DAWN OF TOMORROW SEEN TONIGHT

Man Nearly Commits Suicide But Is Stopped by Child

In "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," David Torrence portrays the character of Sir Oliver Holt, one of the leading powers of the London financial world. Physicians tell him his brain is failing and that in thirty days he will no doubt be dead.

But Sir Oliver decides to end it all now and with a pistol in his assumed costume of a downand-outer goes to a London water front. "Just as he is about to send a bullet crashing into his brain, a sovereign drops from his pocket, and is picked up by Glad (Jacqueline Logan), nameless waif of the gutter. She is amazed to think that anyone with so much wealth should even contemplate death. Persuaded, Sir Holt goes with her to buy food, and she, taking him for what he appears, offers to share her food with him in her garret.

Gradually he becomes interested in the derelicts of Apple Blossom Court, which he recognizes as one of his properfies. An old woman, whom he meets, convinces him that only good is coming with the dawn of a tomorrow.

But Sir Oliver wants to keep his identity a secret, and needing more money to salvage these sunken souls, gets Dandy, Glad's sweetheart, to rob his home. Dandy abandons another "job" for the same night.

But thieves on the other job. whom he was to have accompanied, kill a man. Caught, they ecuse Dandy.

From then on, "The Dawn of Tomorrow' builds in dramatic tension. Dandy must furnish an alibi. And how he does it-with Glad's help-makes an absorbing production.
