Britain's Labor Government Comes to an End as Result of Defeat in House of Commons

Huge Majority Demands Appointment of Select Committee to Inquire Into Action of Attorney General

CONSERVATIVE CENSURE IS BEATEN

Government Will Put Through Irish Boundary Bill Before Retiring; Ask King for Dissolution Today

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Britain's first Labor Government virtually came to an end at eleven o'clock last night when by a combination of Conservative and Liberal votes the House of Commons carried a motion demanding that a select committee of the House investigate the action of the Attorney General, Sir Patrick Hastings, in withdrawing the prosecution in the case of the communist O. R. Campbell, editor of the Workers' Weekly charged with inciting His Majesty's forces to sedition.

The Government declined to accept the motion and treated it as a vote of censure which, if adopted by the House, would involve an appeal to the country.

After a sharp and exciting debate, the opposition wanted to drop Sir Robert Horne's motion of censure and vote on Sir J. A. Simon's amendment calling for an investigation. On the government's refusing to accept this course, the House divided on the question as to which it should vote. By a vote of 359 to 198 it decided to vote on the Simon amendment. This was equivalent to a defeat of the vote of censure motion.

The Simon amendment was then put and carried 361 to 198. Following the announcement of the vote Premier Ramsay MacDonald immediately arose and moved the adjournment which was agreed to unanimously. It is understood, however, that the government has agreed to carry on until the Irish Boundary bill is safe and the Boundary Commission appointed.

The Premier will see King George today and ask for the dissolution of parliament.

Local Men Have Established Fox Farm on Island Near Here; Took Stock Through City This Morning

The Ness brothers of Prince Rupert have established themselves as the pioneer blue fox farmers of Northern British Columbia, having started a farm under the name of Ness Fur Farm, on a hundred acre island in Kikadla Inlet situated at the south end of Porcher Island. Andrew Ness arrived here early this morning from Hotspur Island, near Ketchikan, where he purchased six pairs of four months old blue foxes from the Ketchikan Fur Company with which to stock the farm. The six pairs consist of six male and six female blue foxes. They are four months old.

The arrival of the foxes caused a great deal of interest on the waterfront this morning and the boat carrying them was visited by a number of people. In spite of the many callers, the little foxes did not seem much afraid and comfortably stretched themselves out, after a good feed of raw meat, in their straw filled boxes. The foxes were brought down in separate boxes to prevent any damage to themselves by disagreement.

Two men have been working out on the island for some time past getting the place in readiness for the reception of the live cargo. Mr. Ness is leaving this afternoon for the island. When he arrives there, the foxes will be released and will live practically in their wild state. They dig clams and kill birds for food and also take cooked rice and oatmeal. Blue foxes average six to a litter while in some cases there are as many as fourteen.

Mr. Ness says that there are 129 islands in Alaska on which are situated fox farms.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT

King Signs Proclamation and Election to be on October 29

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The House of Commons will be dissolved tonight and the general election will take place on October 29. It is announced this afternoon after King George had held a privy council meeting at Buckingham Palace at which he signed the proclamation proroguing parliament.

Premier Macdonald waited on the King following the government's defeat last night. He had an audience which lasted one hour during which he asked the King for a dissolution of parliament in line with his previously announced policy of appealing to the country through a general election to approve the course pursued by his government.

FISHERMAN WRECKED BROKE HIS LEG AND IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Being Treated at Port Simpson After Rather Exciting Experiences

Oscar Anderson, a fisherman of Digby Island who has been engaged in that occupation for the past fourteen years lost his sail boat in a storm and got ashore on Wales Island in a leaky row-boat. When hauling it up on the beach to caulk it he slipped on a log and broke his leg. Indians found him and brought him to Port Simpson where he entered the hospital on Tuesday.

IRISH BOUNDARY BILL IS PASSED

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The House of Lords has passed a bill creating an Irish boundary commission, giving third reading to the measure which had previously passed the House of Commons.

Washington Senators Win Over Giants and Even up World Series

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—In a game which was featured by the spectacular work of E. G. Rice, the Washington right fielder, the Senators today won the sixth game of the world series from the New York Giants by a score of two to one and evened up the race. The seventh and deciding match will be played tomorrow in Washington, the Senators having won the toss to decide the venue.

New York got its one and only run early in the first inning and in this inning Rice, for Washington, with a wonderful running one-hand catch after leaping into the bleachers, prevented Menzel of New York making a home-run which, as it happened, would have tied up the score. Another spectacular running fly catch was made by Rice in the fourth inning.

Washington got its two winning runs in the fifth inning with safe hits.

In the ninth inning, Roger Peckinpaugh, the Senators' short stop, was injured and had to be taken off the field.

It was fielding that won the game for Washington for the Senators only got four hits while the Giants had seven. The only error of the game was chalked down to New York. It was the tightest game of the entire series with several innings having no hits, no runs and no errors.

The score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 N.Y. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 Wash. 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 2

Lineup and Umpires The teams lined up as follows:

New York — Lindstrom, 3b.; Frisch, 2b.; Young, rf.; Kelly, 1b.; Meusel, cf.; Wilson, lf.; Jackson, s.s.; Gowdy, c.; Nehf, p. Washington — McNeely, cf.; Harris, 2b.; Rice, cf.; Goslin, lf.; Judge, 1b.; Bluege, 3b.; Peckinpaugh, ss.; Ruel, c.; Zachary, p. The umpires were Klem, Dineen, Quigley and Connelly.

The weather was clear and pleasant and 37,000 howling spectators were in the stands and bleachers.

Before the opening of the game, the players of both sides, as a mark of respect to the memory of Jake Daubert, first

Stewart Holds More Promise Today Than Ever Before Says Businessman of That Town

In the opinion of J. P. Hawkinson, who was in the city on business yesterday, Stewart today holds more promise than it ever did of becoming the biggest and most successful mining camp in the country. Particularly in the Bear River Valley, which is really of more importance to Stewart from a business standpoint than the Salmon River, development work is proceeding on more properties than ever before and the beauty of it is that not a single one is proving disappointing. In fact the showings are really better than were anticipated in many cases.

FISHERIES INSPECTOR IS IN CITY

Major J. A. Motherwell Arrived on Malaspina This Morning After Trip up Coast

Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries, arrived here on the fisheries protection steamer Malaspina, Capt. Laird, this morning having come north from Vancouver on the vessel to inspecting various cannery points on a regular trip of inspection and will be here until tomorrow morning when he expects to return south.

Accompanying Major Motherwell on his trip is J. W. Allen, supervising gasoline engineer of the fisheries department.

LIBERALS OPTIMISTIC OVER THE PROSPECT

Prophecy From Victoria That Government Will Stay in Power Four Years

VICTORIA, Oct. 9.—Despite the defeat of Dr. K. C. MacDonald, provincial secretary, in North Okanagan by-election, the Oliver government will face the new Legislature on November 3 with every probability of getting through the session unscathed. Although Dr. MacDonald's defeat was regretted, friends and political foes of the administration concede that the Liberals will be in power four years hence, and that a Liberal-Labor coalition will give the premier comparatively easy sledding.

The premier's announcement Saturday that the Legislature will convene on November 3 leads to the belief that the session will be a short and snappy one. It will probably be over on Saturday, December 20. Little contentious legislation is on the agenda. This is due chiefly to the fact that for the past four years social, labor and financial legislation has been kept well abreast of the times, if not in advance of other provinces. Barring liquor amendments and the final settlement of the beer question, no clouds appear on the legislative horizon and the administration should have no difficulty in getting through the session.

PREPARING TO PUT MILL IN OPERATION

Airplane Spruce Plant at Port Clements Being Taken Down and Graham Island Renovated by F. L. Buckley

A small crew of men under the direction of A. E. Weaver of Vancouver is proceeding with the demolition of the Airplane Spruce mill at Port Clements and the renovation of the Graham Island Spruce & Cedar mill which it is expected will be put in operation next spring by F. L. Buckley who now owns both plants. Certain of the equipment in the Airplane Spruce mill will be put in the Graham Island plant and the site of the mill that is being taken down will provide increased yardage for the proposed operations.
