Why stay on the washday treadmill?

No matter how long you travel on a treadmill, you never get anywhere. For the treadmill carries you back as fast as you move forward.

It's much the same with the weekly washday. You spend a day or more every week getting the clothes clean. Then the next week you go through the same thing all over again.

Send your family bundle to us. Our prices are as moderate as our services are varied-our work is always thorough, careful and reliable. Call us and step off the washday treadmill forever.

PROFESSIONAL BANDITS

Editor Daily News.

It is seldom nowadays, on picking up the daily papers, that we do not see such headlines as: "Great Bank Robbery," "Armed] Bandits secure big loot," "Paymaster held up," "Payroll $50,-000. Seized," "Bandits escape in high-powered car," and so forth.

This implies that an existing! state of lawlessness prevails hitherto unparelleled in any country unless during periods of 1 open revolution, and it would seem that such crimes are alarmingly on the increase. Now, banks have always been ! looked upon as imprgenable places for the safe-keeping of money, valuable securities, and precious jewels, etc., but the consummate skill, daring, and complete mastery of all details generally associated with such robberies, banks would appear to be no longer immune from attacks by this class of desperado.

Open Questions

We will ask ourselves the folowing questions:

1. Is this an aftermath of the World War, with a consequent disregard of the value oil human life by men taking such

2. Has the invasion by women tellers and clerks in banks reduced the apparent inside strength; of such institutions from a! bandit's standpoint?

3. Is the "Get-rich-quick", idea a new form of insanity not yet properly diagnosed by medical science?

4. Are our present laws and punishments for such offences in need of revision so as to deal adequately and act as a deter-i rent to this class of crime? 5. Is the drug evil responremedy? We will endeavor to answer these questions: 1. It is not to be assumed for a moment that these crimes are being committed by returned men. Where captures have been ! effected by the authorities, some of the criminals have been found! to be young men, who were mere boys when the war was in pro-

2. Banks assume responsibility for the safe-guarding of the public funds, consequently the fact of women being employed there does not lessen such responsibility. Whether such employees are instructed in the use of automatics for quick action should occasion arise is a matter with which the writer is not conversant.

3. The non-productive element of the population today predominates to an extent greater than probably it should be. with the inevitable result that opportunities for the spendthrift bound. That enormous sums are spent on pleasure yearly is apparent, and while undoubtedly; legitimate, it certainly does not; convey the impression that all such money was earned by the sweal of the brow or otherwise
