LIABILITY FOR FISHING LOSS

Judge Decides In Favor of Crew But Not as Precedent

Judgment dismissing the action of J. C. Gavigan, vs. H. E. Shepherd, in which the plaintiff attempted to establish the liability of the defendant as the member of a fishing boat crew in connection with a "hole" trip, was dismissed in the County Court this morning by Judge Young. The case was followed with interest by business as well as fishing interests of the city and was taken in the nature of a test although Judge Young, in giving judgment, asked that it not be regarded as a precedent.

According to the judgment, unless an expressed contract is made whereby the parties contract out of the Masters' and Servants 'Act, it is deemed that the association is not a partnership and that individual members of the crew are not liable for losses incurred.

The action was brought by the plaintiff against the defendant in the attempt to make the latter liable for a share of the loss incurred during the operation of the halibut boat Dolphin, Capt. Byrne, on a "hole" trip in 1924.

Judge Young held that no contract had been proven by the plaintiff against the defendant. Under the Masters' and Servants' Act it was incumbent on the plaintiff to establish a partnership. This the plaintiff had failed to do.

The judge stated that he did not wish either the owners of boats or fishermen to take the decision as a precendent but recommended in future cases of a like nature there should be a written contract whereby, if it was so desired, partnership could be established and the men made liable for share of losses as well as right to receive profits.

S. W. Taylor had the case for Mr. Gavigan while E. F. Jones represented Mr. Shepherd.

tribute to Prince Rupert schools. Both in public and high schools there were excellent teachers of high character and with splendid teaching records and he for one fully appreciated the value of these institutions. He would think twice before he would take a child from a Prince Rupert school and transfer to another. Mr. Brady had the unique combination of inspiring comradeship with the pupils and yet bringing terror to the minds of those who were inclined to shirk.

Ladies' Aid

On behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. W. B. Cornish, treasurer, reported that nearly one thousand dollars had been raised and had been spent on church and parsonage. The ladies now were redecorating the interior of the parsonage.

Sunday School: — E. Barrie, superintendent, reported 152 scholars actively attending and 20 teachers and officers. The average attendance was 121 — and only once since September 1 had the attendance been under 100.

Choir: — A. J. Lancaster was grateful for the faithful attendance of the members and anticipated a sacred cantata of worth being rendered about Christmas.

Girls' activities: — Miss Haddock reported a weekly attendance of over 65 at her activities and was glad of the spirit of loyalty.

Boys' work:— Mr. Hacker reported for the noise makers who were also the fun makers. The attendance was about 70 boys per week and an increasing interest was being shown. New year plans are being made to have parents and friends see more of the actual activities of the boys.

Finance:—Frank Vickers gave the treasurer's report and showed that the year's budget had been taken care of from voluntary contributions and special donations and that this was a cause for thankfulness when financial conditions were not flourishing.

Sport Chat

Judging from the line-ups that will face each other tonight in the opening season football game between the Sons of England and Great War Veterans, the latter aggregation has had more new blood injected than the former. Indeed, the English team has very much the same complexion as in previous years although there seem to be considerable changes in the arrangement of the players. Jimmie Farquhar, who recently returned to town after an absence of a year, is back on the Englishmen's forward line. The Vets seem to have picked off their share of Sons of Canada players of last year. In goal is to be found Gawthorne, who gave the Canucks good service in 1924; Vic Menzies, that tower of strength at full back; George Mitchell and Dave Balfour at half, and Sammy Erskine in the forward line. Harry Astoria, a Canuck of last year, is booked for the Veterans' reserve list tonight. From the looks of things, the Vets are going to have a team this year that ought to be able to give a good account of itself.

Poor "Babe" Ruth is in trouble again. This time it is his health. And the trouble, they say, is due mainly to the fact that he cannot control his appetite. He lets it run away with him between seasons, and then he has a terrible time reducing to a size fit to play baseball afterwards. But this spring, even while at the training camp he was far from feeling well, and a Montreal newspaper man who was at Nashville, Tennessee, when Ruth played in a game between New York and Brooklyn there before the season opened, writes that he appeared even then so listless and fatigued and had such a generally unhealthy look, that the writer thought his time to play baseball had nearly reached its end. Shortly afterwards he was taken ill with an abcess on his back, and since then he has been a patient at the St. Vincent Hospital, New York, where he underwent an operation. And he won't be able to play ball for some time at any rate.
