World Flyers to Leave all Together Tomorrow or Thursday Announced

The four United States aerial cruisers are to resume their Hight around the world from Prince Rupert with Major F. L. Martin still in command. A fine tooth-comb inspection of Major Martin's machine, damaged in landing Sunday afternoon, established that two broken struts and four broken vertical brace wires on the left side near the fuselage constituted all the damage that was done. A set of wires is carried on the flight and the struts were made at the dry dock last night:
