THE HAGUE, Oct. 10.—Even the hallowed precincts of Andrew Carnegie's Peace Palace are not safe from the depredations of souvenir hunters, it seems, for it has become known that the presidential hammer has been stolen from the council table of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

The hammer is artistically carved of ebony, and about 12 inches long. It was presented to the Court by the Senate of Leyden University in 1922. It has been missing since August 26, and information leading to its recovery is requested by the Hague chief of police.

The Man in the Moon
SAYS—

INSTINCT is that which tells you whether to offer her a cigarette or to talk about the church choir.

IF all men were good all the time, what would there be for the women to scold.

HEAVEN is a place where gas is free, repairs cost nothing, and the roads are like glass.

JAKE says Scotch is much easier to drink than it is to read.

HAND in hand they wandered down life's pathway—a path lined with roses and carpeted with violets. That was the old story.

AT fifty miles an hour they dashed along life's highway as he stepped on the gas with his foot, steered with his left hand while the right stole around the waist of the girl beside him. That is the new story.

A PLACE is on the blink when the real estate agents make their living selling insurance.

IT'S about time the editor was advising Prince Rupert people to shop early and avoid the rush. "Rush" is the right word to use just now, I am thinking.

OUT OF TOWN VERSES FOR THE COMPETITION

Number Came in on the Mail Last Night From Various Points

A number of verses for the competition came in on the mail last night from Smithers, Terrace, Burns Lake and other points. Tomorrow is the last day on which entries will be received. Mail arriving Saturday night from the East will be included, these being published early in the week. The announcement of the prize winners will be made after all the verses that pass the censor have been published. Following are today's contributions:

Honey Bee

The Bee, the Bee,
The honey Bee,
That sips the nectar from the flowers,
And in the comb
Store up the sweets,
That in the winter
Gives good eats.

Useful Polly

Did you hear of the old Maid named Molly,
Who owned a fine parrot called Polly?
When a man came their way,
She taught Polly to say,
"Young fellow, you may marry Molly."

A Home Product

Said the mosquito to the fly, 'I'm a product of B.C.,
I come from Prince Rupert where the rain falls free,
I believe that home products will boom this fair land,
And when a human booster talks I am always there to hand.
Of his thick red blood I fully deep do draw,
And as I move away I hear him laying down the law.

The verse must have to do with some form of animal life such as a bird, fish, animal, insect or germ. It may take any form desired such as an ode, a quatrain or even the popular limerick. Three prizes will be offered, $5 for first, $3 for second and $2 for third.

The verses will be published as submitted but the name of the author will be reserved to be used only in case of his winning a prize.

The verse should be neatly written on one side of the paper only and addressed to "Competition Editor," Daily News. No manuscripts will be returned.

MILD FALL IN INTERIOR

TELKWA, Oct. 10.—Old timers in the valley say that it is 22 years since frost has been so late in coming in the fall. It is an ideal season, and flower gardens are still radiant.

DANCE IS GIVEN TO MR. AND MRS. WALL AND TO ART EASSON

TELKWA, Oct. 10.—An unusually nice dance was held in the hall on Tuesday night. It was a joint affair to welcome back Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Wall, and to say goodbye to A. A. Easson who has won many friends while on different visits here. The music, which was all very good, was contributed by various artists who gave their services most willingly, thus making the dance the success it was.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

October 10, 1914.

Judge Young was appointed to the hospital board in succession to C. V. Bennett, who has left the city, at the monthly meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. The resolution to this effect was moved by Len Bell, seconded by O. H. Nelson and carried unanimously.

The Board of Trade, at its regular monthly meeting last night, went on record in favor of sending a delegation to Ottawa a few weeks before the opening of the session to lay before the government the question of making this port free for United States fishermen.

United States governmental authorities realize that the halibut business of the North Pacific Ocean is very likely to be lost by Seattle to Prince Rupert now that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has been completed.

QUIET WEDDING AT TERRACE SATURDAY

Charles Toombs Takes as Bride Miss Gladys Line, an English Girl

TERRACE, Oct. 10.—The wedding of Miss Gladys Line to Charles Toombs took place very quietly at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Parsons. The bride was given away by Mr. Thomason. Only the immediate family was present.

Miss Line arrived from England Tuesday. She was accompanied by the groom's sister, Miss Toombs. Mr. and Mrs. Toombs left immediately after the wedding breakfast for their home across the river.
