TRITES TAKES AN OPTION ON SIBOLA MINES

Galena Property in Tahtsa Lake District Said To Be Very Rich.

SMITHERS, Feb. 6.—A mining deal of more than ordinary interest was put through here on Tuesday, when a prominent B. C. mining engineer acting for A. B. Trites, well known in B. C. mining circles, took an option on the Emerald and Glacier groups of mineral claims on Sweeney Mountain.

The claims are bonded for five years, with an understanding that work is to commence as soon as climatic conditions will warrant, and it is hoped that a gang of not less than six men will be able to proceed in about eight weeks' time.

To S. H. Hoskins, administrator for the estate of the late Otis J. Benson, is given the credit for negotiating the deal, which was concluded on Tuesday, and the first payment made. Mr. Hoskins has great faith in the future of the Sibola country from a mineral standpoint and has been trying for sometime to get the larger mining interests to take up the matter of developing the rich mineral deposits of that district. The co-owners, William Sweeney, Frank Madigan and Duncan McGibbon, are old timers of the Bulkley Valley, and have done considerable work on the claims and have exposed a considerable body of extremely rich galena.

The claims are situated in the Tahtsa Lake district on Sibola Creek, about 90 miles from Houston, so that transportation will be the main problem for the new owners to solve, but there is another possible route, that direct to tide water on Gardner Canal which is only 60 miles from the mine.
