ROTORSHIP TOWERS FOR LAND POWER IS PROMISED BY FLETTNER

KIEL, Jan. 9. — The Flettner rotorship and the statement of its inventor that the principle of cylindrical towers to secure power from the air will also be used in harnessing the wind on land, continue to be discussed here.

Herr Flettner is reticent about his plans to utilize wind power on land, saying only that within a year he hopes to exhibit models which will enable irrigation plants, factories and municipalities to take power directly from the wind through the use of the discoveries he has worked out in his study of air currents and their effect upon revolving towers. Towers for use on land will be high, as the constant winds are far above the earth's surface. Herr Flettner is confident that eventually there will be a great saving of fuel through the use of air currents.

The inventor declares also that small sailboats of all kinds, including pleasure craft, can be fitted with one rotating tower that will propel them successfully on rivers, bays and lakes.

A FISH STORY

The customer had waited half an hour for the fish he had ordered. At last the waiter appeared.

"Your fish will be here in five minutes," he said.

Another quarter of an hour passed, and then the customer summoned the waiter. "Say," he inquired, "what kind of bait are you using?"

That's the kind of arithmetic we teach with our "Float-Ironed" service. It washes and dries everything, irons everything flat. You may have some touching up to do on some of the wearing apparel—but otherwise the entire task of washday is taken off your hands. It's the cheapest partially finished service — requiring the least amount of ironing at home. Our Float-Ironed Service is the answer to the washday problem. Shall we solve yours?
