Canadian National And P.G.E. Railway.

DAILY EDITION

It seems inevitable that either the Canadian National or the O.P.R. will eventually take over the P.G.E. railway from the province. It would be of no value to any other system and op- to swim is a shapely form. erated alone it is only a liability.

The Canadian National management is planning to build into the Peace River country and apparently the Brule route has Wooden heads won't sink. been favored because it would give a good connection with the Pacific by way of Vancouver. The taking over of the P.G.E. and connecting Prince George with Ashcroft would change the attitude of the railway as there would still be an outlet to Vancou- use Ford parts as a medium of B.C. approximated to $60,000,ver and shippers would have the choice of routes either by Van-exchange. couver or Prince Rupert.

The interest taken in the P.G.E. by the C.N.R. management seems to indicate that the Peace River branch may come through between woman and man as to to which British Columbia is de-British Columbia instead of by way of Brule.

Lausanne Treaty Considerably Delayed.

The ratification of the Lausanne Treaty by France this week And perhaps may drop as quickly the lumbermen's payroll may be was rather belated. It was signed at Lausanne a little over a year ago and the parties to it are Turkey on the one side and on the other Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy, Greece and Roumania. It is the official document establishing peace in what is known as the Near East.

Sir Henry Did Not Forget Prince Rupert.

It has not been an uncommon thing here for people to remark "Sir Henry Thornton has already forgotten Prince Rupert." But he has not. He told the people of Montreal yester- Miriam Ferguson, Democratic day that we needed an elevator and doubtless he will tell the members of the Mackenzie King cabinet the same thing.

It is rather satisfactory to find the railway president making a public declaration of the fact that an elevator is needed here and also mentioning that he sees a great future for this port. If Sir Henry sees prospects for us, surely it is up to us to keep a stiff upper lip and carry on with confidence in ourselves and our city.

Comments On Political Fight At Nelson.

The Vancouver Daily Star commenting on the Nelson election says:

John Oliver of Delta, of Victoria, and now of Nelson, will continue to be prime minister of British Columbia and will administer the affairs of the province with a following in the house sufficient to give him effective control. The electors of ination. Mrs. Ferguson also Judge Robertson of the inland capital, by a substantial majority, have so willed it. In electing Mr. Oliver they have done two things: they have given their approval to the action of Mr. Kenneth Campbell in nor, was impeached. resigning his seat in Mr. Oliver's favor, and they have expressed a desire for stable government under the only party from which it is available without the hurly burly of another general election.

The Nelson fray has not been without its humors. Either Vancouver on the Prince Rupert the opposition candidate did not care to be branded with the yesterday afternoon. name of any of the organized opposition groups, or in the alternative, no group was prepared to own him. R. P. Maitland, as "Private" Maitland, was on the ground, but as provincial president of the Conservative party he disclaimed having anything to do with the affair. R. H. Pooley, the new leader of the Conservatives in the legislature, announced early in the contest that he was going to keep out of it, but he eventually did get dragged in to the extent of a speech or two. Gen. A. D. McRae said that he was present without any political ambitions, but he paused long enough to hurl some pretty jagged linguistic rocks at the pre-

Now that it is over, Conservatives and Provincials alike can claim that they were not defeated, for they were never officially in the fight. But the fact remains that they did make some strenuous efforts to stop Mr. Oliver-and failed.

The Star, for the sake of a return to political tranquility and the early resumption of business, is pleased with the result of the by-election. At the same time it recognizes that the Liberal party, in the general election, received a stern warning of public uneasiness. It hopes that Mr. Oliver and his associates, in spite of their success, will not forget this.
