Great Britain Is Paying Her Bills.

Great Britain although much more heavily taxed than ourselves is paying her bills and gradually extricating herself from the condition in which she found herself following the war. Now WOMEN TO AID her money has come back practically to par in United States as well as Canada and she has adopted the gold standard of currency.

The action of Britain is an example to the world. While calamity howlers were saying that no nation could regain financial stability after the shock of the great struggle, the people of the little island were working hard and not only paying their way but also paying up their old debts. They still have a great burden of debt but their position is financially sound.

No Proposal Yet Regarding Railways.

While there is some talk of an amalgamation of the National and Canadian Pacific Railways, no concrete proposal has yet been put forward for union. When it is made will be time enough for expressions of opinion as to its feasibility. If there is to be union it must be real and not temporary. No working was a slightly larger sum than agreement under which business on the C.P.R. could be built up had been previously reported but plexion probably has studied the by robbing the other line would satisfy the C.N.R. territory. If the two lines come under one management, it must be as one company without any option to again separate.

Three Possible Plans Today.

There are three possible methods of procedure in regard to the railway. One is to sell out to the C.P.R., another to sell that object. out to some competing line such as the New York Central and |. a third is to continue as we are. A good many people would INFORMAL DANCE BY like to see the Canadian National amalgamate with one of the big American systems as a competing line. Others fear the influence of such an amalgamation from a British point of view. There are also objections to state ownership as at present earried out. It is a big problem and one for the best minds of the country to solve.

Discusses Roads and Other Matters at Meeting Monday Night

SMITHERS, April 29,-A regular monthly meeting of the Automobile Association was held in the Municipal Office on Monday night with a good turnout of members.

It was decided to have a number of emblems made, the design to be in the form of a wheel with the figure of a grouse shown in the centre. The emblems are to be placed on the I front of the members' cars.
