MUSICAL MARAUDERS CONSTANTLY STEALING

Makers of Modern Popular Numbers Accused of Lifting Strains of Masters

(Montreal Gazette)

"You've been lying to me," is the reproach levelled by one character at another in a current musical comedy success. "That's no news, I knew it all the time," is the retort of the accused. Some such answer will probably be the defence of the song-writers of the United States to the charge made against them by the opponents of the proposed copyright bill at Washington, which is to the effect that most of their compositions are wholly unoriginal, being filched bodily from older music ranging all the way from almost forgotten popular songs or once favorite melodies to classic and religious music by the great masters. Nor will the charge occasion much surprise on the part of the general public, for anyone with an average ear for tunes, a cursory knowledge of the music, good or otherwise, of the past, and a memory going back more than a decade, has been able to note of recent years an increasing tendency on the part of the makers of melodies for the masses to lift most of their material by wholesale.

Sometimes the appropriation has been open and acknowledged, as in the case of "The Love Song," dealing with the career and personality of Offenbach and employing his music liberally as settings for its numbers, and its now famous predecessor, "Blossom Time," in which Schubert's immortal strains are adapted to lyrical uses, sometimes with odd effect, as when "The Unfinished Symphony," is wrenched from its proper tempo and made to cavort in waltz measure.

Just Theft

But in most cases it is not a matter of borrowing but of deliberate theft, and the theatregoers, the dancers and the radio fans of today have their ears titillated by supposedly original and up-to-date compositions which in large part are made up, note after note and bar after bar, of music which was as familiar to their fathers, mothers and grandparents as was "God Save the Queen." Numberless examples could be cited, but it is enough to mention Al Jolson's "Avalon," which is compounded in almost equal parts of "Oh Promise Me" and an aria from "La Tosca," and which led the recently-deceased composer Puccini to enter suit for infringement.

HAD BAD SPELLS WITH HER HEART

Mrs. C. Martin, D.D. No. 2, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled with my heart for a long time and very often had bad spells with it. I would take fainting spells, and my husband had to have somebody to stay with me all the time. He got me everything he could think of to see if they would do me any good, but nothing seemed to help me. One day a friend was in to see me and advised me to try

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

My husband went and got me two boxes, and after the first one was finished I felt like a different woman. I cannot recommend them enough to all those who suffer with anything wrong with their heart or nerves."

Milburn's H. & N. Pills have been on the market for the past 30 years and are put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MEMORIZED HIS WAY INTO MANAGERSHIP

Assistant Manager at Vancouver Hotel was Picked up by Sir George Bury

There are ways and ways of breaking into the big hotel business, but Oscar Dahl, newly appointed assistant manager of the Hotel Vancouver, just "memorized" himself into the organization of which he has become a prominent part says W. A. De Graves in the Vancouver Star.

Years ago when Sir George Bury was still an active railroader he visited Chicago in his private car "Manitoba." To a leading haberdashery store he went and ordered a special line of shirts, giving his name and asking that they be delivered to the car on a certain date.

One year from that date he again returned and wished to replenish his wardrobe. He was surprised when the clerk called him by name, brought out the same line and pattern of shirts that he had secured before; and courteously asked: "Shall I send them to your private car "Manitoba" at such and such a siding?"

"Do you remember my name, the shirts, the car and the siding from that one visit of over twelve months ago?" he asked.

The smiling clerk admitted the fact.

"You shouldn't be selling shirts. We want people like you in our hotel service," said Sir George.

And it was so. Now Oscar Dahl is rapidly climbing up the ladder and has been assistant manager of every large hotel on the system. His last step is into the Vancouver, one of the most important in the transcontinental chain of the C.P.R. system of hotels.

"THE WHITE MOTH"

For the First Time

The French theatre on screen! A dazzling picturization of the Parisian playhouse of today depicting life behind the scenes from the fall of the curtain 'till dawn. The sensational romance of a Parisian stage beauty. All the glamour of night life in the City of Light, the famous Bal des Artistes—200 beautiful dancing girls—the Quartier Latin—and a story of undying love that rivals the loves of the immortals, are but a few of the many ingredients that go to make up this gorgeous, spectacular photo-play one that will long remain in the memory. Paris—city of romance—where spirits are high—where love is supreme! Come—meet the White Moth—dancing idol of the gayest city in the world. Distinguished cast.

Conway Tearle, Barbara La Marr, Charles de Roche, Ben Lyon, William Orlamond, Edna Murphy, Josie Sedgwick, Kathleen Kirkham.
