Rin-Tin-Tin was Found Behind German Lines in France and is Now Movie Star

Rin-Tin-Tin, the "wonder-dog," with the name of the famous French good luck doll that every "dough boy" encountered during the closing days of the World War if he happened to be "somewhere in France," is almost an American institution. It is like "carrying coals to Newcastle" to attempt to introduce him to the average motion picture theatregoer. He was "made over night" some months ago when the Warner Bros. produced "Were the North Begins" with Rin-Tin-Tin as its star.

Picked up as he wandered aimlessly back to the German lines in the closing days of the war, Rin-Tin-Tin was brought to this country by Lieut. Lee Duncan. With him came his wife, Nannette. The head of the family had been taught to earn his living amidst unusual surroundings as he dodged shells and poison gases and it was only reasonable that he turned to motion pictures. What he has been able to accomplish with the aid of his owner and trainer—notably in "Where the North Begins"—gives him undisputed title to being the "wonder dog." It is doubtful if a more intelligent canine has ever lived.

"Find Your Man," which is soon to be shown at our theatre, is a photoplay story especially written by Darryl Francis Zanuck to show Rin-Tin-Tin at his best. While it is in no sense merely a "stunt" picture, it provides abundant opportunity for the dog to offer additional proof that here is an animal governed more by a thinking, trained intellect than by instinct. It has a climax which is ingenius in the extreme and exciting to the nth degree.

The principal "humans" in the cast are also of more than passing interest. June Marlowe plays the leading feminine role and Eric St. Clair has the male lead.

CHANGING HUSBANDS IS CURIOUS STORY

Mutual Falling in Love Saves Difficult Situation in Mid-Week Play

Realizing that his wife, Gwynne, is bored with her life of idle ease and luxury, Oliver Evans agrees to her plan that for three months she is to be free to try for a stage career. He promises to keep away from her for this period of time, although she is to live in their Park Avenue apartment.

In New York, Gwynne discovers that she has a double in the theatrical world, by name Eva Graham, whose lack of histrionic ability is retarding her success. Their remarkable resemblance to each other prompts Gwynne to propose that Eva change places with her for three months. The bargain is struck. Eva takes up her residence at the Park Avenue apartment while Gwynne moves to a hotel, assuming the name and role of Eva Graham.

Bob Hamilton, Eva's fiancee, calls on her at the theatre with the intent of breaking their engagement. But finding a changed-for-the-better Eva, he decides not to call their engagement off but instead invites Gwynne to have supper with him at the Rendezvous cafe.

That same night Oliver goes to the Park Avenue apartment to tell Gwynne that the sudden return of her mother from abroad will make it necessary for her to return home with him. Eva calls up Gwynne who promises to return to the apartment at once, but is prevented from keeping the appointment by the discovery that the play is about to close for want of funds. She offers to lend the producer $30,000 and in return is made the star.

Gwynne's non-appearance forces Eva to accompany Oliver and his mother to the Evans home, where during the days following, she learns to love Oliver. In the meanwhile, Gwynne has returned to the Park Avenue apartment Bob finds it out and comes to the conclusion that Eva is untrue to him.

Eva goes to Gwynne to confess her love for Oliver and learns that Gwynne is in love with Bob. Both these gentlemen arrive at the psychological moment and the whole story is told which explains everything. To bring happiness to Gwynne and Bob as well as to Eva and himself, Oliver suggests that Gwynne go to Reno and there get a divorce. And so it ends.

BRITISH AUTHORITY IN STIRRING PLAY

Sir Percy Sykes, of London, England, former commander-in-chief of the British forces in Persia, and authority in royal court etiquette, aided D. W. Griffith in staging several of the most spectacular scenes in "America," the romantic photo-drama of the War of Independence, which will be here at the week end.

Until Sir Percy, who has been thrice presented at the Court of St. James, as well as at the royal courts of India, Persia and other eastern countries, volunteered, Griffith and his research workers were at a loss to learn the details of court ceremonies in 1775, for despite the voluminous writings of the diarists of that period, none of them described formal court etiquette in detail.

Just prior to Sir Percy's arrival, Griffith, after months of search, had engaged a foreign actor who bore an uncanny resemblance to the best authenticated pictures of King George Third, for that role.

So much did this actor look the part and play it that Sir Percy, a deep student of George's reign, seemed to forget that he was dealing with a modern actor, and when addressing the latter always did so with a deep bow, and with the words, "If his Majesty will deign—"

Sport Chat

With the victory of the Colts over the Sons of Canada in last Friday night's game, the Senior Basketball League gives promise of tightening up in an interesting manner. Tonight the Sons of Canada and Elks will have their second meeting of the season and which ever team wins will be in first place for the time being at least. A win for the Canucks would give them a pretty good hold on the league leadership, while, if the Elks should come out on top, all teams would be close together. There will be another Ladies' League game tonight between the Maple Leafs and Gil's. The latter are hoping to turn the near victories of the first two games into the real thing this time. The Intermediate game will be between the Grotto and Regiment. Altogether a very attractive bill is being offered and there will doubtless be another big tournout of fans.

The billiard program for the week is as follows: Tuesday night—Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor vs. Canadian Fish & Cold Storage (second division); Wednesday night—Great War Veterans vs. Grotto, (first division); Thursday night—Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor vs. Callies, (second division). Having two games set down for the week with cellar teams, the second division Billiard Parlor team is confident that it will be able to further strengthen its hold on first place. It will require almost clean sweeps to do this, however. On the other hand, the Cold Storage and Callies teams have hopes of improving their present positions and they may possibly do so. The Great War Veterans have the idea of using their first division game on Wednesday night for the purpose of once again jumping ahead of the Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor in the league standing. This is now taking into account, of course, what their opponents, the Grotto, may have to say about it. The tobacconists may be down but they are not admitting yet that they are out.
