Broad Gauged Foreign Policy Would Follow Election Of Democrat in U.S.

Washington, July 28. - (By Canadian Press)-Should John your home. The sale of W. Davis, the nominee of the democratic party for President, be successful in the election, this country may look forward to be a broad-gauged foreign policy. THE LAW FORBIDS IS COMING TONIGHT

Divorce Problem Play .to .be Seen at Westholme Has Baby For Central Figure

A problem play with a baby as the central figure, or perhaps a Baby Peggy play with a problem as a background—it is difficult to decide just which of these descriptions best fit "The Law Forbids," which comes tonight.

It is a dramatic story of a separated couple with a child, told ents; they embark on a "trial seplations regard the baby's custody The law doesn't consider the child, of course; courts are more concerned with property settlements and alimony claims. But the court decides that the child is to remain with each parent for a six months' period. "The Law Forbids" tells the child's side of the average Amercan divorce problem; Baby Peggy voices the plea of thousands of children of divorced parents; a plea that has never been heard before. It is this that makes Bernard McConville's story one of the outstanding features on the screen, especially when the futility of hasty divorce is portrayed by the child's parents real. izing their mistakes immediately

The baby romps through the dramatic action that forms a background for her tricks with a pet rooster and other endearing little things that lead up to the big climax. Then she turns tragedienne, and in the simple and direct way of childhood settles the problem that jurists and According to the city engineers sociologists can do nothing with reports the cost of grading the but debate over, or quibble endexcavation grounds is $2.50 per lessly without showing definite
