ADDRESS GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL

"Glory of Achievement" was Inspiring Theme of Speaker to Students

Rev. W. E. Galloway, field secretary of religious education for the united Protestant churches, delivered an address before the High School students of the city yesterday afternoon on "The Glory of Achievement." Mr. Galloway declared that boys and girls, with their opportunities as High School students, should not only be able to stand upon their own feet but also, figuratively speaking, on their own heads. If they exercised the full power of their energies and training, they might stand on their own heads on the roof of the world.

Mr. Galloway, who was a witness of the inter-High School games at Anyox last week-end, referred to the splendid spirit that had prevailed among the contending teams in those games. Though the games were keenly contested and the teams evenly matched, the play had been of the cleanest kind and it had been particularly pleasing to notice the manner in which all referees' decisions had been taken. When players were injured, they heroically carried on

MOOSE HOLD WHIST DRIVE AND DANCE

A very successful whist drive and dance was held last night in the Metropole Hall by the Moose Lodge, some 200 persons being in attendance. From 24 tables of whist the prize winners were: ladies' first, Mrs. C. Quinton; ladies' second, Miss Ruth Dutton; men's first, Fritz Skjellum; men's second, Helge Odin.

After cards, refreshments were served with Mrs. Ed. Unger in charge in the kitchen.

Music for the dance that followed was furnished by the Westholme Orchestra and Joe Slaggard was master of ceremonies.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised B. J. Bacon (chairman), Ralph Kiefhaber, Fred Scadden, F. Squarechuck, Sam Antos, Gillis Royer, A. Ohnesarg and Percy Cameron.

ARE YOU TORTURED WITH ECZEMA?

Eczema, or Salt Rheum, as it is commonly called, is one of the most agonizing of all skin diseases.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the parts are exposed to heat are almost unbearable and relief is greatly welcomed.

The most reliable and effective remedy for this trouble is

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mrs. J. R. Johnson, R.R. No. 1, Oshawa, Ont., writes:—"For years I was troubled with eczema, and had that terrible itching and burning sensation, and could find no relief for it. Finally, I was advised to use B.B.B., and after my second bottle I began to see a great difference, and I can, now, advise anyone troubled as I was to use this wonderful remedy."

For sale at all druggists and dealers; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GIRLS IN TRAINING MET AT BANQUET

Were Addressed by Visiting Field Secretary of Religious Education

Last evening in the social parlors of the Methodist Church, some 35 Canadian Girls in training enjoyed a splendid banquet after which they listened to a forcible address by Rev. W. E. Galloway, field secretary for religious education, on the ideals of girlhood.

Following this banquet, Mr. Galloway met the Sunday School teachers of the Methodist Church in the parsonage.

Tonight Mr. Galloway will give an address at a fathers' and sons' banquet to be held in the Methodist Church and tomorrow morning he will sail for Vancouver after having spent ten days in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tolin were passengers from Vancouver to Stewart going through on the Prince Rupert yesterday afternoon.

JACKIE COOGAN IN A BOY OF FLANDERS IS ANOTHER TRIUMPH

Is Funny Kid in His Dutch Costume But Just as Appealing as Ever

Jackie Coogn as a little Belgian boy with baggy trousers, funny little cap, great, clumsy, clattering wooden shoes and patched jacket with large buttons of assorted shapes and sizes—Jackie Coogan as little Nello, the immortal hero of Ouida's story, is to be seen here at the week end.

Jackie's medium in this, his second Metro picture, is "A Boy of Flanders," adapted from Ouida's story, "A Dog of Flanders," and the adaptation has been made with the greatest skill. The story is reproduced on the screen with a fidelity rarely to be observed and not a single episode of significance, drama, comedy, pathos or thrill is missing. While the climax, in the snow storm that sweeps over Flanders fields and buries the Cathedral steps at Antwerp in a deep cover, is one of the most poignant and appealing that has ever been screened.

Tragic Heights

Never has Jackie appeared more effectively, and it is safe to say that in "A Bog of Flanders" he touches tragic heights never before revealed in any Jackie Coogan picture, while the comedy touches and humor of which his art is capable, are abundantly provided throughout the entire story.

All the implications found in Ouida's too-short story have been developed into the flowering of a great drama, and only in an adjustment of the closing episodes is there the slightest departure from the original — and who could bear to see "A Boy of Flanders" if the hero should die out in the cold and the snow with his dead companion, the noble-hearted dog Petrasche as his only solace? Such an ending would be too harrowing.

Many Touching Moments

As it is, the hearts of all those present are sufficiently wrung and there was a sigh of relief and then the joy of a great delight when—but you must see "A Boy of Flanders" for yourself. It is like fine music—it cannot be described. It is played with strokes that words cannot define nor explain. It is Jackie at his best, and it will add even to the fame that is already his.

Were the "Good Old Days" Really Good?

WHEN you hear an old-timer sigh for the days of his forefathers, smile quietly to yourself and think of this.

The ancients got along without automobiles, soap, stoves, tooth-brushes, window-glass, breakfast foods, telephones—without practically all of the things we consider the bare essentials of life.

There never has been a time when life bettered itself so rapidly and so consistently as now. New conveniences and new comforts are continually being thought out and brought out for your benefit.

In order to reap the advantages that are yours to-day, you must read the advertisements. They bring you news of all that the world of invention and discovery is doing to make your work easier, your home life more pleasant, your clothing and food problems less difficult. They keep you informed of all that is new in the markets and stores. They tell you not only about the goods, the styles, the varieties and prices, but also where and when these things are to be had.

PRINCE RUPERT ENDORSES PEACE RIVER PASS ROUTE FOR PROJECTED RAILWAY

new transcontinental route to Stewart but he felt sure that would not meet with favor. He liked the fair manner in which Prince Rupert people were approaching this question. It compared well with the distorted maps used to bolster up the other route.

C. B. Sawle said he would like to see all concentrate on one route. They favored the one by Peace River Pass to Finlay Forks and out by Hazelton. It would be longer to build but would pay better than the other. It would have to be built some time.

P. Corrigan also urged them not to consider too many routes.

George Beirnes

George Beirnes told of the country through which the proposed railway would pass. Much of the valley was twenty miles wide between Hazelton and Finley Forks. It was heavily timbered and the passes were low. It would not follow the Skeena because of a big elbow in that river. The Kispiox would be more suitable. He flew over the country to Finlay Forks, and seeing it from the air, he felt sure the route would be feasible. The Kispiox route was the one chosen by Campbell Johnson for the Groundhog Railway. This route would pass close to the Groundhog coal fields, within twenty miles.

W. S. Sargent thought there would be a better chance for success if they united on one route.

Mr. Nickerson, on behalf of the local board explained that their idea had been to oppose the Brule route. They would like the railway to come as far west as possible before joining the Canadian National. Their proposal and the one it had been decided to follow was to set out the various routes and not back any one. While his opinion was that it should come out at Hazelton or west of that point he did not think they should commit themselves to any particular route.

P. Corrigan suggested that they unite on the Peace River Pass and leave the rest.

J. C. McLennan expressed pleasure at seeing the Hazelton people present and was glad to learn that there was a feasible route to Hazelton. It was most difficult to get reliable information.

Favors Peace Pass

F. G. Dawson said he had always favored the Peace Pass. He urged that they unite on it so that it would go before the directors with greater force. Sir Henry Thornton had seen much of the country and it had been an eyeopener to him. The difficulty with most of the routes was that they had no expert data to guide them. They did not know whether they were feasible or not. He believed the Peace Pass was feasible and there were numerous outlets.

Mayor Newton backed the proposal to unite on the Peace project and this was done. He suggested that the data presented by Hazelton be incorporated in the booklet they were preparing.

In closing, Dr. Wrinch thanked the Prince Rupert board for the reception given them and said he was particularly pleased at the sentiments expressed here.
