Out Estimates For U.S. Navy.

The despatches suggest that the U.S. naval estimates are likely to be cut twenty per cent. That would be the reasonable thing for that country to do. It was the United States that called the nations together and asked them to consider the question of naval disarmament or a reduction of armaments. For them to be spending more than the other nations proportionately does not look well. Great Britain cut down her naval expenditure to the minimum immediately after the convention with the result that many British workmen were put out of employment and there was a large unemployment problem on the hands of the government which was met in part by doles. Other nations were slower in acting, the United States being one.

Proposal To Change Police Forces.

We are continually trying new methods of administration in the hope that better conditions will follow. Then when the changes are made we find there is little difference in conditions. Everything goes on about as usual. Improved laws will be necessary from time to time but what is more necessary is improved citizenship.

If it will mend matters to unite the police forces, there is no objection to its being done. It may possibly make for economy to have the change. When the change is made, however, we shall find that there are flaws in the new method.

Prince Rupert people would like to be relieved of the expense of keeping up a police force, but it is doubtful if the suggestions of Attorney General Manson would include lifting the burden of police maintenance from the municipalities altogether.

Interest In Radio On The Increase.

Yesterday we commenced a radio column that will be published from time to time, possibly twice a week if it is found that readers are sufficiently interested. The interest in radio is becoming so great everywhere that many people are taking up the radio supply business as a steady thing and making a good living at it. Even those who have no radio equipment often become interested in reading about what radio does. We shall be glad to hear from radio fans as to what success they are having with their sets and especially with regard to the new sets that are being installed.

In Movie Profession Lies Popularity.

In England, it is reported, women fought to see a little movie star, Jackie Coogan. Not long ago they were fighting to see Mary Pickford, and Charlie Chaplin also was overdone with kindness and annoyed by his popularity in that country. The movie people become very real to the movie fan and the favorites are better known to the people of the country than any other people in the world.

Schooner Bowdoin Back From Arctic.

Schooner Bowdoin has returned from the Arctic after being away fifteen months. She went to undertake scientific work but what it is best known to the public for is a fact that it was by amateur wireless that it kept in touch with the outside world. It was a Prince Rupert amateur who first got in touch with the vessel after she reached her winter quarters and kept in touch for months. Later messages were exchanged with other points. For that reason we take a particular interest in the vessel and it was in this paper that Prince Rupert people read of her return from the northwestern coast of Greenland.

Ketchikan Hits

The funny man of the Alaska Chronicle has a few remarks to make about Prince Rupert. He says:

IN spite of skinned knees, barked shins, stubbed toes, bumps, flea bites, sunburn and other little inconveniences, the Prince Rupert junketers returned happy and contented, we'd say, and evidently a howling good time was had by all, us included.

A GOOD many people are bending their energies towards communication with Mars, when better results could undoubtedly be obtained by working for more direct communication with Prince Rupert.

DON'T put off until tomorrow what you can get today, was the prevailing motto among the junketers to Prince Rupert.

THEY say it took two million years to make us what we are. Some of us don't believe it. Prince Rupert made us what we are in two days.

NOBODY pointed with pride to an aquarium at Prince Rupert, but plenty of fish were in evidence.

THE going proved too sloppy for the Ketchikan ball team in the extra inning game at Rupert and the visitors went woozy in the home stretch. Coagulation of the Canadian rain when it soaked through from the outside to other Canadian liquids on the inside seemed impossible of accomplishment and our pride and joy aggregation was submerged in the mire of the last furlong.

BUT anyway all who went to Rupert really enjoyed the hospitality of the neighboring city, and all are strong for an annual exchange of junkets between the two cities.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES by Shirley Sharon

A frock of hyacinth blue-dotted swiss is edged as to each ruffle with narrow Valenciennes lace dyed an apple green and used also on the organdy collar and puff sleeves.

"GATHER your ruffles as well as your rosebuds while you may" is excellent advice to the young girl in this day of generous waist measures which all too early outgrow the bouffant robe de style. For the young girl the ruffled frock is a most delightful style in the clear transparent colors of organdy—peach, apricot, hyacinth blue, lilac, water green and raspberry. In powder-blue crepe de Chine, one can snap the sleeves in and out of the low armholes so that you can wear the dress afternoon or evening. It is also adorable in black taffeta used in the same way and with a cream lace collar and flowers of rose, old blue, bright green and lavender.

LIQUOR SHIPMENT THROUGH ALASKA TO YUKON IS APPROVED

Stock Has to be Used for Medicinal Purposes But is Fairly Large

Formal approval has been given by the Treasury Department for the shipment of 2,500 cases of assorted liquors and 600 gallons of rum through Alaska to Yukon Territory, according to an announcement made today by Acting Prohibition Director A. G. Means, says the Juneau Empire. The application for the permit was made late last month by the Yukon Territory officials and forwarded to Washington with the endorsement of local prohibition officials.

The application stated that the liquors would be for "medicinal stocks." Regulations for their disposal and use, satisfactory to United States prohibition forces, will be prescribed by Commissioner McKenzie of the Yukon. These rules will be in force until such time as the treaty arranged last June between the United States and Canada for the importation of liquor stocks into Canada through American territory has been ratified by the Senate. Afterward the supplies can be handled in the regular manner by the Government stores at Whitehorse, Mayo and Dawson.

No arrangements have been made for transportation, Mr. Means said. There will be some delay in notification of the department's approval being received by Commissioner McKenzie as cable communication between here and Skagway is broken. The Barrington Transportation Co., operating on the Stikine River is the only one with a permit allowing it to transport liquor cargoes and it will probably get the contract if an effort is made to land the supplies in Whitehorse in time to ship on river steamers to Dawson and Mayo. The time required to get a transportation permit from Washington would be too great for the Canadian Pacific to secure one in time to accomplish this, Mr. Means said.

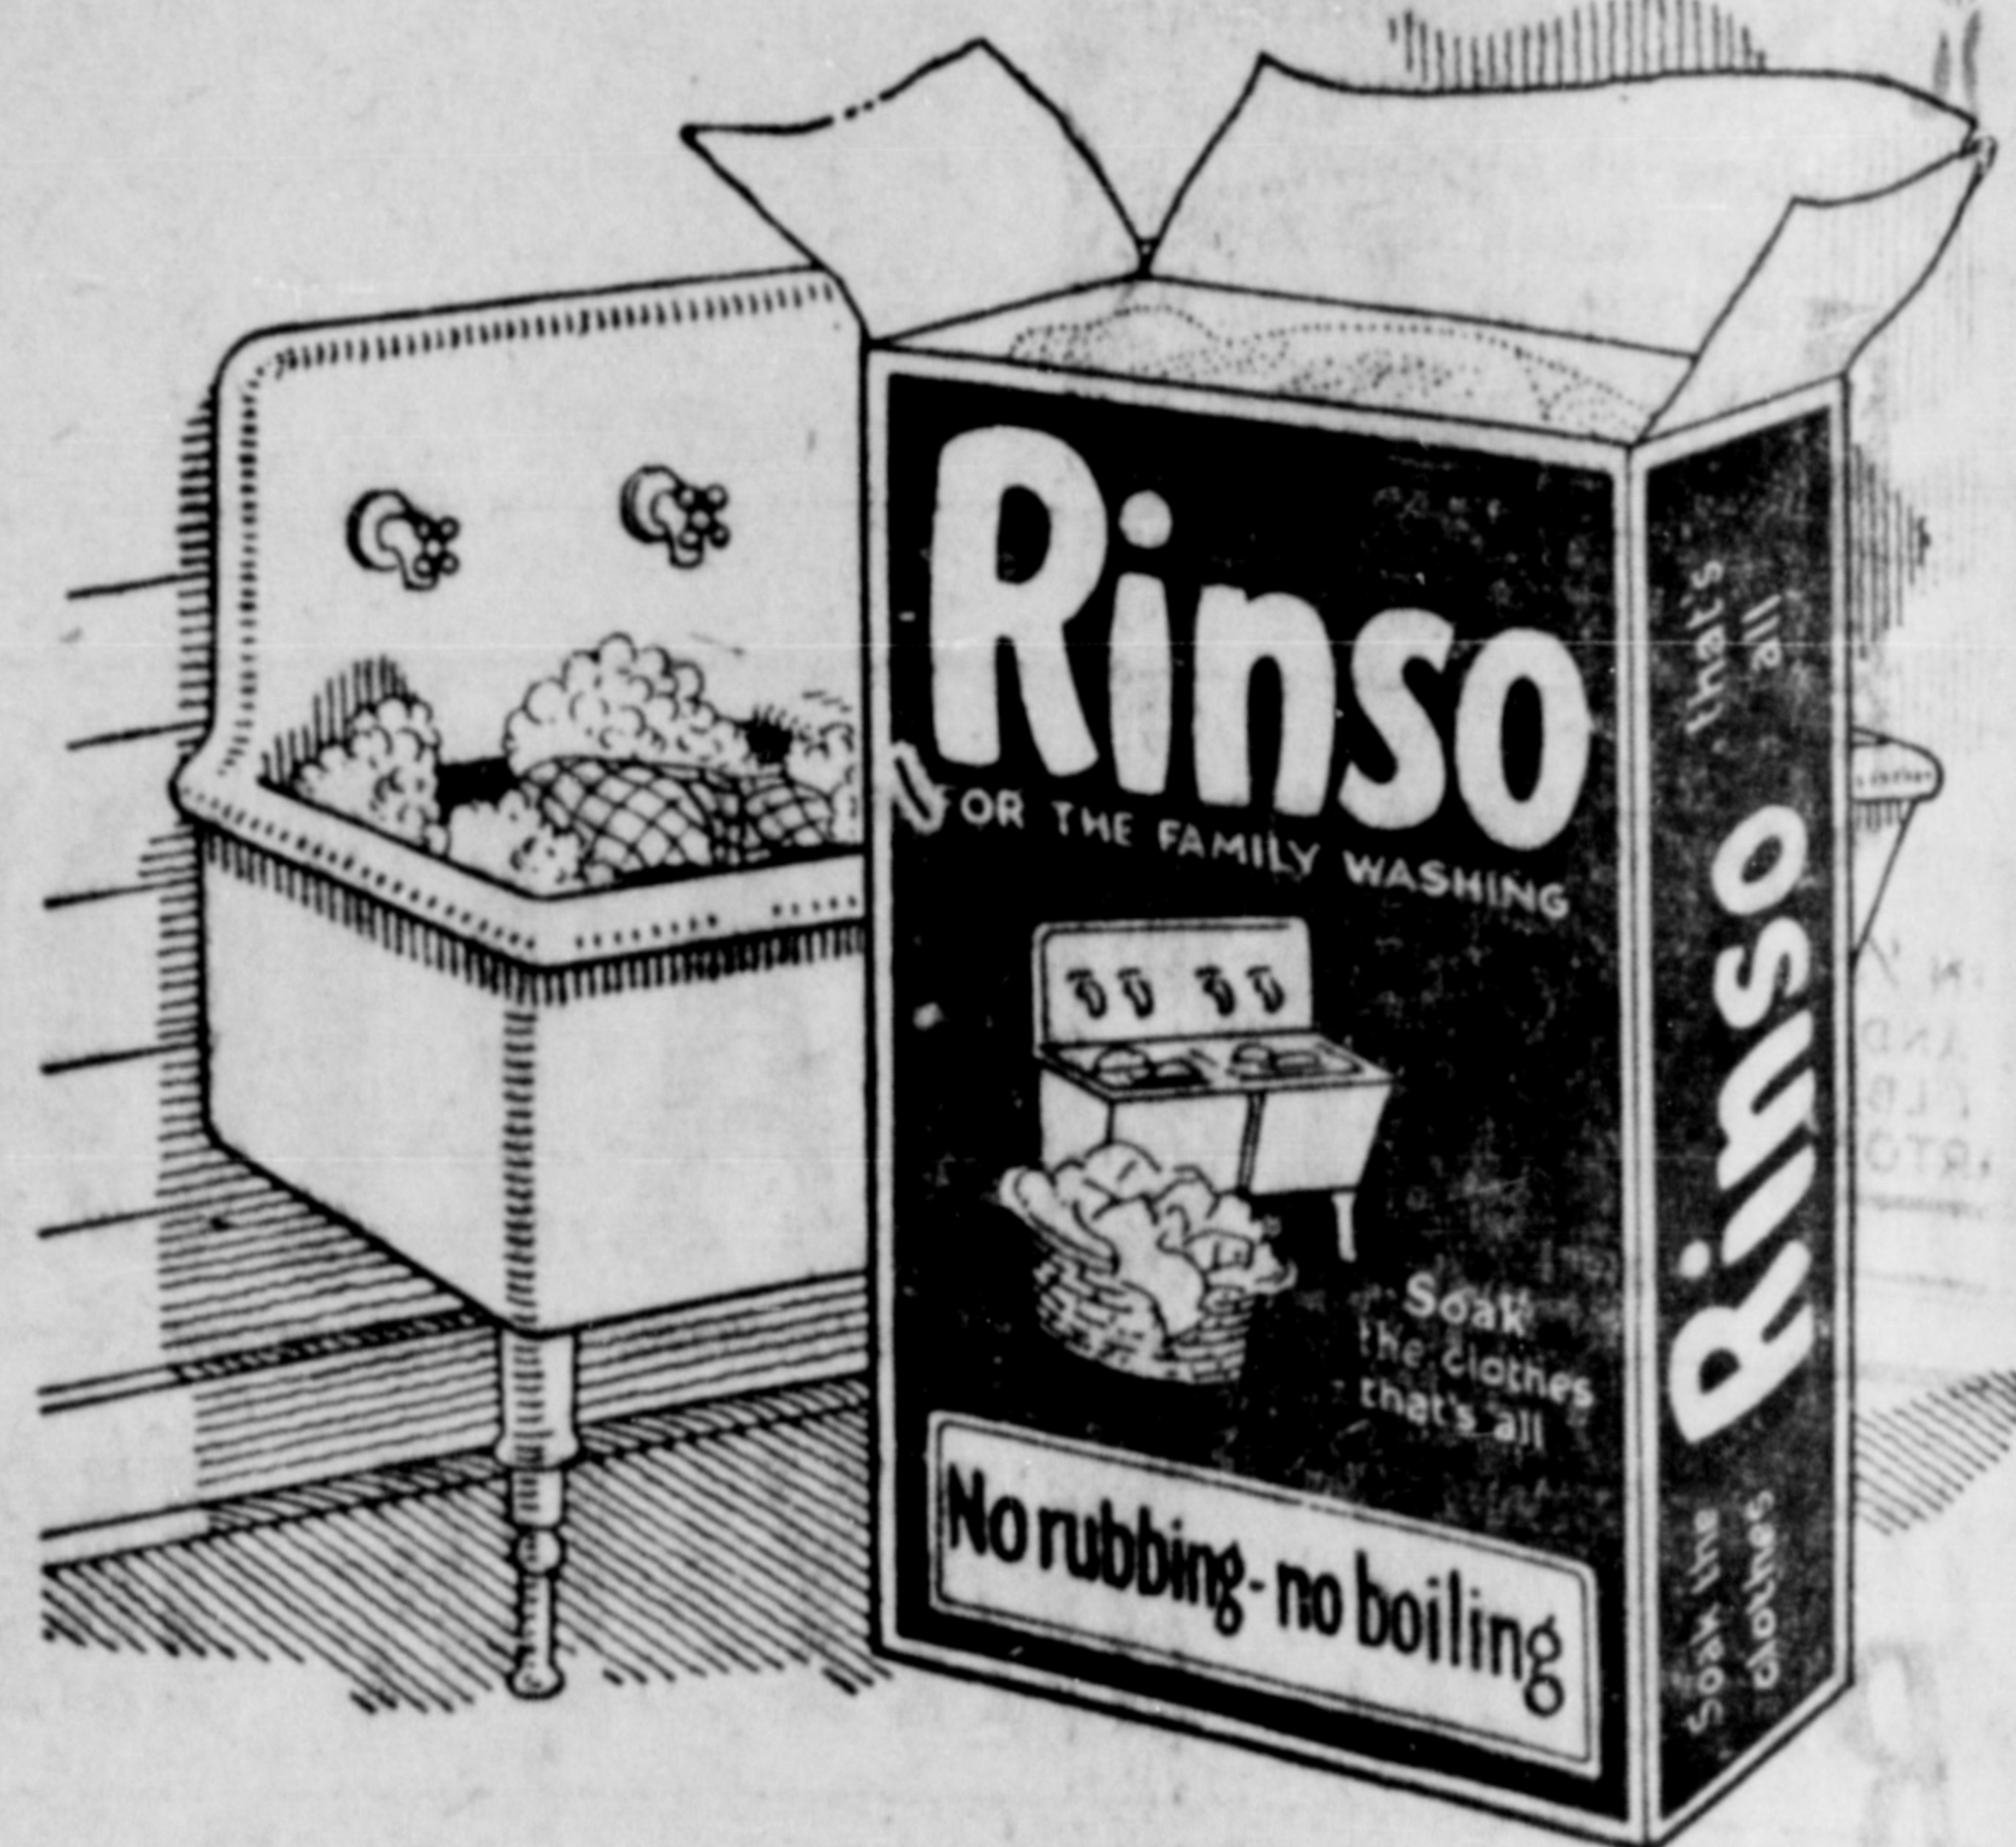

The permit issued to the Yukon Territory covers 1,750 cases of whiskey, 100 cases of brandy, 315 cases of gin, 333 cases of wines and 600 gallons of rum. It will be shipped from Prince Rupert to Skagway and from there to Whitehorse.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing—

JUST by soaking the clothes in the suds of this new soap, dirt is gently loosened and dissolved.

Even the dirt that is ground in at neckbands and cuff-edges yields to a light rubbing with dry Rinso. Not a thread is weakened. The mild Rinso suds work thoroughly through and through the clothes without injury to a single fabric.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. For the family wash it is as wonderful as Lux is for fine things.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

SKIDEGATE INLET

Cat. J. Hann with his splendid new gas boat Beatrice H. towed contractor D. Kennedy's pile driver to Massett recently. Mr. Kennedy is from Victoria and has been repairing the wharves at Lagoon Bay, Aliford Bay and Queen Charlotte City. The Beatrice H. is the finest launch in the inlet and is powered with a 30 h.p. Vivian engine.

The fish packing boats Melva M. and China Hat were here recently from Sunnyside Cannery. They are carrying salmon to the cannery.

W. Prettyjohn arrived recently with a splendid variety of vegetables from his farm at Lawn Hill. His place is Devon Farm.

Mrs. W. Rudge and family arrived back at Sandspit after spending the summer at Lowe Inlet.

A crew of white fishermen have been taken out by the Beatrice H. to seine for dog salmon. This is the first time local men have been given a chance to work on the seine and the opportunity is much appreciated.
