HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117 1/2 Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—

"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything, couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and hurting myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & S. PILLS, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CANADIAN AUTHOR TO VISIT NEAR WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Mar. 10. — Miss Martha Ostensio, who won a $14,500 prize last fall for her first novel will this spring visit in Winnipeg and in northern Manitoba, where she gathered the material that went into her novel, "The Passionate Flight." For the present Miss Ostensio is making her home in New York, where she has a studio in the heart of the writer's section, Greenwich Village, and is busy writing short stories, some of which deal with incidents of her life in Canada. Miss Ostensio will visit Winnipeg and the lake district north of Winnipeg this spring, where she hopes to gather more material for a book which she has planned, but not yet started. Later she will go abroad to study and write. The National Academy next winter will contain a portrait of the young authoress, which is being painted by Henry Hensche, winner of the recent Pulitzer prize.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:—

THE prairie farmers want some nice Old Country girls to marry them and do free work in cooking, housecleaning, choring, and a few other things around the farm. That should be much better than hiring help.

IF the present rise in fish goes on, it should soon be too high to suit local housewives.

TALKING about spring poetry here is what a man named Bentley once wrote: My songs are now of the sunset; Their brows are touched with light. But their feet are lost in the shadows And wet with the dews of night.

IF I had been writing about spring I should have made it run something like this: My song shall be of the stream-let; Of the motorboat's "put, put." The fishing pole rouses my ardor As I lie a fly to the gut.

IF George Bryant had been saying it, he would have burst forth with: My song shall be of Khtada Of the largest trout in the lake; Of a bursting angler's basket And the catch I intend to make.

THE editor would have had a kodak slung from his shoulder as he warbled: Keep still right there a moment While I quickly take a snap; To blazes with your hurry; Look pleasant now, straighten your cap.

THANK heaven the ice cream season is coming again soon. We shall need something to cheer us if the parsons go on telling us how bad we are.
