With the league standing tightening up in an interesting manner, the Senior basketball games are now commanding a great deal of attention among the fans and speculation is rife. The Sons of Canada, who are now in first place with a single game lead over the Elks, will meet the lodge men tonight. Should the Elks win they will displace the Canucks with the same number of victories but with one less defeat. On the other hand, if the Sons of Canada win they will once again be pretty safely entrenched in first place. The way things have been going lately with the Elks beating the Colts and the Colts beating the Sons, supporters of both teams meeting tonight have a good deal of confidence as to the outcome. The Intermediate game will be between the Grotto and Regiment. The tobacconists are hopeful of winning and getting back into first place again with the Colts. The third game will be a Junior League affair between the Colts and Tiny Tims.

The veterans' race between eights representing Vesta and Kensington Rowing Clubs which took place at Putney, near London recently, called attention to the fact that rowing is essentially an old as well as a young man's sport. The average age of the Vesta crew, stroked by Harry T. Blackstaffe, 1908 Olympic sculling champion, was 56½ years, and one veteran confessed to being on the wrong side of 70. The presidents of both clubs—Dan Fitte of Vesta and Major C. E. Liles of Kensington—took part in the contest. The latter has won more prizes than any other man on the river, and in the early eighties he was a cycling champion. Among the other sports he has been successful in walking, running, shooting, boxing and yachting. A Kensington veteran who, although he did not take part in the boat race, is still to be seen out nearly every week end of the year is W. H. Eyre, who was in the winning crew at Henley in the Grand as far back as 1876.

Four of the games in the second division billiard league tournament between the Great War Veterans' Association and the Grotto were played last night giving the Grotto a lead of 593 to 562. The fifth game between S. L. Warrior and W. J. Nelson will be played today. The individual scores of the four games played were as follows:

Dr. J. A. West (Great War Veterans), 150; George Blythe (Grotto) 146.

C. L. Youngman, 146; J. Beesley, 150.

E. Fenelon, 116; J. Hillman, 150.

H. F. Wearmouth, 150; S. Suga, 147.
