Prince Rupert People Should Know District.

The first duty of Prince Rupert people, and especially the business people is to know the district in which they live. The Prince Rupert district is a large one. It includes Queen Charlotte Islands, the mining and lumbering camps along the coast and the interior points, particularly along the line of the Canadian National Railway. None of these can be neglected,

Just now there is a movement afoot to get local people to visit the interior for the annual fair at Smithers and the barbecue at Telkwa. These are great opportunities not to be neglected if when and how they proposed in Victoria at the city's expense the best exhibit from B.C. it can be avoided. The country beyond is a wonderful one. We They take so little joy in the on his recent trip. all like to talk and speculate about it but the main thing is know it. This is a good time for travelling there and the opportunity offers those who feel they are able to get away.

Bring Steamers To This Port.

Steamers have commenced coming north. This year especially vessels other than the coast passenger boats have been! calling here. The aim of local businessmen should be to have about his ills he is old. When them come oftener and do more business. The way to build up a woman talks about hers she is a port is to provide business.

Mention has been made before this of the desirability of shipping Canadian salmon from this port. It is difficult to understand why it is not done. If Alaska people find it pays them to ship through Prince Rupert, it is difficult to realize why Canadian do not do the same.

It has been pointed out before that if the salmon is here the ships from the United Kingdom will call for it. By shipping direct from here there would be a saving to the shipper, but ap-growling about the country going parently the salmon canners do not want to save money. They to the dogs do not have time to jots of 1923 were heard in the Hays personally. prefer going on in the same old way and paying higher trans- vote. portation prices than they should, just because they have not enough energy to change.

Bring Mackenzie King To Prince Rupert.

This would be a very good time for Prince Rupert to meet the beauties of our complex except in cases where murder friends and he has been a great Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King to talk over with him the local democracy. situation. It is perhaps a little early for us to expect results from the visit of Sir Henry Thornton, but unless something pretty definite is heard soon from the Dominion Government, fusion, injustice, and incomstrenuous efforts will have to be made to let them know that we petence because I have to but I are on the map and are a factor to be reckoned with. While no would like to abolish them all. one believes in trying to hurry the government too much, the wait has been a long one and some steps will have to be taken soon. There is a time for action in every big movement and that could talk with the people of time may arrive before long.

Danger From Bad Habits Illustrated.

Bee keepers tell how the habit of stealing grows on a bee if it once starts so that it refuses to gather honey in the regular way. Its habits and appearance change through its change of manner of making a living. The insect becomes sleek and sly More than 70 entries have been and carries all the marks of a rogue. The efforts of the bee keepers are devoted to preventing the bees starting on the downward course. Once they begin to rob it is difficult to stop them.

Prairie Crops Not So Bad As Prophesied.

It has been pointed out in this column often that we suffert mostly because of our fears. The people on the prairies were in a very bad way this year, according to the early prophets. There was almost a scare throughout the country and business in all lines fell off. Now it is announced that the crops are not anything like as bad as was expected. Manitoba will have a larger crop than last year and many other parts of the country will have heavy crops.

The Fight Is The Thing.

People like to fight. It seems part of their nature. British people have been renowned as fighters since the beginning of their history and historians have glorified the art of war. Today there is a movement in the opposite direction, caused largely because of the fact that war has changed from a sport to a horrible slaughter.

And yet the spirit of contest prevails among the people and will for many years. We like to see a fight in the ring between two well trained pugilists who beat each other up. Gun fighting is popular in the movies. Indians spent much of their time fighting each other, before the advent of the white people.

Business is pretty much a fight. Contestants war with each other and sometimes the results are more tragic than in the more sanguinary conflicts of the past days. Fighting is bound to continue for many a day and what will be the effect on the race if it disappears, no one can say.

EXHIBITS OF FISH

Eaton Hotel, Freeport, N.S.

Editor Daily News: In your editorial Thursday, July 31, you said there never was. an exhibit of fish. I must tell you that you are mislead.

In the first exhiition of Prince Rupert 1912 or 1913, I had an exhibit of fish and was told by some of the fishermen and other parties interested in the fish business that it was the best exhibit of smoked and cured fish. they ever saw. The Hon. Mr. Ellerson, then minister of agri-! culture, gave me great credit for the exhibit. He also had me ship! some of my product to him to his home years after.

In 1914 or 1915 I also had a good exhibit, which was highly appreciated by everyone who saw would like you to look up your files of the first exhibition, 1912 or 1913. I am not sure as I have the records in Rupert and you will also find I put an exhibit in two years after. Which proves that you are wrong in your statement, that it can be done if you have a man who knows how. Would like to have credit where credit is due. Thanking you.
