CARBON PRINTING AS SHOWN AT THE FAIR

Fine Exhibits by M. M. Stephens and others Attracts Much Attention

One of the exhibits at the fair that is attracting a good deal of attention is that of the carbon prints on glass shown by M. M. Stephens in the art section. Mr. Stephens is not a push the button artist. He does all the work himself, taking the photographs, developing and finishing the work—and it is excellent work. The carbon process of printing is much more difficult than other processes and is said to be absolutely impervious to the action of light. Once the print is completed it is permanent. The effect is soft and pleasant to the eye.

There are many other good examples of photography in the exhibition. One in particular, a photograph of a mountain with reflections in the water by Harry McLeod is excellent. Work shown in other classes is a great improvement over former years and is attracting a good deal of attention.

BEAUTIFUL GOWNS CARNIVAL QUEEN AND ATTENDANTS

The Queen of the Carnival at the coronation yesterday was gowned in white brocade with a robe of purple velvet lined with gold cloth. She had a standing collar of gold lace with amethysts and rhinestones and wore a corsage bouquet of gold roses.

The lady-in-waiting was gowned in pink duchess satin and georgette trimmed with pink ostrich feathers. Her hat to match was also trimmed with pink ostrich feathers, with touches of silver and she carried a silver wand.

The two maids-of-honor were gowned in brocaded crepe-de-chine with white georgette and pearl trimmings. Their hats to match were trimmed with pom-poms of white ostrich feathers with rhinestone buckles.

The flower girls wore white organdie with headdresses of ninon.

The costumes were made by Mrs. J. H. Hilditch and the white, purple and gold colors of the Exhibition were used as far as possible.

Making wash day pleasant—

Just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap—for soaking, boiling, or in your washing machine.

THE hardest part of wash-day, rubbing, rubbing, rubbing, has given way to the new method of soaking the clothes clean with Rinso.

This wonderful new soap gently loosens the dirt and a thorough rinsing leaves things white and glistening as you never could get them before.

Only spots where the dirt is ground-in, such as neck bands, cuff edges, and the like need a light rubbing, and a little dry Rinso rubbed on these spots quickly makes the dirt disappear.

Rinso is sold by all grocers and department stores
