PROPOSITION IS OFFERED B.C. GOVERNMENT

RAILWAY PRESIDENT MUCH IMPRESSED AFTER TRIP TO WESTERN CANADA

Canadian National Engineer Makes Definite Proposal for Taking Over of P.G.E. Railway

VANCOUVER, Aug. 28.—M. H. McLeod, consulting engineer for the Canadian National Railway, returned to Vancouver Tuesday night after having the same day made Premier John Oliver a proposal for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Mr. McLeod was assisted in his negotiations with the government by D. A. Campbell, construction superintendent for the Canadian National, and together these two leading officials of the G.N.R. will spend the next few days motoring over the P.G.E. Territory. This morning they left Ashcroft and will spend the rest of the week travelling through Cariboo and looking up the possibilities of the P.G.E. territory from a colonization standpoint. They will go as far as Prince George.

Canadian National engineering parties are now in the field looking over the whole P.G.E. scheme. McLeod is willing to take over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway as it stands from Clinton to Quesnel and on to Prince George but would join up with the G.N.R. at Ashcroft by abandoning the P.G.E. for those sections east and west of Lillooet. These rails he would lay between Ashcroft and Clinton and make a through connected line of the project.

No Details Yet

VICTORIA, Aug. 28.—Premier Oliver and Hon. J. D. McLean, minister of railways, stated last night that negotiations between the Canadian National Railways and the Provincial Government had not reached a point where a statement concerning details was justified.

The Premier denied having authorized any statement. He said he regarded the matter so far as confidential.

Mr. McLean said he expected nothing definite would result from the negotiations for some time.
