TWINS ARE SEARCHING FOR THEIR MOTHER WHO DESERTED THE BABIES

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., Sept. 2.—Twenty-eight years ago after they were deserted, two sisters—twins—have started a search here for their mother. The two women themselves learned they were sisters less than two years ago, when one of the sisters was told of her adoption by her foster mother. This was on the eve of her marriage, and the foster mother felt that she should not keep secret any longer the fact that the bride was not her own daughter. After the two sisters found each other, they decided to make an attempt to find their mother to share with them their prosperity, as they married well-to-do men. The twins were mere babies when they were deserted on a farm near here. Later they were adopted by different families. Advertisements have been inserted in the newspapers in the search for their mother.
