"In the seventies and eighties Great Britain held almost every sporting and athletic championship worth holding. I attribute our losing so many of them in a large measure to the soft upbringing of the young men of today. I cannot conceive how any healthy minded Briton, and especially one who thinks anything at all about his physical fitness, can find pleasure in attending night clubs. Modern affections are slowly but surely sapping our manhood and unless we can return to a saner and healthier method of letting off steam, we cannot expect to regain our supremacy in the sporting arenas of the world."—Sir Claude de Crespigny, well known British sportsman, in a recent London interview.

With four or five teams in the league already having played their first tournaments, the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. team is away to a good start in the second division billiard competition with a perfect aggregate of 750 points. The Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor is second with 698; Grotto third, 570, and Callies in the cellar with 553. The fifth team, the Great War Veterans, will make its initial appearance with the St. Andrew's next Tuesday. The Vets will also play their first game in the senior division with the Grotto next Wednesday.

It is now expected that the basketball season will not open on November 14, next Friday, as had at first been planned. One of the teams is still awaiting the arrival of equipment. When the opening date has been definitely ascertained, the schedule for the season will be released by James Marks, secretary of the Association. The first games, it is now expected, will be played about November 24.

KILLED THOUSANDS NOW SELLS RUGS

Former State Executioner in Georgia Known as "Com-misar of Death" Lives in Tiflis

TIFLIS, Russia, Nov. 8.—One of the most remarkable and notorious characters in Russia is a Russian-German named Nicholas Shuman, who is called "the Commissar of Death" by the natives of Georgia. He derives this sinister title from the fact that for a long time he was the official executioner of the dreaded Cheka in southern Russia. His victims ran into the thousands.

Shuman is now remorseful for all the heads he has cleaved, and has turned from human butchering to rug-selling in the bazaars of Tiflis. He may be seen any day hawking his wares to American or other foreign visitors to the Georgian capital. He is easily identified by the natives by the fact that his harsh, determined face is marked by a deep scar, the result of a violent attack made upon him with a huge iron spike by an aggrieved Georgian whose friends Shuman had put to death.

"I killed these people," said Shuman to the correspondent, "because it was my duty as official executioner for the government to do so. I could never have done it in my personal capacity. I am repentant and want to forget the past. I want to develop my better side. Do you think there is any chance for me in America as a rug merchant? I hear you have much money there. I will take a part of it for my rugs."
