N.S. SCHOONER NOSEDIVED WHEN STRUCK

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR BRINGING CHURCH UNION INTO EFFECT

Nova Scotia Schooner Rammed by Clackamas Nose Dived to Bottom

All of Crew but one Man Went Down with her but Captain and Several Sailors Saved

HALIFAX, May 2.—Five lives were lost late on Thursday afternoon when the Nova Scotia three-masted schooner, Cape Dor, which was to off Cape Lallave, laden with salt, was rammed by a United States Shipping Board steamer Clackamas, inward bound with a cargo of coal.

The Cape Dor did a nose dive to the bottom when she was struck, taking with her the entire crew save one man. Captain Wilkie and several seamen were subsequently rescued by the crew of the Clackamas, but the Captain's wife perished.

COAL BUNKERS PRINCE RUPERT

Edson Petitions Federal Authorities Asking That They be Built Here

EDMONTON, May 2.—A petition urging the early erection of coal bunkers at Prince Rupert to accommodate the product of Northern Alberta coal fields, has been forwarded to the Federal authorities by Edson coal producers and a copy has been received by the Edmonton Board of Trade, whose support in pressing the case at Ottawa has been requested.

In the letter received by the local organization yesterday, it is pointed out that efforts are being made to secure a market in Prince Rupert for Alberta coal. It is believed by Edson coal men that the port is destined to become one of the largest shipping centres on the Pacific Coast and that it is a logical market for Alberta coal. A population of about 18,000 could be served, it is contended, in addition to coaling the numerous ships which carry away Alberta grain and cattle.

It is further claimed that the development of the Edson field would create business for Edmonton, and if the Prince Rupert market is not exploited in the near future, Americans are likely to step in, as they have already done in the east, and supply coal from the Alaska mines.

The petition to Ottawa requests that consideration be given to the early erection of bunkers at Prince Rupert, so that they may be provided simultaneously with the provision for grain shipments.

The remarkable achievement of Miss Mabel Green, blind typist of London, lies behind the publication of a book recently, the entire manuscript of which, extending to 40,000 words, she took down in Braille shorthand and faultlessly transcribed.

Final Church Meetings Before Union in Effect Hacker to Remain Here

The coming few weeks will mark important changes taking place in connection with the churches of the country. The Union of the Methodist, Congregational and a large part of the Presbyterian church takes place on June 10 and in the meantime the church meetings are to be held to make final arrangements for the change.

Rev. G. G. Hacker leaves Monday morning for Vancouver to attend the Sunday School meeting and district meeting to be followed by the B.C. Conference which will be held the following week. He will be away about a fortnight.

There is no delegate going from here to the Presbyterian Synod meeting, which takes place during the coming week, commencing Tuesday night. Rev. Dr. Grant, hopes however, to be able to attend the general conference in Toronto on June 3.

At the Synod meeting this week it is very probable a new synod will be formed by representatives of the non-concurring congregations of which there are 22 in British Columbia. New Westminster went solidly against union with four congregations.

The launching of the new union church is a great movement in church history. It will not affect the local situation as the Presbyterian Church here remains out of the Union and there is no Congregational Church. The Methodist Church will be the only one upholding the banner of unionism here.

Rev. G. G. Hacker, pastor of the local Methodist Church, has accepted a request to remain here for another two years, although he has been invited to go to Ladysmith and also to Ocean Falls. His remaining is of course subject to the approval of the stationing committee.

CHANGING TO OIL BURNERS

New Combustion System at By-Products Plant—Interesting Experiments Going on

The combustion system at the Rupert Marine Products plant at Fuchs Inlet is being converted from coal burning to oil burning, the new machinery having arrived here during the week. The change is being made in the interests of efficiency of operation. This is only one of several improvements that are being made to the plant this year.

G. G. Bushby, head of the concern, stated this morning that interesting experiments with a view to widening the scope of the plant's production are now being carried out. One product that is being worked on is the recovery of pearl from salmon and herring scale and halibut by a flotation process. The concern is also working on a new protein concentrate. The latter would involve considerable extension to the plant, so it is being very carefully gone into before anything of a definite nature with regard to it is decided upon.
