Lady Writer Tells of Fashlons and Movements in the Capital of the World a pity that Queen Mary is such a shocking sailor for otherwise she would have had a delightful couple of weeks cruising round Sicily with King George in the Royal Yacht. King George's attack of bronchitis has been more serious than was generally admitted and two or three weeks in a warm climate was absolutely vital for his health. The Queen naturally felt that she would be with the King during his period of convelescence and as neither of them like the Riviera resorts the yacht was the only alterna-

Bridge of Sighs

Poor old London! St. Paul's Cathedral in danger, the Houses of Parliament slowly crumbling into the river, the Eros statue, gone from Piccadilly Circus now Waterloo Bridge is again stated to be unsafe. Americans have an affection for Waterloo Bridge. They all have to cross it when they arrive in the city or leave it, and every millionaire who stays at the Sayoy looks upon it from his windows.

There is no question of demolishing the bridge, but it will probably be replaced for traffic purposes - by another bride further up the river, and S. M. Newton Winner of Mah the old classic bridge will be closed and remain a Silent Highway of the Thames.

For an extra fifty cents you can enjoy the privilege of being trussed up on the identical rack on which Cramner, Latimer and Guy Fawkes were tortured; and you are also shown what are believed to be the bones of Lady Jane Grey. The French sword with which Anne Boleyn was beheaded is also on view beside the clumsy looking axe that brought Catherine Howard's troubles (to) alan end.

Shop-windows on parade

IN THE quiet and comfort of your home, newspaper in hand, the shop-windows of the town's best stores pass in review. Look at that charming little hat-just the style you have been looking for, and so reasonable!

And say, isn't that coat a darling? . . . Not only do you see illustrations of the merchandise, but you are told in detail of its merits and prices. A passing panorama that may be halted and started and halted at will. A shopping trip at home!

How long do you suppose it would take you to reverse the process-to go up one street and down another, until you had visited personally every worth-while store in town? And how exhausted you would be, physically and nervously.

There's no doubt about it. The modern way to shop is to read the advertisements, then make notes of the stores and the particular offerings that appeal to you. What a lot of time and bother such a method saves. You know beforehand what you want to look at, who has it, and what you will have to pay.

Read the advertisements. Make it a daily habit. The regular reader of advertisements is better informed, makes the family budget stretch further, has more time for recreation, gets more value for her money, and profits in many other ways. Advertisements are frequently the most interesting news in the paper.

Every day these shop-windows are lined up for your inspection in this newspaper
