

WESTHOLME THEATRE

Wednesday and Thursday, 7 and 9 p.m.

"NELLIE, the beautiful CLOAK MODEL"

A page torn from the intimate life of a beautiful model with its dramatic revelations. A drama that penetrates Fashion's secret haunts revealing the adventures and perils of the beautiful models who grace the jewelled byways of Peacock Alley. An inside story of Fashion Row. The exotic life of the Salon shown on the silver sheet. A photoplay packed with thrills, chills and laughs. Don't miss the big scenes which include the great fire at the fashion show and the escape of the audience and the scantily clad models; also Nellie's rescue from the path of the express train. Exceptional cast: Hobart Bosworth, Lew Cody, Edmund Lowe, Raymond Griffith, Claire Windsor, Mae Busch, Dorothy Cummings, Lilyan Tashman and many others.

AMERICAN GIRL IS PLEASED WITH ENGLAND

Tells of Her Impressions in Article Published in Newspaper

Miss Fanny E. Holtzman, an American barrister, writes in an English newspaper:

"My visit has been one of unsurpassable joy, never-ending surprise, and exaltation. England to me is a land of history, a castle-country of knights and princesses. There is in all of us, I think, that spark of romance that will never die, and that will keep alive in our minds and imaginations the pictures of other lands and times for ever. For this reason, being an American, England has been to me like some colorful phantasmagoria; staying here in London, or visiting any one of the numerous castles and baronial homes, the forgotten facts in my school books have returned to me; all the old thoughts, fancies, and dreams have been resurrected. Particularly have I been impressed by your titled people."

In America we have an idea that English Royalty stands for snobbery, that every Englishman is cold and reserved. On the contrary, I found every Englishman warm-hearted and courteous, your Royalty the 'elegance of simplicity.' I stepped into a page of 'Ivanhoe' when I spent a number of days at Belvoir Castle, the home of the Duke and Duchess of Rutland. I never imagined, and no other average American might imagine unless experienced that such grace of manner, such simplicity, could exist in any such place as a castle. The royal things of life, which usually are the simple things, are appreciated, spoken of in terms of sympathy and understanding."

Passengers sailing for the south on the Cardena yesterday afternoon included Mrs. James Haslett, A. M. Kipp, J. Field Strang, N. Robinson and L. Sunnyside where 5,000 cases will be loaded after which she will sail for Vancouver via Rivers Inlet.

INTEREST IN THE LIBRARY INCREASING

More Books Being Taken Out Than Ever Before And Donations Being Made.

A general increase in interest in the public library was reported to the board last night at its regular monthly meeting.

New registrations of borrowers had increased during the month of September by 61 while only one had cancelled. This makes a total of 1,628 registered although all are not active borrowers.

During the month there had been received by gift of 29 books and by purchase 68, while four had been discarded. There are now on the shelves a total of 4,052 volumes.

The total circulation during the month was 2,567 volumes compared with 1,956 last year for the corresponding month. The daily average was 106.9.

The question of gifts of books to the library was discussed and it was mentioned that the library was always glad to have books not being used by the owners. While sometimes they duplicated volumes already on the shelves they were found very useful.

The Board decided to paint the outside of the building, provided there was money enough to the credit of the board and also to order a few more books in the near future. A special meeting of the board will be called to deal with these matters.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Macleod and family leave on tonight's train for Moncton, New Brunswick.
