Out Of Town Business Is Good.

Advertisers in the Daily News state that out of town business is good. There are many parts of the district where there are no local stores or where the local stores do not carry full lines of goods. People living there find it to their advantage to send to Prince Rupert for goods and a large business is done here with the outlying settlements. All of these are reached by the Daily News and advertisers state that much of the value of their advertisements comes from the out of town trade. This is not in competition with the local district stores for, if the people did not buy here they would do so elsewhere. The advantage of sending to Prince Rupert is that they deal with people they know and now and then when they come to town can set right anything which they do not like by a personal interview. Local merchants take great care in filling out of town orders and the fact that they keep their customers is evidence of the careful manner in which they do business.

Immense Province Here To Develop.

When people talk of keeping immigrants out of British Columbia they want to have a chat with Bishop Binoz or Archbishop Du Vernet, both of whom have to travel hundreds of miles through fertile lands that remain as undeveloped as they were hundreds of years ago. Only a few tiny acres have been used. The rest is as nature made it.

The person with vision sees that for several generations to come at least there will be plenty of room for expansion in this province. There will be timber to cut, mines to work, fish to catch and land to clear and cultivate. Also there will be water powers to harness and tourists to carry. Only the small and selfish person can wish to keep these things for the few people now here. They do not belong to us. They are a heritage for the people of the world and we simply have the temporary keeping. We have no right to shut them off from the people of the more crowded countries who could use them to advantage.

Picture Brides Japanese Institution.

Marrying by mail or choosing a bride from a picture is a Japanese institution. Some years ago it was a common thing for shiploads of women to come to Victoria from Japan and from there to be distributed to points in the United States to the men who had either married them by mail or who were ready to marry them on arrival. Also many came that did not marry but went to the crowded centres.

Now the custom so far as Canada and the United States is concerned is not allowed and any attempt to revive it, as mentioned in the despatches yesterday, would arouse serious opposition.

Progress Being Made On Kaien Island Road.

Progress is being made on the slashing of the route for the road from here to Galloway Rapids. Half the distance has already been covered, much of it through heavy timber, and the work is still proceeding. The slashing will give the road a chance to begin drying out and make it easier to proceed with the clearing next year. It is a big job to make a road even for that short distance and it is very satisfactory that this much is being done this year. If we can get follow up action, as it is confidently expected will be the case, we shall have a road out of town on which we can drive and it is possible that the lands at the back of the island will then be opened up for those who wish an out of town place. Many people would like to get an acre or a half acre in the country which they could gradually develop with a view to eventually residing there.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

August 30, 1914.

A despatch from Vancouver states that the rumor of the sinking of the German cruiser Leipzig has not been confirmed and that Esquimalt officials have denied it.

That the Queen Charlotte Islands are destined to supply the fuel for Prince Rupert and the north is the opinion of Prof. Milner Roberts of the University of Washington who has spent the summer at Camp Wilson, 33 miles up the Yakoun River from Port Clements.

Italy has broken away from the Triple Alliance with Germany and Austria and has joined with the Allies in the Great War.

GOOD PROGRESS ON ROAD WORK

Clearing Between City Limits and Galloway Rapids is Now About Half Finished

SIXTEEN MEN ON JOB

City's Connection Will Greatly Facilitate Getting Heavy Grading Equipment in

In spite of the wet weather which has hindered operations to a certain extent lately, good progress is being made on the clearing of the right-of-way for the road which will lead from the city limits back to Mount Oldfield to Galloway Rapids. Sixteen men are employed and, if the weather is auspicious at all, it is hoped that the clearing operations will be completed by November 1.

In Heavy Timber

The road crew is still in heavy timber and, at the present time, is working about 2 1/4 miles from the city limits. The total distance to Galloway Rapids is five miles. The first three miles is the heaviest and, when the work is advanced another three-quarters of a mile, rapid progress should be made on the final two miles as the country is clearer of heavy timber.

The right-of-way is being cleared to the regulation width of 66 feet. The present work consists of falling heavy timber and brushing, the smaller debris being burned as the crew moves along. The heavy timber is being left where it falls, in the meantime, but next year it will probably be logged off. It will not be destroyed for the most of it is merchantable—at least for firewood.

Building Next Year

The actual road building, which consists of stumping, grading and surfacing, may not be expected to commence until next year. The present appropriation will cover the cost of clearing to Galloway Rapids.

It is pointed out at the office of the department of public works that it will be practically essential for the city to build the connecting road before the government can start on the actual work of road building. It will be necessary to take in heavy equipment such as tractors and trucks and these cannot be taken in under present conditions without large and unwarranted expense. The light equipment used in clearing has been taken to the work by water and thence through the woods from the shore.

The road camp is now located about half a mile in from Butze Bay.

Miss Gladys Kemp returned on the Prince George yesterday afternoon after spending holidays in Vancouver.
