

POTATOES ARE DUE FOR DROP

Apple Prices High; Eggs Dropping; Sugar Firm; Flour at Famine Prices

A tightening up in prices of vegetables and fruits generally is to be noticed in this week's market report. Supplies are becoming scarce and no drops are to be expected until the 1925 crops commence to be reaped.

It is expected, however, that potato prices will drop. They are high now but, when the pits are opened up, a considerable decline of the market is anticipated. Growers who can ship to Prince Rupert without danger of frost are advised to dispose of their potatoes as it is doubtful if the market will be any higher or as good later on.

Apple prices are very high and it is expected they will remain up. The lowest price on Jumble stock is $3 a case while No. 1 wrapped go as high as $4.75 today.

The egg market is easier and further reductions will take place next week due to curtailment of Eastern shipments. The market is heavy in the south and prices are dropping.

Sugar, after many drops recently, has, it is believed, reached the bottom. The raw market is strong and prices are firm. White sugar is now selling here for 8c a pound.

Sharp advances here in the prices of flour and feed just reflect the general condition of the wheat market. There is a keen world demand for wheat and it looks like a high year with famine prices being in prospect within the next six months.

Sport Chat

Called in by Coach Gallow to prescribe and supervise a scientific diet for oarsmen at the University of Washington, at Seattle, Miss Dorothy Kuebler, assistant professor of nutrition, just followed good household practice. During the two seasons that she has been in charge, the husky crew has won the intercollegiate championship at Poughkeepsie, and she is feeding them up again to defend the title on the Hudson in June.

"We do not give the crew men a special diet," Miss Kuebler says. "They are served a well balanced menu that all people should follow in order to keep healthy and in good condition. Fresh fruits and vegetables, milk, cooked and dry cereals, cooked meats, special steaks, and other wholesome foods constitute the main part of the fare. No rich desserts or pastries are served and highly seasoned dishes, fried potatoes and other foods fried in grease are taboo. The men are given coffee in the morning if they so wish. Toward the end of the season the menu becomes more simple, and is made up of foods more easily digestible. Greater quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables then appear on the tables."

Smithers failed to get revenge from Prince George in the two game return hockey series that was played at the railway centre last week-end. The Smithereens were all tuned up for a win and were ahead at one minute before
