Regret Tieup Of Interior Mines.

It is unfortunate that through a dispute between the joint owners of several of the mines of the interior of northern British Columbia should be tied up. The ore is there and the owners have the money to work it but because of a dispute there is a shutdown. It shows how much the prosperity of the country depends upon individuals. Sometimes one wonders if too much power is not placed in the hands of individuals and corporations.

Quiet Struggle Always Going On.

There is a quiet struggle for more power going on all the time by the outlying portions of the British Empire. Canada has complete powers to regulate her own affairs with the one exception of being allowed to take cases for final adjudicature to the Privy Council of Great Britain. If the Empire is at war, however, the case is different. The foreign relations are governed by the cabinet of the British Government in which Canada is not represented. If Britain is at war the Empire is at war. We soon find that out, but we have no say in averting war or in the settlement except by courtesy of the British Government As a matter of fact Canada has no rights except such as she demands and just now she is demanding a lot. This naturally causes friction for British officialdom has been always difficul to move.

Canada's Position From Both Sides.

In a speech recently Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King stated that Canada would accept nothing but perfect equality in the matter of imperial relations. She objected to taxation without representation. He meant of course that he objected to to read a humorous column. paying for wars with which the country is not concerned except indirectly.

While the step taken by the Canadian premier is right as far as it goes, it must also be remembered that Canada contributes nothing to the British navy and does almost nothing in the way of naval defence. If we are to have privileges we must be A Dozen Located and Many Others prepared to pay for them. Australia is doing it and Canada will have to follow suit. We have not yet reached that stage in development where there is no danger of attack from aggressive nations. We may have to defend ourselves at any time and the best way to do this is to be prepared.

The chief speculation is as to what will happen after the pective new citizens have been has begun. The great German CURIOUS CROWN IS election. If the premier is elected he will carry on with a small majority and with a healthy opposition. If defeated the whole chiefly farmers with savings of weight against the main bodies situation would have to be considered. The government would $1,000 to $5,000 and many of of the Allied armies all along the probably be reorganized under a new premier and await the coming session when it would soon be seen whether or not another election were necessary. Probably a loose union of ter maintains that every effort fighting has been hand-to-hand Liberal and Labor would be effected that would make administration of affairs possible.

Local Hospital Board Replies That Local Conditions Should Govern With Respect to Training School

SCHOOL REQUIREMENT

A communication from the Ladysmith General Hospital Training School for nurses asking for support in efforts it is making to be relieved of a training school rule set by the Graduate Nurses' Association that those entering training must have completed two years successfully in High School was received at last night's meeting of the hospital and, on recommendation of the executive committee, it was decided to reply statthat local circumstances should govern in the application of such a rule.

The letter from Ladysmith, stating that the rule in question! made it difficult to obtain students there, expressed the opinion that it tended to eliminate the securing of the best kind of material for nurses and that it precluded the daughters of peo-
