Emma Goldman Is Tired Of Bolsheviks.

Emma Goldman, the woman who was sent back to Russia because of her objectionable actions in the United States, has no more use for the Soviet than she formerly had for the United States government. She has now taken refuge in England. She characterizes Bolshevism as an international disease and says the masses of Russia are oppressed as they never were under the Czar. The present government is slowly undermining all that is best in Russia. She is anxious that people shall understand the mistakes that have been made in Russia so that they may not be repeated elsewhere.

Satisfactory Condition Of Provincial Finances.

The Government of B.C. is to be congratulated on the condition of the provincial finances. With revenue exceeding expenditures and with the probability of a still greater improvement, there is hope that this time next year the Government will be in a position to announce a tax reduction, possibly the elimination of the personal property tax.

The minister of finance announced that the municipalities are now getting more from the province than is collected within their borders. That is a change, which really means a lowering of taxes in the cities because the province is paying toward the funds of the municipalities.

New Loan Bill Is Announced.

In the course of his budget speech the minister of finance announced that there would be a new loan bill for the purpose of financing the trunk road between British Columbia and the prairies and for land settlement. Both of these are desirable objects. So far as Prince Rupert is concerned, we cannot expect to succeed in getting a trans-provincial trunk road until the south has one. Once their's is completed, we shall become much more pressing to have one completed through the central part of the province.

City Manager Plan Depends On Government.

The possibility of instituting the city manager form of government in the cities of British Columbia depends very largely on the government. Representations have been made to them to bring the matter before the legislature.

It is to be hoped that a law giving the necessary powers will be passed this year in order that those cities wishing to make the change may do so. Once we have the power to appoint a city manager, it will be for the people of the city to decide whether they wish the plan adopted here or not. Victoria must take the first step. If Victoria does not move, it will be for the backers of the system to carry out an educative campaign and to endeavor to show the government that it is a desirable change and that the people want it.

STEWART

All is in readiness for winter work on the United Empire (Gold Cliff) property recently rebounded by A. B. Trites, Contractor Frank Riva and his crew of seven men are comfortably housed with all supplies necessary. A start has been made on the 500 foot tunnel.

The third shipment of 30 tons of Porter Idaho (Marmot River) ore netted $193.30 per ton. The first shipment brought $164 and the second, $140. The ore was sent to Selby smelter.

Misses Doreen and Gladys Stratford have entered the convent at Prince Rupert.

H. W. Heywood has resigned as superintendent of the Terminus mine and will be succeeded by J. W. Bryden.

ALICE ARM

Mrs. F. D. Rice has left to pay an extended visit to her relatives in Toronto.

Johany Wilson has returned to Alice Arm after spending four months on the prairies.

Between 80,000 and 90,000 feet of logs is being put in the water daily by Eric Carlson for the Abbotford Logging Co. Work will continue until the arrival of heavy snows.

The Man in the Moon

SAYS:-

IT is good news that the session of the Legislature is to be short. What we want to do is to forget to pass any more laws for a while. There are enough to evade already.

IN the south candidatures are being announced. Here those seeking civic honors are more backward.

WHEN the sovereign people talk graft in their government they admit their inability to rule.

SOME girls like sunshine,
And some shine at night,
To be out after midnight
Gives them great delight.

SLANDER is the most dangerous of all modern weapons. It wounds in the dark and reputations are slaughtered by it in countless thousands.

POLITICAL reputations are most easily sullied because it is considered the right thing to speak ill of your political enemies.

SAMPSON slew thousands with the jawbone of an ass, and the jawbone is still working overtime.

MEN and women hide beneath the asses skin and while they may not don the garb of the tiger, the claws are sharp and the reputations of their victims have short shrift.

BEWARE of the woman with the serpent's tongue and the man who sets a false rumor afloat on the ether.

WHEN there is no baseball to talk about, no election campaign on and no other stirring event, then look out for trouble from the rumor mongers.

CURSED, thrice cursed is he who whispers that which he dares not repeat openly and condemned to the bottomless pit is the woman who plays with reputations and sullies them with her base smile.

NO REDUCTION OF RATE IS SOUGHT

It must be very clearly pointed out that the British Columbia lumber industry is seeking, not a reduction of the present royalty rates on timber, but a revision of the legislation on which those rates are based.

The lumbermen of the Province freely recognize the right of the Government to collect royalty as the outcome of the people's equity in the forest resources of British Columbia. The industry endorses the principle of royalty and the collection upon a basis that is fair, both to the public and to holders of standing timber.

All branches of the lumber industry are, however, united in their appeal for an alteration of the illogical foundation upon which the present rate is based by the Timber Royalties Act which is now upon our Statute books.

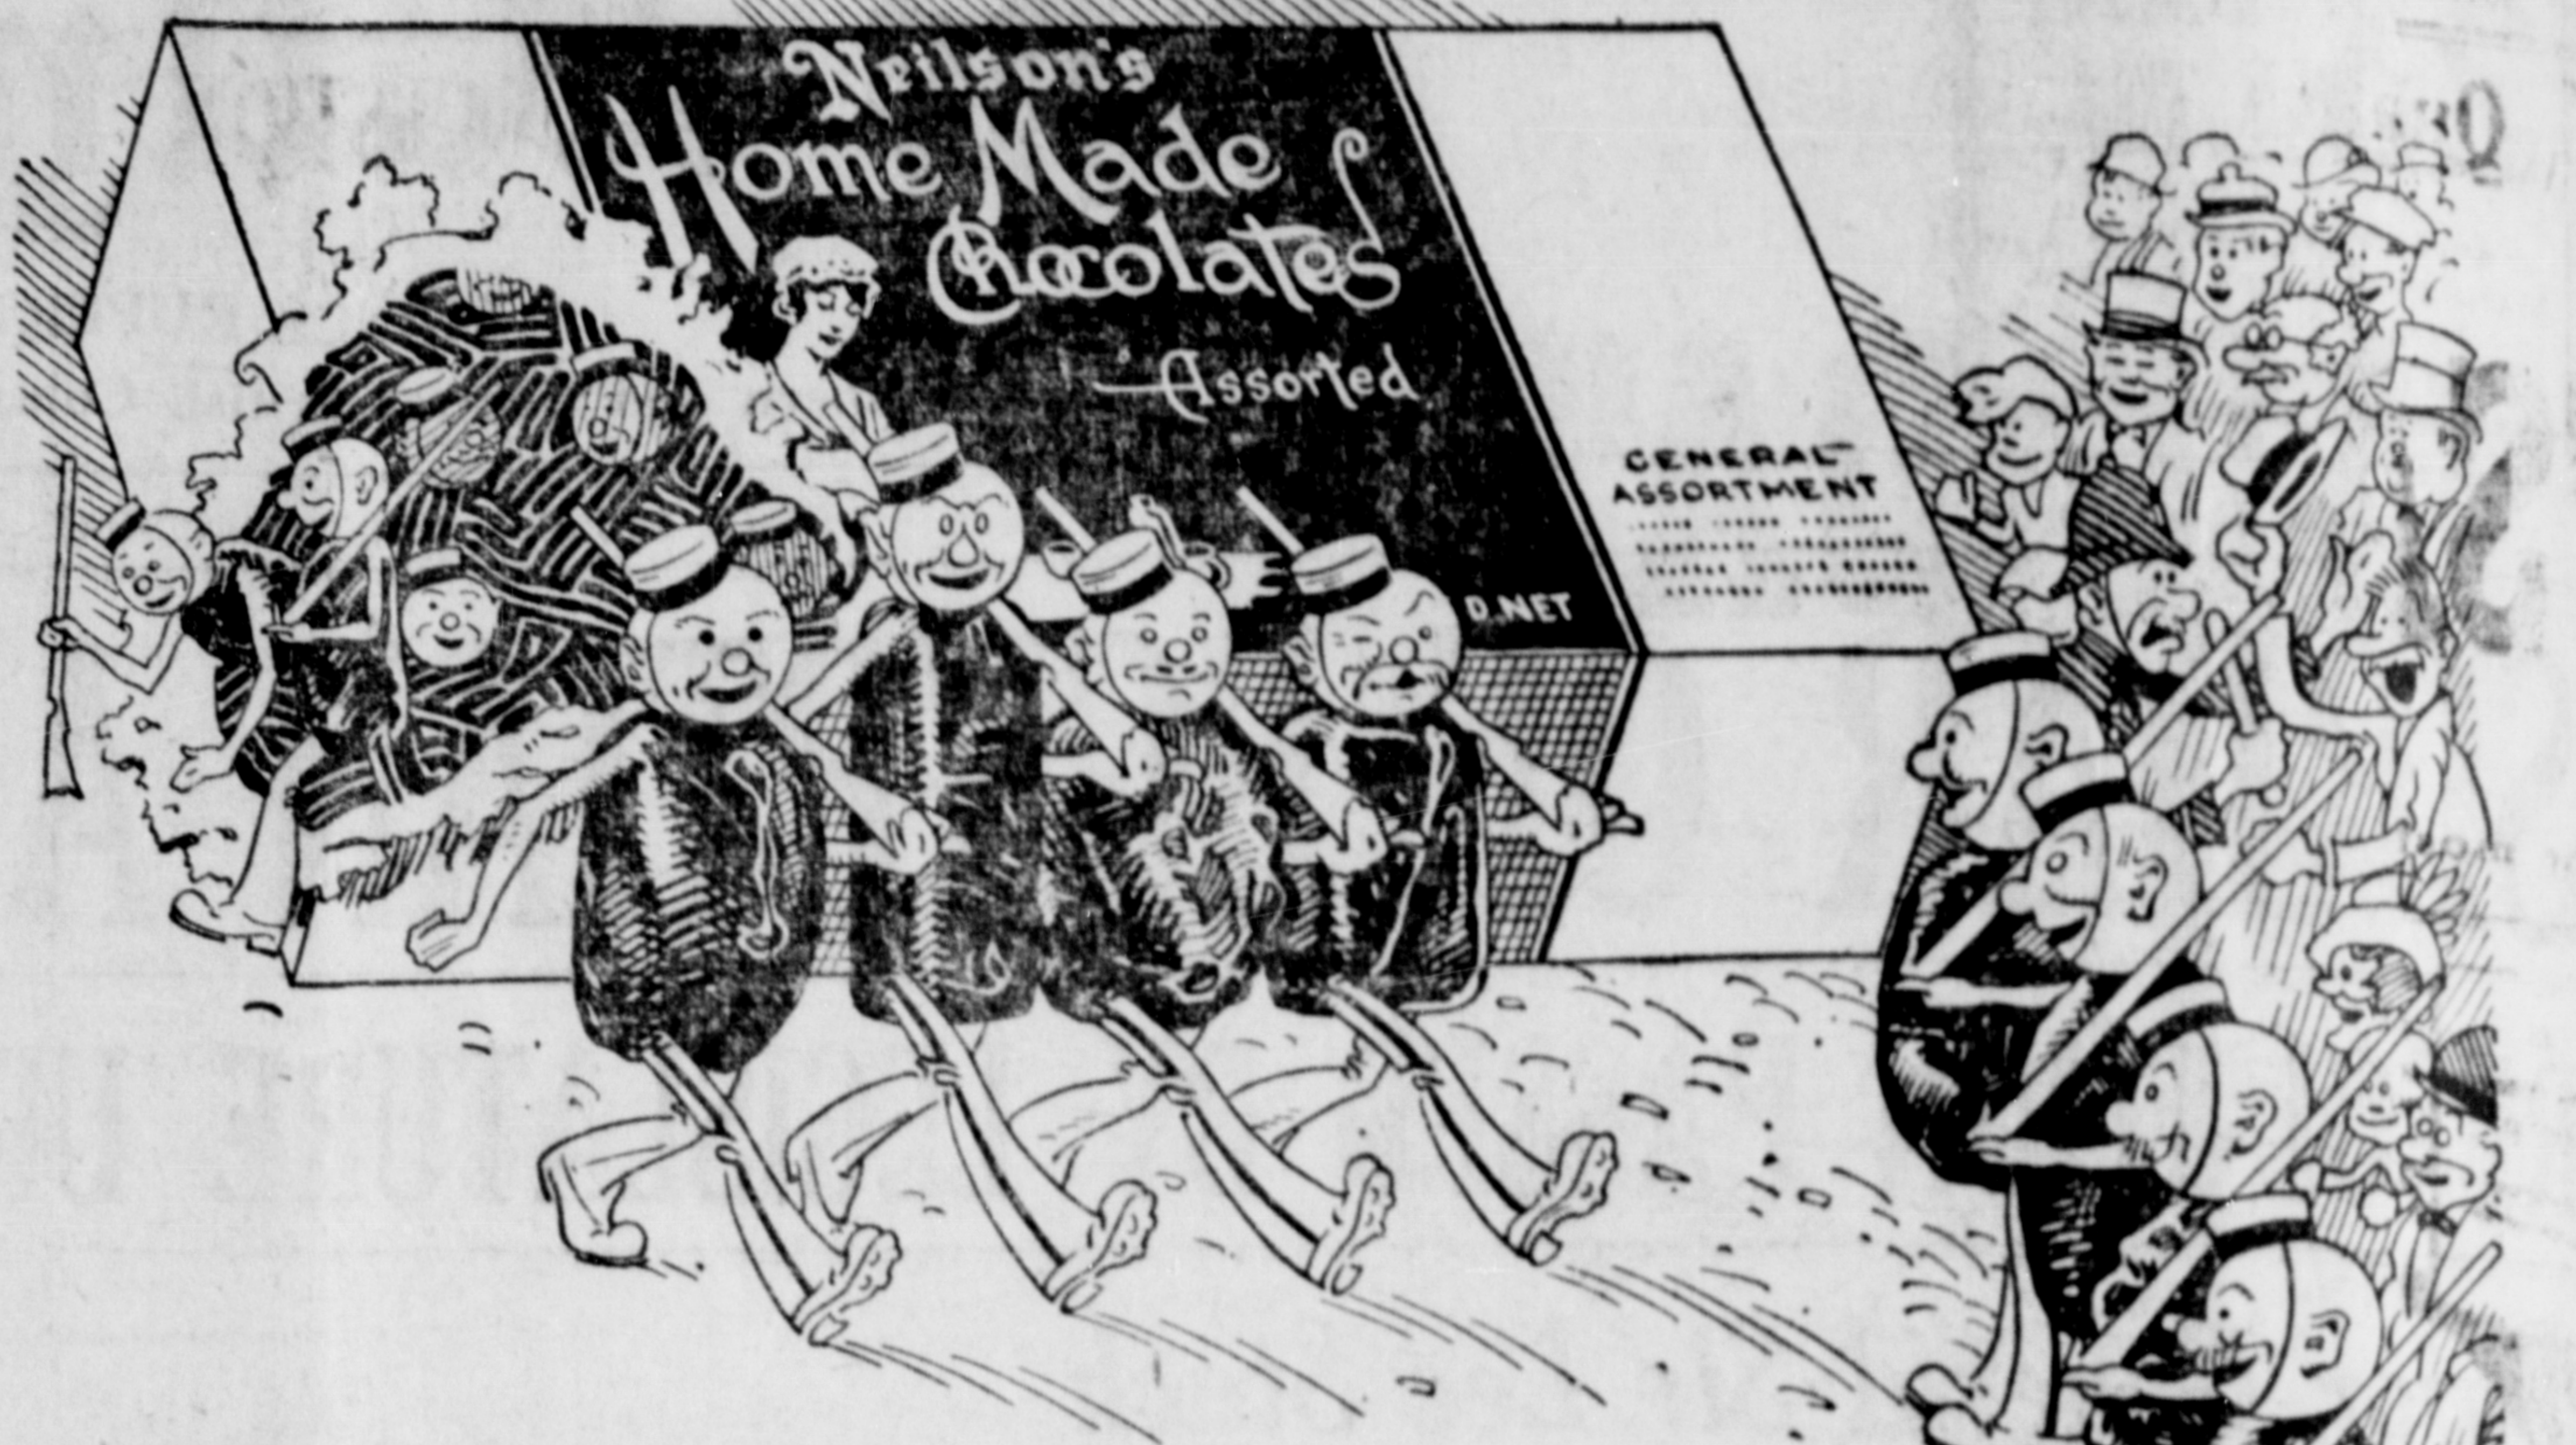

The lumbermen justly claim that the stability of their industry, so vital to the welfare of the Province, cannot be maintained under the pressure of a measure that is itself unstable and unworkable.

The present Royalties Act which should be essentially a tax on raw material actually taxes all the elements entering into the cost of manufacturing the finished product, including labor, equipment and appropriations for market extension and meeting world competition.

As stated above, the lumbermen do not object to the present royalty rate, it is the future workings of the present unworkable Act that they regard with alarm.

This series of articles communicated by the Timber Industries Council of British Columbia.

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, from the south, is due on time at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The vessel will sail for Stewart and Anxoy tonight and will be back southbound Friday morning.
