ALL-BLACKS DID MUCH FOR SPORT

Aims and Ideals of Tour Set Forth at Banquet in Victoria

At a banquet given the All-Blacks Rugby team from New Zealand by the city of Victoria and the Rugby Union S. S. Dean manager of the team was the principal speaker. He pictured the capable young men under his charge not only as a band of athletes that had achieved a distinction almost unique in sporting annals by whipping every team pitted against them, but as ambassadors of friendship between the Dominions and the Motherland.

"Development of sport between the various parts of the Empire is, to my way of thinking, one of the most important agencies that can be found for the strengthening of the ties of the Empire," said Mr. Dean. "That idea has been behind the tour of the All-Blacks ever since we left home, and it has remained with us all through the tour. The All-Blacks have tried to play a clean game. Every game we won we believe we won fairly, and I am confident that this tour has not only been a big thing for rugby, but a big thing for the encouragement of clean, manly sport, and for the Empire."

Welcomed by Union

Hebden Gillespie, president of the Rugby Union, presided at the banquet, and he welcomed the All-Blacks in a graceful speech in which he declared that the New Zealanders had played one of the cleanest games that had been witnessed in Victoria, and that their exhibition should go a long way towards popularizing rugby in this city.

Premier John Oliver felt, like Mr. Dean, that the coming of the All-Blacks would help to cement more closely the comradship that existed between various parts of the Empire. He complimented the players on their great series of victories, and expressed the hope that they would return to British Columbia in the near future. He had personally witnessed the game at the Willows, and, while he admitted that his knowledge of the rules of rugby was limited, he was amazed at the teamwork shown by the visitors.

"Wally" Brynjolfson, who appeared in the role of hero as a result of his drop goal which scored the only point against the All-Blacks during their visit to British Columbia, made a witty little speech which brought laughter when he remarked that he had been approached by Captain Porter of the All-Blacks to go with them back to New Zealand—"to watch them play down there."

FAST AND THRILLING BADMINTON GAME IS DISCUSSED AT OTTAWA

Singles Described as One of Most Exciting Spectacles in the World

The holding of the Canadian Badminton championships in Ottawa this week will serve to give impetus to a splendid indoor game and to stimulate general interest in an ancient and honorable pastime, says the Ottawa Citizen. Although badminton was not played in its modern form until fifty years ago in England, it is nevertheless one of the oldest game there are. It was played in its early form in Elizabethan England, and Shakespeare refers to "battledore and shuttlecock" from which badminton is derived.

But if "battledore and shuttlecock" suggests a harmless and leisurely game for prim ladies and mild-mannered men, its modern counterpart, badminton, is far from being a pursuit of those who dislike strenuous games. It is fast and thrilling, and expert judges have expressed the opinion that a good men's singles in badminton is one of the fastest and most exciting spectacles in the world. It is played like tennis, with court and net, but the "bird" (or shuttlecock) does not touch the ground. Hence, it requires swiftness and sureness and physical fitness.

The spread of badminton in Canada is indicated by the fact that entries from every city of importance between Halifax and Vancouver were received for the championships in Ottawa, representing 394 individual entries.

Sport Chat

While the basketball season is over as far as regularly scheduled league games are concerned, there may yet be some special matches arranged to be played here between local all stars and teams from outside points. Ketchikan is planning on sending a team south to tour the western states. If this is carried out the Ketchikanites will be invited to stop off here for a series en route south. It is also possible that an all star team from Anyox may be seen here in action with the locals at an early date. No definite arrangements have yet been made, however.

Now that the team championship competitions are drawing to a close, interest of billiard fans will centre on the forthcoming individual city championship contests. It is understood that there will be a good number of entries. No definite arrangements have yet been made by the Billiard League executive as to this competition but it is proposed to have it start early in March. Entries will be called for in a few days and further announcement will, it is expected, be forthcoming this week. The general conditions of the contest will probably be similar to those that governed last year.

The beautiful sunshiny spring weather that has been prevailing the past few days has brought the more ardent tennis enthusiasts to the Acropolis Courts once again. On Friday afternoon, several sets were played and again on Saturday and Sunday. The weather is not to be described as balmy just yet but these tennis players say it is just right for good fast vigorous exercise and, after an hour or so's play, they come down the hill with that feeling of fit condition that finds its best expression in a formidable appetite for dinner. In anticipation of getting the season's activities off to an early start, the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club is to be called in a few days—probably this week.

"Yes, dear."

"What for?" asked Dorothy. "Is you goin' to launder your corns?"
