Sugar and Flour Down — Feed Prices are Unsteady—General Advances in Meat

The sugar market has declined 15c per hundred pounds during the past week. Owing to splendid growing conditions and heavy crops, the market is weak and no advances are looked for.

Flour declined $1.20 per barrel last week but advanced 40c per barrel on Tuesday. It appears as though the bottom has been reached and present prices should be maintained. There is no doubt but that a world shortage has been the underlying element in wheat gambling that has been going on. How serious that shortage really is, however, only the next few months will tell.

Feed prices are fluctuating and there has been a drop recently but the movement is not regarded as being a steady one.

There have been general advances lately in meat prices.

TALE OF EXILE LONELY ISLAND

Missionary at Tristanda Cunha Cannot Even Get Mail Once a Year

NO WHITES THERE

CAPETOWN, April 8. — (By Canadian Press). — A strange tale of exile on the lonely isle of Tristan da Cunha, which lies almost directly in the middle of the Atlantic, between South Africa and South America, was told by Rev. Martyn Rogers when he arrived here recently on his way to England.

In 1921 Mr. Rogers took his young wife out to the lonely Tristan de Cunha for his three years' mission, and how, after working as doctor, missionary and school teacher in the world's most isolated community—Tristanda Cunha is almost two thousand miles from the nearest steamer lane, and almost as much from Cape Town—he is going back with his wife and a two-year-old son, Edward, who is the first white child ever to be born on the island.

For two years there had been no mailboats at Tristan, when the Ramon de Larranaga steamed up recently. It was by the merest chance that Mr. Rogers was able to leave.

Health Suffered

"To be back in the city is a queer business," said Mr. Rogers, "I feel almost as though I had been on a trip to the moon. Towards the end of our stay on the island there was such food shortage that my health suffered, and my wife and child were beginning to feel the hardship. The island potato crop failed. Cattle died. We drank tea only a few times a week.

"But I do not regret one moment of the time we spent there," he said. "There was so much to do. My wife and I were busy in school—our pupils' ages ranged from 4 to 40—every day. There were four services to hold on Sunday. Often we had to attend serious accidents, and the medicine chest was always open. I had my troop of Boy Scouts to train, and my wife taught domestic and religious subjects to the women and girls of the island.

"The greatest hardship of life on Tristan is the length of time which passes between visits from the outside world. Weeks are spent in vain longing for ships which never come. The islanders ask for but one mail a year.

Sail Ho!

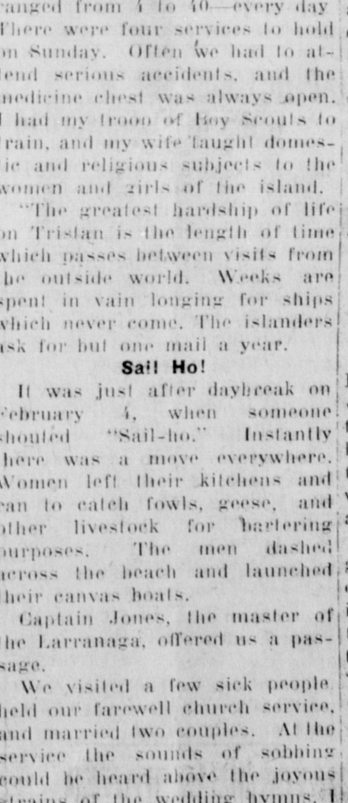
It was just after daybreak on February 4, when someone shouted "Sail-ho." Instantly there was a move everywhere. Women left their kitchens and ran to catch fowls, geese, and other livestock for bartering purposes. The men dashed across the beach and launched their canvas boats.

Captain Jones, the master of the Larranaga, offered us a passage.

We visited a few sick people, held our farewell church service, and married two couples. At the service the sounds of sobbing could be heard above the joyous strains of the wedding hymns. I shall never forget the scene.

"On the beach some of the women clung to my wife as though they could not bear to part with her; but the steamers' siren blew, and as we went aboard the islanders gave hearty cheers 'for the missionary,' and three more for Captain Jones."

The inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha are petitioning the British government to send a warship to the island annually, Mr. Rogers said.



MARY PICKFORD GOT ROLLING PIN FOR AN ANNIVERSARY GIFT

HOLLYWOOD, April 7.—Mary Pikford is wondering what she will do with a rolling pin which friend husband presented to her last week, and Doug. is trying to figure out how to make a wooden chopping bowl serve as a hat.

The occasion for these unique gifts was the wooden wedding of this distinguished pair. Right in the middle of production came their fifth anniversary, and for the time being Mary ceased to be "Little Annie Rooney" and Doug. came out of his "Don Q." chrysalis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks were married in Los Angeles five years ago by Dr. James Whitcomb Brougher, and their union is regarded as one of the most successful in the history of Hollywood stardom.

Fairbanks' chief present to his famous wife will consist of an elaborate addition to her bungalow dressing-room at the studio, completely equipped with athletic devices, a steam room and shower.

ELECTRIC CURRENT TO GUIDE AIRMEN HOME

No Matter How Dark Night or Thick the Fog Will Know Way

LONDON, April 8. — An electric current is to be used shortly to guide pilots through the fogs of England in safety to the airdrome below them.

The landing space is encircled by a cable, just under the surface of the ground, charged with an alternating current which creates a magnetic field. The presene of this field is detected by instruments carried on the plane and, according to Sir Philip Sassoon, under secretary for air, no matter how dark the night or how thick the fog, the pilot will know when he is over the landing stage.
