

"Best Thing in the World For Delicate Girls"

Mrs. John Bennett, Boggy Creek, Man., writes: "My little girl had organic nervous trouble, could not sleep, had severe headaches and fainting spells. This went on for three years, and three doctors helped her very little. After reading of what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food had done for others, I got some for her. She is now so well that she is like a different child. She is fourteen years old and looks the picture of health."

"We have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for different members of the family, when recovering from 'flu' and scarlet fever, and it has always helped them."

Save The Forest Week Is Here.

This is "Save the Forest Week." Prince Rupert is the centre of a big district, parts of which that seldom if ever is worried over fire hazards. The climate here is not conducive to forest fires, usually, but in the interior much destruction is caused by big conflagrations. Mostly fires are the result of carelessness but sometimes they have been deliberately started by firebugs.

The wealth of this district comes very largely from timber and timber products so the people all have an interest in seeing that there is as little loss as possible from this source.

Weird Tale Of Kidnapping.

The story told yesterday of the kidnapping of the Chinese boy from the Baker home at Shaughnessy Heights and of his being kept in captivity in order to force him to confess who killed Janet Smith, the Scottish girl, in the Baker employ, is a weird one. Whether it is true or not is another matter. We know nothing of that. All we know is that the editor of the Saturday Tribune at Vancouver says he believes it.

It is a dangerous precedent to have people entering houses at night and carrying off the inhabitants and taking them to a foreign country without their will or consent and without being stopped by the police. It shows what may be done in other cases. When young girls disappear, as has often been the case in all the big cities of the world, who is to know if some such method is not employed. It might even be better for the murderer of Janet Smith to remain unknown than for such a custom to become common.

Keep Friendly With Japan.

It was suggested in the House of Commons last week that there was no reason why Canada should be anything than friendly with Japan but at the same time she should insist on restricting Japanese immigration into this province. The discussion followed information recently given out that the gentleman's agreement with Japan had not been carried out strictly by that country.

In the discussion it was mentioned that the United States had put up the barriers hard and fast with the result that considerable ill-feeling was generated. Canada would not need to do that but should keep the matter well in hand all the time and insist on inspection of passports by the Canadian as well as the Japanese consul and that the Canadian consul should see that the understanding with that country was not broken.

In Prince Rupert we have every reason to look for commercial relief from Japan. If the Japanese run one or more of their big liners to this port it will be worth a great deal to us. Having that in view we are bound to be interested in any steps taken in connection with the Japanese situation. Business and sentiment are very closely allied.

The Man Who Plays A Lone Hand.

"Solo" is the name of a book by Pierre Gaultier in which the hero plays a lone hand. As a boy he was different from others and as he grew up he still maintained an aloofness from the common ruck which set him apart. He was different.

It's an interesting volume, not along the usual line of modern novels. It does not teach anything except perhaps the desirability of conforming to some extent with the common usages of men. Paul Minas refused to conform. There was much that was noble about him and his opinions. Here is one of his sayings:

"Life is so boundlessly potential. We could be gods and goddesses if we knew what to do with our energies. Instead of which we snarl and haggle and lie and cheat and show off. We go round in circles instead of going straight forward, and then have the ignorance and cheek to claim intelligence. As an old carpenter on my first ship used to say, 'Men are more stupid as animals.'"

Speaking of women he says: "At her best a woman is a vacuum tube reflecting in rays of dazzling violet the spiritual current passed through her; at her worst she's a chameleon." And again "good women there are—the world abounds in them—but they smother you."

Talking of the soul, Paul said: "Any sort of religion, even that of the maniacal evangelists, was an essential part of life, necessary as a sort of tuning fork that gave human beings the right 'pitch' according to which they might live without flinching."

Solo will not be a popular book, but anyone who can borrow it will find it somewhat refreshing after the ordinary modern novels. It is published in Great Britain.

MONEY APPEAL IN SING CASE

In Effort to Secure Conviction of Janet Smith Slayer Cash is Necessary

Part of the story published in the Saturday Tribune, as told in this paper yesterday, had to do with an appeal for money. This is what The Tribune has to say in regard to it:

"To make gifts of money to the kidnapers of Wong Sing is doubtless against the Criminal Code, so in donating our own money we made it clear that we wished it to go to the maintenance of Wong Sing.

"No doubt there are thousands of Tribune readers who under these circumstances would like to send some money to help maintain Wong Sing.

"Under the circumstances which he has to be kept, quite a little money is needed. Any persons who prefer not to have their names mentioned as supporters of Wong Sing may rest assured that their wishes will be respected by The Tribune.

Required Proofs

"How do we know that any monies so donated will reach the proper quarter, and that we are not being made the victims of a pair of enterprising gentry such as visited the Chinese Consul the other day to claim the reward offered for the tracing of Wong Sing? Before we would take these parties seriously enough to hand over our own good money or to open the pages of The Tribune to a fund for the support of Wong Sing we required proofs that these parties really are in possession of the Chinaman. Proof came in the production of a photograph of the Chinaman showing him in his present condition of detention. Other steps to ensure that any fund donated by Tribune readers will reach the proper parties have been taken. Tribune readers are assured that they will be given full information of the progress made. Admissions already secured indicate that the cause of justice is being helped under extraordinary conditions where the everyday machinery of justice seems to have broken down.

Money Only God

It may be that nobody outside ourselves cares a dollar whether justice obtains in British Columbia or not. It may be that nobody cares whether the murderer of Janet Smith is unmasked or not. It may be that money is the only real god whom people worship in sincerity and truth. It may be that so long as it is not our own child who is foully struck down in a rich man's home, and interred as a 'suicide' with all the mockery of officialdom attached to that last slur upon an innocent life, that none of us cares a cent what happens. If so, it is time that flamboyant coat of arms of British Columbia with its legend 'Splendor Sine Occasus' is wiped out and in its place is substituted a dagger rampant upon a bag of gold, quartered with the picture of a murdered housemaid's grave.

"We hope and believe that there are sufficient people among the 15,000 subscribers to The Tribune who treasure Justice and Truth and Honor to a degree where they will see that the Wong Sing Sustenance Fund does not fail for lack of their support."

ART AND CRAFT WORK TO BE SOLD VICTORIA

Society Formed to Handle Products on a Twenty Per Cent Basis For Contributors

VICTORIA, April 21.—Arts and crafts workers of the city and Island decided at a public meeting at the City Hall to open a store here for the co-operative merchandising of home-made articles.

The store will be stocked with such things as paintings, pottery, wood carvings, needlework, woollen cloth and painted china-ware. Every article must be fashioned in the home of the contributor. From the selling price of each article sold will be deducted twenty per cent to defray operating costs of the store.

The meeting, held under the chairmanship of Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., was attended by delegates from the Local Council of Women, the Arts and Crafts Society, the tourist group of the Chamber of Commerce, and the local Women's Institutes. In addition there were about thirty delegates from up-Island arts and crafts societies. Dr. Irene Bastow-Hudson was convener of the committee.

Choose Name

It was decided to organize under the name of the Craft Workers of Vancouver Island. Each contributor to the stock of the store will be assessed an entrance fee of $2. Associate members will be assessed an annual membership fee of $1.

Final details, in connection with the scheme were left in the hands of a committee to work out. It is expected that the store will be opened for business in the course of the next few weeks.

Objects of Enterprise

The objects of the enterprise, Dr. Hudson named as follows:

1. To encourage local home industries.
2. To give employment to many partly employed people and to those who cannot compete on the normal labor market because of their crippled condition.
3. To advertise Victoria and the Island by means of souvenirs carried to different parts of the world.
4. To get money from tourists and travellers which would not otherwise be spent in Victoria.
