Wash Dishes In U.S. Rather Than Live In Canada.

A letter from a subscriber of the Daily News in Minneapolis says: "If I was a young man I would go up there (to Prince Rupert) to live, as Prince Rupert is destined to be quite a city in time. It seems to me that too many young Canadians would sooner wash dishes in the U.S. than settle in their own wonderful country."

There it is. The lure of the big cities is too strong and many go out of Canada and find conditions nothing like as good as they are here. Sometimes glowing letters come from those who have gone and in some cases the writers of the glowing letters are trekking back before long. Far away fields look green.

Things Are Not Always What They Seem.

Things are not always what they seem. We sometimes are jealous of our neighbors and think they are doing well, when all they do is spend well. We sometimes think other places are more progressive than ours or more prosperous and yet when we look closer we find that all is not gold that glitters. Their prosperity is often on the surface and not real. To put it more plainly we often do not know when we are well off. We see the gaudy side of our neighbors and are not sufficiently familiar with them to know the eating sores that are beneath the gay raiment.

Interesting Facts About British Columbia.

Interesting facts about British Columbia have been dug up by statisticians who have made special investigation for trade purposes. It is found that this province has the highest per capita wealth of the whole province, that immigrants coming to this province from 1901 to 1920 numbered 381,497, mostly British. There are in B.C. about 40,000 motor vehicles and 123,000 dwellings. Nearly half the people of the province live in cities. The same return shows that land is valued twice as high west of the rockies as east of it, probably because of the cost of clearing it.

There are in this province more telephones to the 100 than in any other province, in spite of the fact that in some provinces the telephone is owned by the province.

The same return gives the newspaper circulation. It shows that in Prince Rupert there are 1200 families and that the net paid newspaper circulation is 1554. This is the circulation of the Daily News, the only one with a net paid record and with an audited return.

Good News From Central Interior.

F. G. Dawson brought good news yesterday from the central interior of British Columbia. He stated that the prospects for a good crop were excellent. Things had never looked as good before. The lumber business was humming and everyone seemed busy.

Mr. Dawson made a detailed study of the interior prospects. He drove through much of it in an auto and he took his time there, spending two weeks in the country between Hazelton and McBride. He is much pleased with the general outlook.

Value Of Planes In North Country.

British Columbia is a part of the coutry where airplanes may be used with great advantage because of the physical difficulties to bet met with. Alaska, even more than B.C., can use them to advantage. Here is what the Juneau Empire says of them:

"The use of airplanes in the Fairbanks district for the last several years is now followed by the establishment of an air service between Wrangell and the new gold strike in the Dease Lake country. This is followed by an announcement that next year will witness aerial mapping in Alaska.

"To provide for the increasing demand for air navigation, the Legislature has provided for the construction of landing fields in various parts of the Territory, and carrying out that legislation, Territorial Highway Engineer Sommers is now in the interior.

The indications are that within a very few years airplane transportation will be in general use in various parts of Alaska. When that time comes the different sections of the Territory will be closer together and progress will be faster, due to the time that will be saved."

GREAT CONCERT BY GLEE CLUB

Well Filled House Greets Visiting Entertainers Who Proved Very Popular

A well-filled house at the Westholme last night enjoyed to the full the excellent program of music and songs presented by the University of California Glee Club. Under the able direction of C. R. (Brick) Morse, a leader of many years experience, the members of the club entertained their audience with many pleasing numbers, revealing at every turn the careful training they have received at his hands. Variety was the order of the night and every item was put over in capital style. Many encores were demanded and generously responded to. Rounds of applause greeted every number on the program which ranged from grand opera to the latest comedy hits.

The opening chorus "Hail to California" was delightfully rendered by the whole club and as an encore "Love's Own Song" was given.

E. Sapire displayed his ability in an excellent saxophone solo followed by Clyde Diddle, who was in good voice, in the bass solos "Bells of the Sea" and "On the Shore."

In number four the Club Chorus gave (a) "The Sword Song." (b) "My Home" with "Desperado" and "Two Little Flies" as encores.

The Great Bear Quartette, Messrs. J. Smale, K. Courtright, W. King, B. Cowan, rendered "Far Away in the South" followed by "Billboard" in fine style and in response to a recall "Green Apple Boy."

Bud Toles same next in songs and dialogue sending the house into shrieks of laughter by his clever patter. His account of some of his experiences rendered nervously was the big comedy hit of the evening.

After "Gipsy Trail" by the Club, Frank Roberts delighted with two baritone solos "Skippers of St. Ives" and "Irish Eyes."

J. Kelly and C. Diddle were vastly entertaining in an exhibition of second sight and thought-reading and Geo. Dyer brought down the house with his "Barnyard Chorus" in which his clever imitations of birds and animals were featured.

The Club Jazz-Band was in great form and its efforts were well received. College songs by the Club followed by H. Rosenblum with popular songs, self-accompanied were pleasing.

J. Kelly and C. Quale in comedy numbers and dances received an ovation, the evening concluding with further college songs by the Club and the National anthem. J. Smale, assistant director was announcer and K. Courtright, stage manager.

PRINCE GEORGE

The city council has decided to impose a tax of $100 per annum on the beer parlors. They will be assessed this amount as hotel keepers. Hotels without beer privileges may escape the fee by classifying themselves as rooming houses.

Advice has been received here from Ottawa that T. G. McBride, member for Cariboo, has secured an appropriation of $12,500 for the building of a telephone line from Quesnel to Prince George. The utility, which has long been sought, will give Prince George more direct communication with southern centres.

The London rooming house on Third Avenue, of which Nick Gabrielle was the proprietor, was completely destroyed by fire last week. There was insurance on the building and its contents.

Clifford Chalmer (Gee) Ternan of the local forestry office returned to the city last week with his bride who was formerly Miss Doris Lineham, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald M. Lineham of Vancouver.

Mrs. L. R. Seldon, wife of the government telegraph operator at Fort Fraser, died in the hospital here last Wednesday. She was the daughter of Sheriff E. S. Peters and leaves four small children to mourn her loss. The funeral took plame from the Catholic Church on Sunday.

COMMENDS WORK OF MINISTER OF MINES

Roads and Trails Built in Mining Sections; Old Country Capital Interested

VICTORIA, June 23.—Tribute to the work of the Provincial Department of Mines in aiding in the development of the mining industry of the province, and to Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, in particular, for his interest in the welfare of the great basic industry of the province, is paid in resolutions passed at the recent convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia held at Cranbrook.

These resolutions set forth the appreciation of the members attending the gathering at the great interest shown by the minister of mines in the mining industry of the province by the financial assistance granted to the contruction of roads and trails, the compilation and publication of accurate information pertaining to mineral development as contained in the annual reports of the department setting forth the immense possibilities for development, and "in every way furthering the best interests of the mining industry of British Columbia."

The resolutions also emphasize the excellent work done by Fred Starkey, who represented the department at the Wembley exhibition in England last year when he did much towards directing the attention of Old Country capital to the passibilities of the province as a mineral producing section and a centre for profitable investment.
