UNFAIR LAW FOUND BY CITY COUNCIL

Undivided Lots Have to go to Tax Sale Even if Part of Taxes are Paid

Ald. Collart, who was in a very critical mood at Monday night's council meeting, asked if it was so that, in case of a person owning one-third interest in an undivided lot and paying his share of taxes while the other owners failed to do so, the lot would ave to go to tax sale. City Solicitor Jones explained that, under the law, such was the case. "Then it is a rotten thing and amounts to the city taking money under false pretences. I think the city should refund the taxes in such cases," said Ald. Collart. "The party in question can buy the lot in at the taxsale," stated the city solicitor. Although they had to concede! that such was the law, none of the city fathers thought it was a fair one.
