How We All Mumble Our National Anthem!

How we all mumble our national anthem! We seldom sing it properly because we do not know the words. The chief difficulty is that there are several versions, the words of which have been printed from time to time in this paper.

At the recent luncheon to Charles G. D. Roberts it was noticeable that everybody had to look closely at the cards supplied by the club in order to take part in the singing. The difference between the singing of "O Canada" and "God Save the King" was very marked.

At a recent lecture at the Booth School at which a number of young people were present, the result was even worse than at the Canadian Club luncheon, and similar results are obtained at most other events. This is not a credit to the Canadian people.

Admire A Person Who Will Stand Alone.

It is very noticeable that at public meetings most people want to swing with the crowd. A crowd resembles very much a flock of sheep. Those who know animals are aware that if one sheep jumps through a hole in a fence, the whole flock will follow. So it often is with a crowd. They like to follow.

At the public meeting Thursday night only two men voted against the main resolution. Plenty were opposed to it, but they kept quiet because the crowd was against them. The main thing is to stand out for what is believed to be correct in face of all opposition.

Takes No Backwater On Provincial Finances.

Hon. Dr. MacLean, minister of finance for the province, is not ashamed of the record of his department or of the standing of the province financially. He goes to the Canadian Credit-men's Association in Vancouver, men who understand what finance means, and he lays his case before them. He states unreservedly that the wealth of the province is greater than that of any other in Canada per head of the population. He also says that sinking funds of the province, which provide for the paying off of the debt are in better shape than that of any other province in the Dominion.

Had Dr. MacLean been wrong he would have heard of it from the men to whom he was speaking. Let us be proud of our province and give due credit to the men who have brought back its financial condition from one of almost bankruptcy to one of the highest standing. This is not politics. It is business.

Fight Hard When An Election Comes.

We admire the person who fights hard for what he believes to be right at election time. He is fully justified even if we do not agree with his stand. The man we despise is the man who is always playing politics from one year to the next. He is willing to sacrifice his city, his province or his country for the sake of damaging his opponents. If we are always knocking the government of the province we are knocking ourselves because we elected them.

The finances of B.C. have been coming in for criticism from people who should be ashamed to talk finances. There is no election in sight, possibly for years, so why foul our own nest by knocking the financial condition of the country in which we live.

GYRO HOEDOWN PICTURESQUE

Grotesque Costumes of Men and Simplicity of Ladies' Was Noticeable

The Gyro hoedown at the auditorium last night was a picturesque affair — lively, varied and always enjoyable. The popularity of the Gyro boys as hosts proved so great that the ladies, especially, turned out in large numbers, so large that it was difficult to accommodate them all with partners. However, the scene from the side benches and galleries was a full recompense. The costumes of the men varied greatly and wholly transformed them from their ordinary selves. Some wore hunting or fishing costumes, some farmer togs, others sported the clothes of the workshop. The only thing that was taboo was the evening suit or the tuxedo. Hats were worn by some, where they were necessary to complete the costume, but they were mostly discarded as the evening passed. Shirt sleeves were a sign of superiority and daring.

Strong Contrasts

In strong contrast to the grotesque getup of the men were the simple gowns of the girls. Silks and satins had been banished and their places taken by the cotton creations of the kitchen. And as one spectator remarked, "The girls never looked so pretty or carried themselves with such an air of pleasing homeliness" as they did on that occasion. Perhaps it was the memory of the kitchen that made them so popular. At any rate the men worked overtime trying to give them as many dances as possible.

Lionel Holby of course was master of ceremonies. He combined his duties in that respect with those of police magistrate, meting out punishment to those arrested for breaches of decorum or breaking of the rules in connection with dress.

And then there was the supper and the cider punch and the icecream and the hay. Those who could not afford other luxuries ate hay. Quite a number seemed to be doing that, yet in spite of their efforts, several hales were left at the close.

Decorations there were, different, light, artistic, blending with the lights and shades of the floor and set off by the Gyro emblems. They might be said to be grotesque.

Just how long the festivities lasted or how much hot dog and cider and coffee and ice cream and energy were consumed is not handed out for publication. It is averred by those who passed the hall after daylight that the music had ceased and that it appeared as if the lights were out. Two by two the dancers fell away and gave up the pursuit of pleasure, happy to the end. And then the Gyros left also. So ended the second hoedown of the club, one that will help to make Gyro history.

The committee in charge consisted of Norris Pringle (chairman), George R. Tite, Sidney Bazett-Jones, Roy Nichols, Doug, Stork, Stan Taylor and Roland Harlow.

The following were on sub-committees:

- Orchestra arrangements — Doug, Stork.
- Cashier — S. K. Campbell.
- Doorkeeper — Leo Waugh.
- Hot Dogs — George Tite, Frank Pearson, Fred Henning.
- Ice Cream — F. E. Robertson, De. Tait.

Raffles — E. A. Mann, Joe Groer.

Cider — Charlie Mills, W. J. Nelson.

Fresh Milk and Doughnuts — H. McEwen, Bill Cruickshank.

Advertising manager — Sid Bazett-Jones.

Other Gyros assisted generally.

"Eczema All Over Arms Suffered for 12 Years"

Mrs. Murray Hough, Warton, Ont., writes:

"I had eczema for twelve years. Every once in a while it would break out and spread all over my arms. I tried all kinds of treatments to relieve it, but without success. One Spring it broke out and nothing gave me relief, even the salve I got from the doctor did no good. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment and it healed the eczema in a short time. That is over a year ago, and I have had no return of the trouble."
