down to six. Those left all played games with each other, and the points by which they lost in these games were scored against them. In the final reckoning-up it was found that E. Gunderson had the least number of such points and he was awarded the first prize of a turkey. The other winners were as follows: second, Geo. Heffernan, prize, a turkey; third, T. Brewer, a goose; fourth, D. Wardrop, a goose; fifth, Mrs. R. Arthur, $3.00; sixth; J. H. McIntyre, $2.00.
