WEATHER VAGARIES IN ENGLAND SUBJECT LEGISLATIVE BANTER

Summer Time Bill Passes Amid Much Opposition Vote of 169 to 129.

LONDON, May 7.—While the House of Commons was discussing the Summer Time Bill snow was falling outside, and when Sir Kingsley Wood rose to move the second reading he was greeted with shouts of "Where are your skates?" There was, in fact, a good deal of gibing at the vagaries of the English climate. One speaker, said the year was divided into four seasons, but he was immediately challenged by Mr. Gavan Duffy, the member for Whitehaven, who has a pretty gift of humor, and who defined the English year as consisting of nine months of cold weather and three months of winter. No fewer than 31 members took part in the debate, and the majority of those declared themselves opposed to the provisions of the Bill, which sought to establish six months of summer time. The two motives which ran through these speeches were the child and the cow, both of whom were held by these speakers to suffer from the attempt "to fool with the sun." Representatives of the townsmen who knew how the extra daylight was valued by suburbia rallied to the side of Sir Kingsley Wood, and the Bill was carried by 169 votes to 129.

The opposition of the Scottish farmers to any change was voiced by the Duchess of Atholl, while Mr. Fisher said that the general conclusion of the Board of Education was that summer time did not bring to school children as apart from the population as a whole any positive advantages, but that the great objection to it, in regard to school children, that it would shorten their period of sleep was relatively slight and could be avoided by reasonable domestic care.

ARE TALKING POLITICS IN ATLIN CONSTITUENCY

H. F. Kergin Does Not Say if he Will Again be a Candidate for Election

Who, and how many political candidates will be in the field in this constituency, in the forthcoming provincial election has not yet been determined says the Alice Arm Herald. H. F. Kergin, when approached on the subject as to whether he would seek re-election, stated that he had nothing to say until after the Liberal convention which will be held shortly.

The Conservative party will nominate their candidate at a convention to be held in Anyox on May 16. A number of local men at both Anyox and Alice Arm have been discussed as likely candidates but a choice has yet to be made.

The Provincial party will hold their convention in Anyox within two weeks, when a candidate will be chosen.

It is understood that George Casey of Prince Rupert, the labor candidate at the last election will not contest the seat.

The name of the independent candidates at the last election were legion, but with the poor showing they made at the polls, it is doubtful if as many will again enter the arena.

SPLENDID OUTLOOK FOR CROPS SAYS RAILWAYMAN

General Manager of E. D. & B. C. Says in Twenty-two Years Never Seen Land in Better Shape

EDMONTON, May 7. — "In twenty-two years spent in the west, I have never seen the land in better shape to receive a crop than at the present time," declared J. A. Macgregor, general manager of the E., D. & B. C. railway, on his return from Winnipeg.

There is ample moisture over the entire country to ensure a good start for the growing grain, Mr. Macgregor has found. In all of the prairie provinces, seeding operations are in full swing. In every field, three, four and six-horse teams are hard at work putting the land into shape to receive the seed from which will spring the 1924 grain crop of the west.

In many sections, grain is beginning to show above the ground, in some districts the blades of wheat having reached a height of an inch and a half or two inches.

Seeding in Manitoba was delayed a few days through the heavy rainfall of last week, but spring operations were getting under way again by the middle of this week.

Immigration is moving freely into the west, Mr. Macgregor states, and of this, Alberta is getting a liberal share.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE STARTS

Meeting Last Night Discussed Prospects for 1924 and Took Steps Towards Organization

Organization for the forthcoming baseball season was given a good start at a large meeting of players and fans held last evening. W. D. Vance, president of the Prince Rupert Baseball Association, was in the chair and about thirty persons were present.

The situation was thoroughly discussed and it was finally decided that a City League will be formed and the season divided into two distinct halves. The winners in each of these halves will meet in a post-season play-off to decide the city championship.

Three teams are already entered—Gil's, Sons of Canada and Knights of Columbus—and the will probably be a fourth. Entries are to close on the evening of Tuesday next, May 13.

Apportioning Players

Each team in the league at the outset is to be limited to six signed players, a selection committee of the league comprising the president, vice-president and secretary to allot the remaining members to the teams. All new players arriving in the city during the first half of the season will be placed by the league and, after the first half, all players will be subject to redistribution by the league.

The main object this year is to make such a distribution of players that an interesting and well contested series will be assured.

BLUEBIRDS OF ANYOX LADIES' TEAM WON

Beat Pats by Single Score in Final Basketball Game of Season

ANYOX, May 7.— The closing events of the 1923-24 basketball schedule of the Ladies' League will remain a topic of animated conversation for some little time to come. The Bluebirds and Pats were the competitors for the silver bon bon dishes and the championship of Anyox. The schedule of games had been drawn for two series, and each had won a series. This necessitated a play-off, and three rattling good games were the result. The first game went to the Bluebirds, followed by an overtime game which was won by the Pats, nineteen to eighteen, and again honors were divided and both teams even.

Friday night wound up the excitement when the gymnasium was packed to the doors with a yelling crowd that witnessed the fastest game of ladies basketball yet staged in Anyox. At no time was either team more than one point ahead, the final tally being eleven to ten in favor of the Bluebirds. It was anybody's game from start to finish, and was no disgrace to the losers. The players were: Bluebirds, Mesdames Cody, Roy, Smith, McQuarrie and McTaggart; Pats: Mesdames Wenerstrom and Chapman and the Misses Champion, Deane, Calderone and Moffatt. Fred Brown handled the whistle and gave satisfaction to everybody in the conduct of the game.

Sport Chat

The fact that the gate at the opening match of the season on Monday night was larger than that recorded at any game last year would indicate that a lively interest is to be taken in the soccer league competition in 1924. The presence of so many new players on various line-ups will undoubtedly make the opening season games, at least, more attractive. There is a general curiosity on the part of fans to see at first hand what all these "black horses" can do. The Sons of Canada and Great War Veterans will meet in tomorrow night's league fixture and, like the Callies-Sons of England encounter, there will also be a good deal of new blood introduced in this contest.

Vanderhoof is preparing for an active athletic season and, as a prelude to the commencement of games, there was a working bee of fans at the recreation grounds there last Sunday. Plans are already under way for the celebration of Victoria and Dominion Days. There will be football and baseball games on the former day and a children's tournament on July 1. The Athletic Association has been considering the erection of a club house but action has been deferred for six months on account of the Association's financial condition.
