MAE MARSH in
"PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING."

A picturization of Gertrude Page's novel and play of that name. One of the greatest stage successes of modern times. A comedy-drama with fascinating Mae as an incomparable Irish flapper, whose big heart always guides her straight as her quick wit turns real troubles into great happiness and griefs into joys. A pulse-stirring story so tender that tears spring up only to be dashed away by bits of delicious, quaint comedy, quickly followed by a climax so dramatic it leaves you gasping. A romantic tale of love that runs a rough course before it comes to the smooth path. Mae as Paddy, who was "the next best thing" to the son for whom her father had prayed. Delightful acting. Magnificent English and Irish scenery. Elaborate settings. Exciting hunting and yachting. Exceptional Anglo-American cast. Mae Marsh, Darby Foster, Sir Simeon Stuart, George K. Arthur, Tom Coventry, Nina Boucicault, Haidee Wright, Marie Wright and many distinguished others.

COMMON SENSE IS THE MOST UNCOMMON

Be that as it may, it is a matter of considerable interest that more and more householders in Prince Rupert are using common sense in making comparative coal tests for themselves.

Common sense says that although many coals may be good there can be only one BEST coal—the one lasting longest, giving the greatest heat, showing smallest ash deposit and being free from rock and clinkers. We believe the public has pronounced an undeniable verdict that "NANAIMO - WELLINGTON" is the BEST. This is also proved by the heavy demand that is being made daily upon Albert & McCaffrey's stock of this famous coal. Watch our delivery wagons and be convinced that we are selling most of the coal in Prince Rupert. There's a reason. Ask the woman who burns it.

Phone 116 or 564 for a trial order. Satisfaction guaranteed. Prompt delivery.

Don't forget Albert & McCaffery are sole agents for "Nanaimo-Wellington" coal. tf

ALASKA HERRING IS BEING DISCUSSED

Strong Objection Taken to Proposal to Restrict Fishing in Territory to Three Months Only

JUNEAU, Oct. 6.—In a statement made to the Juneau Empire, Lee H. Wakefield, owner of several large herring plants, is quoted as saying that if the proposal to limit herring fishing in Alaska to the three months between June 15 and September 15 is carried into effect it will ruin the herring fishing industry in Alaska. Mr. Wakefield says the herring fishing in Alaska has not reached the point where conservation should be needed. If it has, he says, Alaska will never have a herring industry.

Mr. Wakefield says the only conservation that ought to be required would be to compel herring packers to establish product plants where the waste and the fish that are too small to pack could be utilized.

"The average pack of herring in Alaska," said Mr. Wakefield, "is only about 50,000 barrels a year, while something like 2,000,000 barrels a year are taken from the North Sea. If Alaska waters cannot supply many times as much herring as are now being taken there will never be a herring industry in Alaska."

Mr. Wakefield says the best period of the year for herring fishing comes after September 15. The best part of the pack, he says, is put up in the latter part of September and during October.

"If the regulations for closing in September goes into effect," said Mr. Wakefield, "my present judgment is that I shall take all the herring I can this season and not open up next year."

Five Stations

Mr. Wakefield has five stations at which he is packing herring and salmon in Alaska. He has one at Port Walter and one at Red Bluff Bay in Southeastern Alaska, and three out at the Westward on Kodiak Island, Afognak, and Sawmill Bay.

WEMBLEY LOSS FOUR MILLION

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Sunday express says the loss sustained by Guarantors of the Wembley exhibition will be about four million pounds.

The question of reopening the fair next year is still in the balance, the Express says, but now Canada has withdrawn from the project the other dominions are doubtful of the success of the policy. Throwing away more millions lacks support.

STAMPING OUT TUBERCULOSIS

Mortality Figures in Britain Show Rapid Diminution in Ravages of Dread Disease

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Thanks in large measure to the gradual enlightenment of the public about the disease and to the modren measures taken to control and treat it, tuberculosis in all its forms is rapidly diminishing in this country and America, says the medical correspondent of The Times. How exceedingly rapid this declension is becoming is not however, generally realized.

During the first 20 years of the period under review, 1871-91, the percentage drop in mortality was 35; during the last 20 years, the per centage drop was 45. Taking consumption alone the drop was 32 for the first 20 years and 46 for the last 20 years.

Improved Sanitation

There has been an "accelerated drop" in the mortality figures. This possesses immense significance, because it has occurred during a period when improved methods of diagnosis have without question revealed many fresh cases and disclosed unsuspected areas of infection. Further, the drop exceeds that of the general mortality from all diseases which has occurred during the last few decades. It is of a special character, and cannot be accounted for merely by saying that sanitation has improved, or "people are becoming immune." There is reason to believe that it has not occurred in those countries in which anti-tuberculosis campaigns have been neglected.

Another interesting and important feature of the present situation is the fact that "the reduction in mortality has occurred conspicuously in the younger ages, say up to 25 years of age.' There is here clear indication of the value of early diagnosis, early treatment and preventive after-care.

Triumph Won

It may be fairly assumed that the measures in force to cope with this disease in Britain and in the United States have justified themselves in an overwhelming manner. These measures are destroying tuberculosis. Thus it can be said that since public interest was aroused in the disease and public opinion obtained as the driving force behind administrative action, a great triumph has been won. The truth is emphasized once more that doctor and people must work together in complete harmony if the final victory over disease is to be made sure.

W. L. Mackenzie, accountant for George D. Tite & Co., sailed Saturday night on the Prince Rupert for Powell River and Vancouver on a holiday trip.

10,000 Citizens Lost

One of the most startling facts to come under our observation for some time is that 10,000 people left our province for the States last year, because there was not work or money here. While these folks were going away, all who are left were spending an average of $110 each for goods made outside, that could have been bought from local factories. Had we each saved our $110, we'd have kept our 10,000 and brought in another 4,000 to take good jobs.

Made in B.C. means something.
