BRINGING UP FATHER

PREACHING ON HERRING PACK

Rev. Arthur Barner Tells of Fishing at Prince Rupert and on Work of Church

(By Arthur Barner) I was told at Prince Rupert that the cold storage plant there will freeze 12,000 tons of herring this spring as fast as the boats can catch them. The herring will be used exclusively for halibut bait. When you know that there are 8,000 herrings to a ton it is easy to figure that a lot of herrings will be swallowed by halibut.

But what will the catch of halibut be? Prince Rupert is reputed to be the greatest landing port for halibut in the world. The cold storage plant has capacity for four million pounds of fish. I have seen stacks of halibut there, in which the individual fishes weighed from two pounds to 250 pounds. Multiply those figures concerning the herrings and it would seem that man is going to offer 96,000,000 herring as lure to the halibut. On such a scale one could waste a lot of bait and still make quite a catch.

Near Prince Rupert recently we tied up at a cannery while the crew of our coasting vessel loaded 500 cases of salmon. I counted 2,000 cases of salmon awaiting shipment. Fifty thousand cases are supposed to be a paying summer pack, so they are nearly cleaned out.

Wonderful Industry

This is a wonderful industry, but I am fishing for men and must tell some of the humorous and other incidents in that calling. Up the Massett Inlet I met a Seattle woman, who confided that in her youth in Georgia she had been a Methodist, but had married a Presbyterian. They became Baptists and in Texas her husband had been a preacher. "My boys don't go to church and my daughters are Congregationalists," she said.

At China Hat I visited our missionaries, who are Indians, the pastor and his wife and the school teacher, an Anglican school graduate. Our hospital doctor was with me and he found the school children "not only clean but in excellent health."

At Massett

Coming past Massett, site of the Anglican Mission, I recalled that on my last visit there I witnessed the dedication of a beautiful church and heard the Indian band play the Venerable Archdeacon Collinson to the wharf. "What changes in half a century since he first went there! I could write of the unpleasant as well. On the voyage up a number of lumberjacks on board were complaining of the inferiority of the government liquor to the bootleg kind. Some of them were quite drunk, on which kind of liquor I do not know. And I could dwell on the misadventures of the sailors who get "rolled" in Prince Rupert. But my visits to our missions are memorable.

The twice weekly spring service of the Canadian National Railway coast steamships will go into effect northbound from Vancouver on Monday, April 28, and southbound from Prince Rupert on Thursday, May 1, according to official announcement made this morning by R. F. McNaughton, C.N.R. district passenger agent.

The vessels will leave Prince Rupert at 10 p.m. on Wednesday and Saturday nights respectively for Anxox and Stewart returning here from the north at 8 p.m. on Thursdays and Sundays and sailing for Vancouver and way ports at 11 p.m. those days. Arrival at Vancouver will be 2 p.m. Saturdays and Tuesdays.

Summer Schedule

GRAIN SHIPPING IS DISCUSSED

Board of Trade Receives Letter in Regard to Fitting of Ships at Harbor

SPEAKS OF ELEVATOR

Writer Complains of Expense Entailed at Vancouver from Regulations

C. A. Copping of London, England, who has previously been in correspondence with the Prince Rupert Board of Trade in regard to the possibility of the erection of a grain elevator here, was heard from again last night by the Board of Trade in a letter written from Norfolk, Virginia en route to England. He says:

"In conversation with ship-owner friends I have found that there is great dissatisfaction re the system adopted for grain fittings at Vancouver and my friends have actually asked me to write you and point out that you will score over Vancouver very heavily if you avoid making any regulations re grain fittings and simply allow owners to fit same in accordance with British Board of Trade regulations.

Cost $2,000

"As an instance, one boat I know loaded grain at Montreal and of course put up shifting boards, etc. there. After discharge at Marseilles she proceeded to Vancouver and the captain got his own ship carpenters to re-erect the grain fittings in accordance with British and Montreal regulations, reckoning to spend about $200 at Vancouver for new wood to replace breakages. Vancouver authorities, however, made him take the whole lot down again and re-erect with shore labor at a cost of $2,000.

"The owners therefore reckon they have been robbed of $1800 simply to give shore men a job.

"You no doubt will be able to write me an assurance on that point as if you agree we shall be able to get carriers to go to Prince Rupert to load without extra freight—that is for U.K. and the continent.

"A boat without grain fittings is of course different as a complete new set must be a shore job.

Expects to Return

"I hope you have forwarded the particulars I previously asked for as I expect to find matters well under way when I arrive in England in about three weeks time. If I am unable to return quickly to Prince Rupert to complete details with you, my friend and partner, Mr. W. Howard Irving of Vancouver will do so under my cable instructions."

HALIBUT TREATY IS STILL UNSETTLED

Commission Will be Appointed Just as Soon as Ratification Completed

A letter received by the Board of Trade from the deputy minister of marine and fisheries at Ottawa stated that the halibut treaty was not yet effective but it was anticipated it would be ratified by the U.S. Senate during the present session. A committee to deal with matters coming under the treaty it was stated would be appointed immediately the treaty was ratified. It was the opinion of Mr. Johnston that the tariff did not come under the treaty but it had already been taken up by the Dominion Government.

Madame Eugene Criqui is responsible for the decision of the former featherweight champion of the world to return to the ring, according to a story from Paris. She it was who, last August, after the defeat of her husband at the hands of Johnny Dundee, ruled that he would never fight again. Seven months of the life led by the members of the Paris bourgeoisie worked the change in her attitude toward the ring. When Gene returned from the Polo Grounds after losing the world's featherweight title to Johnny Dundee and sustaining 15 of the most punishing rounds ever administered to a fighter, Madame Criqui gave one look at her husband's battered face and shouted "Never again! We will return to Paris and live a retired life." Criqui had accumulated 2,000,000 francs in Australia and America. He invested the money, rented a little flat and settled down. He met Hebrans, the Belgian boxer, as he had given his word he would. All he got out of it was a badly broken hand.

Recently Criqui decided to see the Ledoux-Marcart bout. He took Madame along. At the conclusion of the 20 rounds which brought the title back to the veteran Ledoux, Madame Criqui turned to her husband and said: "My word, Gene, I don't know anything about the fighting game, but I am sure you could beat the two of them the same night."

"I am certain I could," Criqui replied with slight interest. "I am quite certain I could give Dundee a real fight too. Do you want me to do it?"

"All right, go ahead," she permitted, and then Criqui sought Robert Endeline, his manager, and told him he was ready to go back to the ring. He already has started training.

"My hand is all right again. I intend to ask Dundee to give me that return match he promised me before we sailed. I think I gave him a good enough battle for the American public to wish to see me get another chance at it," Criqui says. "I made no bones about taking him on right after I won the title. I feel I am entitled to another crack at him."

SHOCKLEY WON OUT IN SLOW BILLIARD GAME LAST EVENING

After leading up to the fourth hundred, Fred Stephens was defeated by R. H. Shockley by a score of 500 to 463 in last night's individual billiard championship match and was thus eliminated from the series. The match was a slow one, Shockley having several instances of bad luck and Stephens being off form. The game took 3 hours and 18 minutes to play and each player went to the table 49 times. Shockley's average was 3.35 and Stephens', 3.10, high breaks being 23 and 22 respectively.

The next game will be on Monday between G. P. Tinker and Sgt. Johnson in the second round, C. Balagno and Geo. McIlmoyle, playing Tuesday night, will finish the first round.
