Keenly Interested In Sealing Article.

Numbers of readers of the Daily News expressed themselves as keenly interested in the article by C. H. Gibbons appearing in the paper yesterday. The importance of taking action to try to have the sealing treaty abrogated was emphasized. Seals passing our doors without being given the right to catch them and sell the pelts is an objectionable restriction.

First Raft of Logs Arrives.

The first of a series of Davis rafts expected here to be used in feeding the Prince Rupert spruce mill at Seal Cove arrived yesterday and it looked like old times to see it passing into the harbor. It is a harbinger of busier times here. While the mill will not operate for two or three weeks yet, the arrival of the logs shows that there is likely to be little delay, once the plant is ready.

Gale Was Serious But Might Have Been Worse.

The gale yesterday was a serious blow and those who suffered naturally do not like it, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that at other places they have worse. Had it not been for the rain which accompanied it we should not have noticed it so much.

A letter just received from a former resident of Prince Rupert who is in London says that it rains there worse than here and he is coming back. While we do not try to sell our climate, there are worse climates than this in the world and all one has to do is to travel a little in order to find it out.

Always Rains In The Afternoon.

A traveller who was in Penang one autumn not long ago when leaving on a jaunt just after noon in a rickshaw inquired if it was likely to rain before they returned. "Rain! Oh, yes, it will rain," was the reply. "It always rains here about four o'clock." And rain it did. It poured. The heavens opened and let the water go all at once. The barebacked rickshaw boy covered his shoulders with an old sack and kept going through it all and within an hour or so it was fine again and the day's rain was over. That is in the sunny south.

Petersen Line And Pacific Ports.

If the Petersen line is not to go into the grain carrying trade, as was intimated yesterday in a despatch from Ottawa, there is no need for us to worry. We are not shipping fruit or vegetables or even dairy produce by the Panama Canal route to Europe. What we object to is to any special privileges being given to grain shippers in the East as against the West. We have had enough of that already in the discriminatory freight rates. For some time past we have been fighting those with the object of getting them removed and we must protest strongly against any attempt to impose any discrimination in the form of bonuses on eastern routes which do not apply to the west.

"Liver Trouble so Severe I Had to Quit Work"

Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes:
"I was a great sufferer from enlargement of the liver for ten months, and finally I had to quit work. I would wake up in the mornings with a bitter taste in my mouth, had frequent headaches, yellow complexion, and pain in my right side, and between the shoulder blades. It was almost unbearable, and terribly weakening. I could not sleep at night and my heart also bothered me. But the whole trouble has now left me, thanks to that wonderful medicine, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Western Hope and Her Missionary Skipper Does Useful Work in the Queen Charlotte Islands District

The launch Western Hope, which is used as an Anglican Mission boat on the Queen Charlotte Islands, is a 40-foot craft powered with a 30 h.p. Vivian gas engine. It is not a fancy vessel but it is built substantially to weather the rough waters through which it is called upon regularly to ply. Its skipper is Rev. J. Gillett and most of the time its crew consists of Mrs. Gillett and their little daughter, Ruth.

The Western Hope is known by everyone on the Queen Charlotte Island as it calls in at all isolated points with its messages of hope and happiness to those in the quiet and lonesome places striving to build up the British Empire. The skipper also distributes magazines and other reading matter donated by people who are interested in his work.

Interesting Example

Once in the spring of 1924, two settlers from Skidegate, father and son, walked over to Port Clements, to make a grub stake at the logging camps. The mother was left alone to look after the farm while the father and son were gone. While working at the camp, the boy was accidentally killed. The mother desired that the body should be brought back to be buried at home but the father could secure no boat. Then some of the settlers got together and offered to carry the body over the trail—a distance of twenty miles. This, however, was found impossible to do. The skipper of the Western Hope heard about it and offered to take the body to its last resting place by water. The offer was gladly accepted and at day-break one morning the staunch little craft entered Skidegate harbor with its flag at half mast. The body, accompanied by the father, was aboard. The voyage had taken a whole day and night. That same afternoon, Rev. Gillett laid the body in the grave with Christian rites in the little cemetery five miles west of Skidegate. This is only one instance of the many services of such nature that the skipper has performed for the people of the islands with his little boat.

The Western Hope averages a run of 300 miles per month. Among its calls is the Langara light on Langara Island. Out of twelve trips last year, it was possible to land only three times. This gives some idea of the rough waters that are encountered by Mr. Gillett in the course of his work.

The Western Hope was the first mission boat to go around the Queen Charlotte Islands by Langara Light and back through Skidegate Inlet.

Rev. J. Gillett, mariner and clergyman, is president of the Massett Hospital Board and Farmers' Institute.

WHIST DRIVE AND DANCE LAST NIGHT

Knights of Pythias and Sisters Give Enjoyable Events at Boston Hall

In spite of the unusually boisterous weather between 70 and 80 couples attended a successful whist drive and dance held in the Boston Hall last night by the Knights and Sisters of Pythias. At whist Miss D. Fraser won the ladies' first prize on a cut with Mrs. P. J. Ryan, the second prize going to Mrs. Norton. The gentleman's first prize was won by H. M. Blake and Gillies Royer picked off the second prize.

At the conclusion of the card playing delightful refreshments were served, after which dancing was much enjoyed to the strains of the Westholme orchestra, one steps and schottisches proving popular numbers. W. W. Wood acted as floor manager. The committee responsible for the success of the evening included E. Hudson, W. W. Wood, F. W. Wesch, Mrs. Geo. Leek, Mrs. McCullough and Mrs. Iverson.

CONCERT AND DANCE HELD AT ROUND LAKE

People From Quick, Woodmere and Round Lake Provided Entertainment to Whole Countryside

TELKWA, Mar. 24. — A very creditable concert was held at Round Lake on Friday and in spite of the fact that there were several things on that same night, the Community Hall was packed. Members from Quick, Round Lake and Woodmere were responsible for finding and bringing together so much talent, and it is pleasing to note the community spirit present on such occasions, as that sort of entertainment reaches more of the people than a dance does. At the close of the program a very nice supper was served by a number of the ladies. Later, dancing to the strains of the Round Lake Boys' Orchestra was commenced and kept up till the very early hours.

APPLICATION FOR RIGHT TO PURCHASE LOTS FROM THE CITY

The city council last night decided not to publish the amounts offered for lots which had reverted to the city and on which tenders were to be called. Doing so, it was pointed out, put the first bidder at a disadvantage as any other person was likely to bid a little higher and get the lot. Last night a bid was made by E. Wilding for Lot 128, Block 20, Sec. 2, and referred to the finance committee.

It was decided to call for tenders for the purchase of several other lots, similar to purchase which had been made.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

March 24, 1915

Local Conservatives, in the provincial election campaign, are claiming that the McBride government did a great deal towards obtaining the recent fisheries concessions for Prince Rupert from the Federal government.

J. J. Mulligan arrived this morning from Vancouver to take charge of the Haysport Fisheries and Gold Storage Co.'s plant at Haysport.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

THE smaller the man
The louder he plows;
The smaller the girl
The more she knows.

THERE is a common basis for a world federation. State is much the same in every country.

IN the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of boats.

ONE of these old time Presbyterians who objects to music in the church and says hymns are just "man made songs" would doubtless object to any innovation in the Ford car but would want us to be satisfied with it the way God made it.

THERE would be no need for those reduction exercises if people lived on what they were worth to the world.
