New Flag For Canada Adopted.

Canada has a flag now and it is a better one than the old but not yet satisfactory. It consists in a red ensign with the Union Jack as usual in one corner and a new shield having the three lions of England, the lion rampant of Scotland, the harp of Ireland, the fleur de lis of Scotland and beneath them all the maple leaf of Canada.

While the flag is an improvement over the old it is still much too complicated. The Union Jack is sufficient intimation of the fact that we are part of the Empire without the individual emblems of England, Scotland and Ireland. Eastern people would like to have simply the maple leaf on the red but we would much prefer the beaver as a more suitable emblem although perhaps not quite so artistic. The present agglomeration is not artistic or anything else.

Laminated Wood Plant on Skeena.

A laminated wood plant is to be established on the Skeena River about fifty miles from here by a Vancouver concern. It is the intention to utilize the cottonwood that grows on the islands and along the banks of the river in the making of boxes, panels and other laminated wood articles. For this class of material there is at present a great demand because the wood is light and strong and takes a good finish for panels.

We told about the formation of this company a year ago and a few months ago the organizer of the concern, Frank Burdett, was in the city and advertised in this paper the application to purchase Devil's Island from the government. At that time he was anxious that nothing should be said about the company and its prospects because everything was in the formative period. Now the plans have been matured and it is announced that work will begin.

Co-operation In Land Settlement.

R. C. W. Lett of the Canadian National Railway colonization department told yesterday of the good results obtained from co-operation in regard to land settlement. This is true always and applies to other matters besides land settlement. It is true in all walks of life.

Land settlement can be most effectively carried out by the railways, the Dominion and Provincial governments and the local municipalities joining hands to make the plans a success. So much depends on the treatment the new immigrants receive as to whether more will come. A satisfied settler is the best advertisement the country can have.

Full Knowledge Of Conditions.

Another important factor in land settlement is to let the prospective settler have full knowledge of the conditions. Last autumn during bad weather Sir John Pitka came through Central B.C. and saw the country almost at its worst. He returned a week or two later when things were better and he went over the land which was to be settled. He examined the soil and being a practical farmer himself knew exactly what he was advising his fellow countrymen to do. Now they have begun to arrive and if Prince Rupert can in any way aid in the settlement this is a good time for them to commence.

"Best Thing in the World For Delicate Girls"

Mrs. John Bennett, Boggy Creek, Man., writes:
"My little girl had organic nervous trouble, could not sleep, had severe headaches and fainting spells. This went on for three years, and three doctors helped her very little. After reading of what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food had done for others, I got some for her. She is now so well that she is like a different child. She is fourteen years old and looks the picture of health."

VANCOUVER IS NURSES' HOME MUCH WORRIED IS COMPLETE

Fears Loss of Fisheries Office and Gets Nasty About it

The latest publication in Vancouver to get worried over the fishery headquarters is "The Hook," edited by a former editor of the Prince Rupert News, J. S. Cowper. Under the heading, "A Prince Rupert Booster," it says: "You must take off your hats to these Prince Rupert boosters. With only six thousand inhabitants to Vancouver's two hundred thousands, by dint of superior brain power (which comes no doubt from eating fish) they have two members in the Provincial Cabinet while Vancouver has none. They have a Prince Rupert man as director for British Columbia on the Canadian National Railways Board, and a member of Parliament sitting on the government side of the House."

Hands Off

"All this is very much to the good for Prince Rupert, and none would say them nay. But when the member for Prince Rupert proposes to abolish the office of Chief Inspector of Fisheries from Vancouver and place the control of the Pacific coast fisheries under an inspector in Ottawa, the estimable Mr. Stork is facing in the wrong direction. After Liberals have been working since the days of the Family Compact for the decentralization of federal government, it is a cruel blow to find a Liberal M.P. from the breezy healthy north advocating such a measure of bureaucracy.

"Our fisheries ought to have their headquarters as well as their chief inspector's office, on this coast. There is something palpably grotesque in having the headquarters of the Pacific Coast fisheries situated in a sleepy inland town on the borders of Ontario and Quebec, nearly four thousand miles away.

All for Vancouver

"Closing the position of Chief Inspector here would not (or let us hope not) involve the withdrawal of the fishery protection service which last year had 90 boats engaged, and which involved the expenditure of over $50,000 in Vancouver in oil, gas, and supplies. It would not even reduce the clerical staff here. All it would mean would be to oversee and no local authority to make decisions. It would mean doing business by telegraph instead of on the spot, and spending the salary of a chief inspector many times over on the travelling expenses of visiting Ottawa officials.

"Mr. Stork is the head of a large hardware business in Prince Rupert. If there is any merit in his theory that big business can be better conducted 4,000 miles away from its base, let him prove it by appointing an official in the parliament buildings to run his hardware store for him. When he can show economies and efficiencies thereby, The Hook will be a convert.

Likes Boosters

"There is another matter too that Mr. Stork may not have thought of. There is a $6,000,000 fishing business done out of Prince Rupert each year. If the office of Chief Inspector were abolished from this coast, it would mean that Mr. Stork would be inundated with problems arising out of the fisheries. He would have to act as the local recommending authority on all fishery matters. It would keep him pretty busy most of the year sending in recommendations to Ottawa. But even a desire for work ought not to actuate this active gentleman in the north in his aim to dislocate the fishery department in Vancouver.

"We like these Prince Rupert boosters, but we like them to be reasonable."

BLENDED TEA IS BETTER

Tea from one garden, no matter how fine it is, possesses certain desirable qualities but may lack others, because all characteristics are not developed under the same conditions. If the tea has a perfect flavor it may lack body; if it has body it is perhaps without the same perfection of flavor. To combine all desirable characteristics in one blend has been the work of the "SALADA" Experts for over a quarter of a century and "SALADA" is the fruit of their labors. The flavor is more delicious than any un-blended tea grown.

Formal Opening Will Take Place on Thursday Afternoon of This Week

The new Nurses' Home is complete and will be formally opened on Thursday of this week, after which it will be used for the purposes for which it was erected.

The plans for the opening are that S. K. Campbell of the building committee will receive the key from the contractors and will hand it to D. C. Stewart, former chairman of the board, to perform the opening ceremony. It will then be given to D. C. McRae, present chairman of the board.

Tea will be served during the afternoon by the ladies' auxiliary, assisted by the Graduate Nurses' Association, both of which organizations have been active in connection with the furnishing of the building.

Invitations to attend the opening have been sent to all the organizations in town and to men and women holding public positions of any kind.

'TIS not an easy matter

And then perchance, most likely,
She'll have no kiss for you.

Ten Years Ago In Prince Rupert

April 8, 1914.

A resident of the Bella Coola district, writing to the Daily News, charges the provincial government with gross extravagance in the south at the expense of the north.

The commissioner of the Board of Trade is in receipt of a telegram from George Clothier stating that he will be here in a few days to open an assay office in the city.

J. C. K. Sealy and his bride, after spending a honeymoon in England, arrived on the Prince Rupert this morning and left by train for Hazelton. They were married in Vancouver last December.

PRINCE GEORGE

The provincial police are taking steps to secure the return of Roy McKinley, gun man, who dined to police officers at the point of a gun here last year and then escaped to the United States where he was recently located.

A case of smallpox has broken out at Longworth. A fresh supply of vaccine has arrived here and school children will be vaccinated.

George H. Outram, for several years managing secretary of the Vanderhoof Creamery, has taken up his residence here and entered the employ of Austin & Co.

H. G. Perry & Co., local representatives of the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co., have received instructions to offer at a discount of twenty per cent all the company's holdings in this district.

C. P. Devkin left last week for a combined business and pleasure trip to the coast.

NEW HAZELTON

The Hazelton Liberal-Conservative Association has elected the following officers for the year: President, R. S. Sargent; vice-president, C. V. Smith; executive committee—Jos. Benson, Bert Chappell, Mr. Darlington and J. C. Hunt. A secretary-treasurer has not yet been named.

W. S. Harris left the hospital last week following the recent breaking of his leg.

The new ferry will be in operation again as soon as the water in the river rises. Just now the Skeena is about as low as it ever was.

Rev. T. Ferrier, superintendent of Methodist Church Indian missions, was a visitor here last week with Dr. H. C. Wrinch.

A SEVERE ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE Was Relieved By MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mr. S. E. Barnes, Athens, Ont., writes: "Four years ago I had a very severe attack of heart trouble. I consulted my doctor; he treated me for some time, but I only seemed to be getting worse. I finally went to our druggist and purchased three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and derived immediate relief from their use, and I can truthfully say they are a wonderful medicine. I always keep a box on hand, and if I feel out of sorts take a few pills and feel all right again." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
