This Good Time To Register As Voter.

This is a good time to register as a voter. The list is open and the court of revision will sit in the spring and pass on the list. Every Canadian should want the opportunity to vote and it can be secured only if the name is on the list. It should be the business of each person to see that he or she is a qualified voter. Delay in this matter is dangerous.

It is the opinion of those who know the situation that there will be no election this year. Yet conditions may change and an election be sprung at any time and it is well to be prepared. It is only votes that count at an election. The voice of the person not qualified to vote is not worth much. If there is no election this year, there will probably be next and then the vote will be required.

Americans Like The Spectacular.

The American people like to do things in a spectacular manner. Just now there is a race going on to carry anti-toxin to the diphtheria-stricken people of Nome. Dog teams are requisitioned to get into the country and experienced mushers are driving them to the limit. Meantime arrangements are made for an airplane to be used and it is a question which will arrive first. The weather is cold and conditions for either dogs or plane are not of the best. Day by day we shall hear of the progress of the race and all take an interest in it. Yet it is hundreds of miles away, in a country almost unknown to most people.

Proposed Creamery For This City.

At Smithers this week a proposal was made to the Board of Trade that a creamery be established at Prince Rupert to serve the whole district. The suggestion seems to have come from Telkwa and will be considered by the Smithers board at a future meeting.

If it should be decided to erect the creamery here, it might be well for the city to consider its attitude toward such an institution. The Provincial Government also encourages creameries elsewhere and possibly might consider providing a site for it. There is no doubt that the products could be marketed here with advantage just as the Fraser Valley uses Vancouver as its marketing centre and establishes its creamery there. While Prince Rupert does not wish to encroach on the privileges of other centres or to appear anxious to grab everything, if it should be decided that this is the best place for the creamery the people would welcome its establishment.

Outdoor Life For Girls As Well As Boys.

Outdoor life for girls as well as boys is being urged by those interested in the welfare of the race. Organizations such as the Girl Guides help to interest girls in the woods and fields. Here is what the magazine Sunset has to say on the subject:

"We are all agreed that it is good for boys to get outdoors, to sleep on the ground under the stars, cook their own meals, chop wood, climb steep trails, learn to cast a fly and acquire that self-reliant independence which comes only from intimate contact with that rough old lady, Nature. It's only recently, though, that the gender sauce has been applied to the goose, that the outdoor-life recipe has been administered to girls as well as boys. There have been summer camps for girls ever since the outdoors became fashionable, but these 'camps' in reality were mere summer residences requiring practically no readjustment or effort on the part of the visitors. Yet it is this readjustment, this extra effort necessary to provide the essentials of life through one's own ingenuity and strength, that make camping valuable. There is no character-building value in the effort necessary to lie in a summer resort hammock or jazz on a smooth floor to radio music, but it is of permanent value to every girl to learn how to build and operate a cooking fire, how to make a comfortable bed in the woods, how to walk six hours with a pack without collapsing, how to sleep in the open without fear, how to find her way without a tax, how to be content and happy without movies, male admirers or georgette waists for a while."

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed, Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwistle, Alta., writes: "Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of sixteen months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

STORK SPEAKS ON POLITICS

Addresses Liberal Association at Annual Meeting Last Night on Interesting Topics

VOTES OF CONFIDENCE

Colonel McMorde Optimistic on Retiring from Presidency of Organization

Dealing with the subject, the Loyalty of the Mackenzie King Government, Fred Stork at the Liberal Association annual meeting last night, stated that this was evidently an election cry in anticipation of a dissolution of Parliament this year and an appeal to the people. He wanted to make the position of the Liberal Government clear in regard to this. It was one of the things they would be confronted with at the next general election, which he opined, would not come this year.

At the Canadian Club dinners and on other public occasions the people of the Dominion were urged to buy within the Empire, yet it was found that the people of Great Britain did not themselves live up to that principle. Danish farm products were sold in England prior to the war in large quantities. When war broke out these were sent to Germany and Britain could not get any. After the war the Danes again looked to the British market and got it and today Denmark found Great Britain her best customer ousting the Canadian products from the British market. This was one thing of which Canadians complained.

Wembley Affair

A similar condition of affairs existed in almost every line. Canada erected a million dollar exhibit at Wembley to show what could be done with Canadian products including British Columbia timber. Yet, when timber was needed for any other work at the exhibition, Baltic or United States timber was utilized. British people dealt with Argentine, when they might just as well deal with Canada. B.C. salmon was replaced in England by Japanese salmon canned in Siberia by men trained to do the canning in British Columbia.

"What we maintain is that when we insist that Britain must go fifty-fifty in the matter of trade, there is nothing disloyal in that. Loyalty has to work both ways. When Premier Mackenzie King says Canada must be listened to, there is nothing disloyal about that. It is only Tory propaganda that tried to make it appear so."

In connection with the Canadian debt and consequent taxation, they did not complain about having to pay their war bills. Canada was the richest country in the world in natural resources and will eventually be the greatest country on the face of the globe, Mr. Stork said. What they objected to was for the Tory Governments to go in for an orgy of spending and then the moment King comes into power, for the cry to go up that the country must be rehabilitated.

Makes Comparisons

Mr. Stork drew attention to the treatment Prince Rupert received under Conservative administration and to the prospects now before the city as a result of the effort of the Mackenzie King Government to begin to carry out the Laurier policy. He spoke of the reduction of licenses issued to Orientals by forty per cent and the fact that another fifteen per cent reduction went into force this year. The policy of elimination, if continued, would eventually place the fisheries where they belonged.

Dealing with the tie question, Mr. Stork mentioned that in the past most of the ties were cut on the Mackenzie & Mann limits, but when the Liberal administration took charge they were cut between Prince George and the coast. From 60,000 the number jumped to 1,600,000 and then to two millions and it was only the action of the Senate in defeating the branch line bills that necessitated cutting down on the number this winter. They were to blame for the condition. The building of the branch line by the C.N.R. was held up and meanwhile the C.P.R. built into the territory. They must place the blame for the present condition where it belonged.

Colonel McMorde

In his opening address before retiring from the office he has held during the past year, Col. S. P. McMorde reviewed the work done and mentioned that once more they had been successful in electing to the legislature a Liberal candidate. He mentioned a number of policies and their attitude toward them. The Government was trying to deal with the liquor problem in accordance with the will of the people.

Everybody's Friend

Life Insurance has taken on a new importance. Everybody needs it, most people want it,—it is everybody's friend. As a result, people are asking themselves today:

"Am I insurable?"

"How can I get sufficient life insurance?"

and the answer is found in the ever-increasing number of policies now being applied for.

There is a foundation for this success: The general public is rapidly coming to realize the solid basis upon which life insurance rests; that the business is subject to a rigid system of Government inspection; and that while Life Insurance is a form of organized sharing of each other's burdens, it is managed on a sound business basis.
