Yellow Peril Invades League.

The League of Nations is feeling the "yellow peril." What at one time seemed to threaten only British Columbia and the west coast of the United States has now made its influence felt in the highest court of the world. Just what will be its effect on the future action of nations only time will tell, but that it will be felt all the time seems sure. The Japanese nation is one to be reckoned with in all world movements.

China is also awakening. Very probably the civil war which is now afflicting that country and which is accompanied by many horrors and for the time being is bound to cause much suffering, may eventually result in the country being roused in such a way as to have marvellous results. For many years there have been signs of a change and the modern movement is spreading rapidly in that country. China will very likely add greatly to the yellow peril. She will learn to develop her own resources and utilize everything that nature has given her with such a prolific hand.

B.C. Vivaly Interested In China and Japan.

British Columbia is vitally interested in both China and Japan. She is interested because she is a neighbor to both countries and because there are already a great many Chinese and Japanese resident here. These people perform an important part in the development of the coast districts. While they are clamish, made so largely by the reluctance of the people of the white race to mix freely with them socially, they are rapidly assimilating western ideas and sometimes western ideals. Also they are adopting western vices. Much depends upon the Chinese and Japanese who live here as to the attitude taken by their parent nations. They are still Chinese and Japanese, rather than Canadians, although many of them have adopted Canadian citizenship.

Bound To Be Close Relations.

There are bound to be close relations between the Orient and the cities on the coast. We are ready to do business with them and even anxious that their ships shall call at our ports. This being the case it is for us to adopt a consistent attitude on the Oriental question. All are agreed that it would not be a good thing to have an influx of Orientals here during the formative period in the history of the province but this the Japanese and Chinese find it difficult to understand when there are large areas of land in need of clearing and cultivating, when there are mines to be worked, timber is to be cut and in many cases the people of the white race do not want to do the work. The alternative is to fill up those lands with white people. That is our best defense against the yellow peril.

Bound To Become A Big City.

Prince Rupert is bound to become a big city, according to Sir Thomas Robinson, who is interested in the Cold Storage plant here. He has been telling Vancouver people about the great future in store for us and predicts that we shall make rapid advance from now on.

Sir Thomas is thinking along the same lines as ourselves but being a man of prominence with a title, his words carry weight and the people of Vancouver listen.

THE funny man of the Ketchikan Chronicle remarks "After six weeks' hunting for bootleggers in Alaska, a special prohibition agent says Alaska is dryer than ever. And after spending three days in Prince Rupert it's easy to agree with him."

PEOPLE who object to things published in this paper should sometimes consider what the editor knows that he does not publish.

INQUIRIES ABOUT VERSE COMPETITION

Is Open to Everyone and Length is Not a Factor to be Considered

The verse competition is creating a good deal of interest, and a good many inquiries have been received in connection with it. In answer to some of these it may be said that the competition is open to everyone, old or young, four or six lines being a good length. This, however, will not be considered in awarding the prize. Following have been received:

Dear Mosquito

Ah, mosquito, how I love you, When the night is sad and long, And at night my tent you enter Cheering with compelling song.

The Bug

There once was an insect, a bug Enseamed himself in a rug; But the house caught on fire And was burned down entire, And that was the end of the bug.

The Noble Bivalve

Ye others laud the sockeye salmon! Lift up your anthems to the flounder! Make halibut your paeon's theme! I strike the lyre to subject sounder. No tuneful bard on high Olympus Shall sound ambrosia's praises louder, Than I shall sing Prince Rupert's priceless Esculent Clam that makes the chowder.

The Poor Fish

Wherever you happen to be, Of frozen and canned Salmon, halibut and Other fish, is "Prince Rupert, B.C."

But there's one that is not a good dish The "knocker" its called, let us wish When he's caught he'll be canned And marked with the brand "V.P.F.," meaning "Very Poor Fish."

The Rat Was Wise

Mr. Cat said once to Mrs. Rat, Oh! why be afraid of me, Come over here, and sit on the mat, And into your ear's I will tell a story.

The Rat rolled wise, As she loked her eyes, That tale you have told before, Other Rat's ears have heard the same, But Oh! Mr. Cat you don't play the game, For alas! sad to say, The Rat's always pay, As they disappear from this earth—evermore.

The author of "The Noble Bivalve" and three other verses fails to send his name with the contributions. Will he kindly either mail it or telephone it to 86. All entrants must sign the contributions, not for publication but as an evidence of good faith. Only in case of a verse winning a prize will the names of contestants be published. The verse must have to do with some form of animal life such as a bird, fish, animal, insect or germ. It may take any form desired such as an ode, a quatrain or even the popular limerick. Three prizes will be offered. $5 for first, $3 for second and $2 for third. The verses will be published as submitted but the name of the author will be reserved to be used only in case of his winning a prize. The verse should be neatly written on one side of the paper only and addressed to "Competition Editor," Daily News. No manuscripts will be returned.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

September 30, 1914.

The annual fair of the Northern B.C. Agricultural & Industrial Association was opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Hon. Dr. H. E. Young, minister of agriculture for the province. The exhibition is being held in the new building on Acropolis Hill which has just been completed.

The first fresh halibut ever shipped by rail from Prince Rupert went out this morning. Three carloads were sent East by the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. One was to F. T. James & Co., Toronto and the other two to Chicago. Each car contained 20,000 pounds and the loading took place during the night.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Society held a successful bazaar and dance in their rooms yesterday afternoon and evening. Something like $400 was realized after paying all expenses.

IMMIGRATION NORTHERN B.C.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo Tells of Difficulties in Way of Getting Settlers

ROOM FOR FISHERMEN Porcher Island Migh Accommodate Number Says Minister of Lands

The following letter from Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, in regard to immigration to this district including Queen Charlotte Islands explains the situation clearly: Victoria, Sept. 25, 1924. Editor "Daily News."

I would like the people of Queen Charlotte Islands and Northern British Columbia to appreciate the difficulties I have encountered in endeavoring to secure Hebridean fishermen to settle on Queen Charlotte Islands.

One of the fishing concerns operating on the Queen Charlotte Islands recently informed me that he would give employment to five Hebridean fishing families. Accordingly I instructed our Agent General to get in touch with the Overseas Settlement Board with a view to having these families sent out.

The Overseas Settlement Board apparently had been very much prejudiced against the Queen Charlotte Islands as a place for settlement and I received a cable that nothing could be done until a delegation representing the Board had paid a visit to the Coast and made personal inspection.

I replied very strongly and am in hopes that in a short time the misapprehension of those in authority in the Old Country will have been removed.

House of Commons On May 10, 1922, Mr. Amery answered a question in the House of Commons as follows: "The Overseas Settlement Committee are authoritatively advised that communication with these Islands, which lie to the north of Vancouver Island, is difficult, that the population is small, and that the Islands are not at present suitable to settlers from this country, except for stock raising and dairying, which could be made successful under proper management, but requires considerable capital. They have already issued a warning as regards settlement in these Islands, and they would urge any persons who may contemplate settling there to communicate with their secretary at 6, St. James' Square, before coming to any decision."

seen the difficulties that have been encountered. Room for Thousands In my opinion there is room on this Coast for thousands of fishermen. For instance, right at Prince Rupert's door I believe that Porcher Island is admirably situated to take care of a considerable number of fisher folk. Faithfully yours, J. D. PATULLO.
