Over Two and a Half Million Pounds of Fish Sold Here During Month

During the month of May ending today, 2,653,000 pounds of halibut was sold on the Prince Rupert market, the figure including about 100,000 pounds of American fish which was sold here for Ketchikan delivery. Ninety American boats sold a total of 1,758,000 pounds and 135 Canadians a total of 895,000 pounds.

Compared with other months, the total of halibut arrivals in the past month is but average. In April last there was a total of 2,789,000 pounds handled and in May 1923 the fares totalled 2,540,000 pounds. Poor weather during a good deal of the month of May affected the total of arrivals adversely.

The highest price paid during the month for first class fish was 17.6c on May 6, and the lowest, 8c on May 20.

Fishermen Allowed to Necessary Purchases at Canadian Ports Without Paying Duty

The restrictions on fishermen in connection with their dealing in Canadian ports are being gradually removed so that when necessary they are now able to purchase anchors, buoys and hooks and lines used on trawls to replace those lost on the banks and to get other supplies such as Dorreen 9,500 at 10.50 and 5 food, fuel, bait and ice free of duty. On necessary repairs to machinery sufficient to make boats safe the duty is also remitted.

Consul Wakefield has been advised from time to time of changes in U.S. customs rulings and today there are few offensive barriers left which annoy the American fishermen and interfere with their calling.
