Holeproof Hosiery

GIVE IT THIS CHRISTMAS—
YOU'LL MAKE NO MISTAKE

Whether you're choosing a gift for wife, sweetheart, sister, mother—choose Holeproof. You can't go wrong! Every woman has a weakness for beautiful hosiery. And most women prefer Holeproof—for its durability as well as its beauty. It outwears other hosiery and outlasts most other gifts. Yet its daintiness makes it appropriate for Christmas giving.

ENGLISH COMEDY SUCCESS IN FILM

"Mord Em'ly," Being Presented Here on Wednesday and Thursday is Novel Picture

Mord Em'ly, the big English comedy success, opens at the Westholme Theatre on Wednesday. Mord Em'ly is one of the greatest hits of recent years, having met with tremendous success in the Old Country. It is the story of a young Cockney girl, who lives in Pandora Mews. Mord Em'ly finds it necessary to secure a position as an 'ousemaid general, and there the fun commences.

Mord finds herself in the service of three prim old maids, who, to use her own expression, "give her the 'ump." Mord has some hilarious and cyclonic adventures as a servant girl, but finds herself unequal to sticking it, and forthwith she does a bunk, which lands her once more amongst her old friends on the Walworth road. Here she once more meets her bloke, Battling 'Enry Barden, who has earned himself a reputation as a box fighter of no mean ability; and for a while Mord is happy, being as she is now "kerlose to the one what she loves."

But further adventures await Mord Em'ly, and after several reckless and carefree escapades she finds herself "haccidentally and hunfortunately hinterned" in the Worcester reformatory—but even here the sunshine of Mord Em'ly's personality is shed over the unfortunate inmates, and the pedagogical authorities are subject to the amusing and daring pranks of the Cockney girl. Meanwhile Mord becomes fed up with the 'bloomin' reformatory and she culminates her escapade by making a daring escape from the reformatory right under the eyes of the law; and then she has a right merry time for a while keeping away from the watchful eyes of the various coppers. However, Mord always was an artful dodger, and everything turns out well on that score.

Meanwhile Mord Em'ly's sweetheart is preparing for the biggest fight of his career wherein he will tackle the Brighton Bounder, the champion of Sussex, Essex and Wessex. The Bounder is a prohibitive favorite over Mord Em'ly's sweetheart, and the fight is conceded by all to be nothing but a slaughter, but young 'Enry Barden has a few tricks of his own to display, and when the big bout of the evening is called at the London East End Boxing Club, the public is due for the surprise of its life, for the fight turns out to be one of the greatest bouts ever pulled off in the history of that same athletic club.

GLORIA SWANSON IN "HER LOVE STORY"

Popular Star Scores Another Hit in Picture to be Seen Here at End of Week

Gloria Swanson scores another big success in her picture "Her Love Story" that is coming to the Westholme Theatre at the end of this week. The synopsis of this interesting story is as follows:

Gloria, as Princess Marie of the tiny Balkan kingdom of Vlatavia, falls deeply in love with Capt. Rudi, handsome young officer of the King's guards. It is hopeless from the first, especially when her father, the Archduke, decides the Princess would make a satisfying Queen for the reprobate King of Mergovina, a neighboring country. The Archduke hopes that such a marriage will greatly enrich him.

Hoping to avert Fate, Rudi and the Princess are secretly married by a gypsy, so when the Duke informs his daughter, she tells him she is already married to Rudi. Rudi is sent to join a regiment in Australia. The duke ignores the existence of the gypsy marriage, and the royal wedding takes place.

A child is born to the Queen—Rudi's child. The king celebrates the birth of his "heir." The Queen, too honest to live a lie, tells him the boy is Rudi's. The King keeps the boy, but orders the Queen confined in an old castle. Rudi returns and helps the Queen to escape.

Later they hear of the child's illness and go to the castle. Rudi holds off the King's guards while the Queen escapes with her son. In a storm she makes for the castle of her father. She finds that the old man's mind is gone. A physician tells them that the boy is in no danger.

The King dies, and the boy is about to occupy the throne when the Queen makes the startling announcement that the child is Capt. Rudi's, and all she asks is to be able to leave the country with her husband and child. Capt. Rudi falls on his knees and begs the Queen's forgiveness for any doubts he may have had concerning the boy. Later, the couple, with their child, leave for a neighboring country and happiness.

Scenes That Beggar all Description Presented in "Broadway at Night"

Off with the old love,
On with the new.

That seems to be the motto on Broadway, where pampered sons of wealth, actors and chorus girls—sensation seekers of all descriptions throw off all restraints and go in for the wild flings that make Broadway notorious, a theme for fiction, a mecca for all who wish to see life with a capital L.

Speed and zip, necking parties, studio affairs—all the night life of the great light-flaming street lives in "Broadway After Dark," the screen version of the Owen Davis play scheduled to make an appearance at the Westholme Theatre tonight and Tuesday.

Scenes that beggar description, episodes more bizarre than those found in the Arabian Thousand and One Nights, a veritable fairyland of midnight adventures are found in this romance of the Great White Way.

Besides an all-star cast in the picture appear scenes from the famous Actors' Equity Ball, at which the following Broadway stars appear: Fred and Dorothy Stone, Mary Eaton, Raymond Hitchcock, Elsie Ferguson, Florence Moore, James J. Corbett, John Steel, Frank Tinney, Paul Whiteman, Irene Castle, Buster West, and a thousand others.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris, who have been on a trip to Vancouver returned home on the Cardena yesterday afternoon.
