Fair Board Working on New Proposal Regarding Sale of Tickets

MEETING LAST NIGHT

The Fair Board held a lengthy session last evening. There was a full attendance. The various committees reported progress and placed before the board matters of policy requiring its consideration.

The prize book for 1925 is being prepared. The office and the board of directors have been duly diligent and it is expected that as a result of their labor and the community spirit evidenced throughout the district there will be a record exhibition.

The executive is working on a plan which, while giving necessary impetus to the preparations for the coming fair, will have its appeal to some of the ambitious High School students throughout the district.

In a general way, the proposal, as it stands, suggests a ticket selling competition, for which only High School or ex-High School pupils up to the age of 20 will be eligible. A grand prize of $500 would be offered to the one making the highest count. All other contestants would receive 10 per cent commission on their respective sales.

The grand prize referred to would be placed in trust for educational purposes or otherwise held in trust until the winner reaches the age of 21. These things, however, are subject to possible revision.

WESTHOLME THEATRE
Tonight and Tomorrow Night, 7 and 9 p.m.

"Barbara Freitchie"

An adaptation of the famous play of that name by Clyde Fitch. The glorious chronicle of a girl's enduring love. A romance of the Civil War. An immortal story of a girl of dauntless courage and compelling charm—the most appealing heroine of American history. Thrust apart by the demands of war a boy and a girl, by their simple devotion, contributed one of history's greatest stories. Her belief in the man of her heart could not be shattered by all the powers on earth. Love came before North or South or family in the final test. Exceptional cast.

Edmund Lowe, Florence Vidor, Emmett King, Joe Bennett, Charles Delaney, Gertrude Short and many others.
George Billings (the original player of the title role in the famous picture) as Abraham Lincoln.

INDIANS MEET PEACE FOOTING

Tribes That Formerly Fought Now to Foregather for Conference

MACLEOD, June 17.—For the first time since the signing of the famous Blackfoot treaty of 1877, Indians of the Western plaons of Canada and Montana will gather together at Macleod on July 1-3 and re-enact scenes such as were witnessed in the days of tribal warfare, forty years ago. Such deadly enemies as the Sioux and the Blackfoot, the Cree and Sarcee, the Piegan and the Assiniboine for the first time in history will meet on friendly terms.

While the old warriors and chiefs retire to an Indian encampment on the outskirts of the town, to dance, smoke the pipe of peace and reminisce on feuds of by-gone days, their sons, the younger generation, will meet in Macleod town hall and form an association to be known as the Allied Tribes of Western Canada.

The gathering is being conducted by members of the Blood tribe. An office has been installed at Macleod and great preparations are being made for the historic event.

Indicative of the spirit that prompted the call for a "peace gathering" is a letter received at headquarters here from Dan Pathmaker of the Assiniboine tribe. Pathmaker, who is a graduate of Manitoba Agricultural College writes: "My chief advises me to write you that forty-three years ago, while we were camped in the Cypress Hills, your tribe, the Bloods and Blackfeet, invited us to come over to their encampment and hold a peace conference. Then we suspected treachery. We doubted you. We did not come. Now history is repeating itself. This time let us trust that what our forefathers lost through their inherent distrust, we will retrieve by our present day enlightenment and our united effort. We are bringing with us a warrior named Runs-With-Another, son of Buffalo-Head-Flag. Tell your father, Chief Mountain Horse, we are bringing him to visit him. He will remember he and this man nearly killed each other in their last battle."

Twenty-five delegates, representing the various Indian tribes, will formulate the first Indian constitution to be drawn up in Canada.

ADMIRAL SEBREE IS HERE FOR REPAIRS AT LOCAL DRY DOCK

Discharging Freight Today at Lumber Wharf and Will be Repaired Tomorrow

The Pacific Alaskan Navigation Co.'s freighter Admiral Sebree arrived in port at 9.15 last night and is discharging explosives at the lumber wharf preparatory to being taken on dry dock tomorrow.

The Sebree, while coming north from Seattle and Ladysmith bound for Ketchikan, Seward and other Alaskan ports, dropped a propeller blade near Alert Bay on Saturday and it is to have this replaced that she was brought in here. When this is done, she will reload the cargo she is unloading and proceed north. The Admiral Sebree is commanded by Capt. Samuel Glass, well known pioneer skipper of Alaskan waters.
