Bad Taste In Journalism.

For one of the largest newspapers in the province to speak of a public man as an old woman in one of its leading editorials is anything but good taste. Possibly the man who runs the fun column might be allowed such a liberty but surely not the editorial writer. Yet that is what happened in a recent number of the Vancouver Sun. That paper tries to ridicule the newly-appointed agent general and in doing so besmirches its own reputation.

In these days of journalistic latitude, there must be a limit to the bounds of indecency. F. A. Pauline was speaker of the Legislature prior to the last election and he held that position almost without criticism. It was a difficult one but his tact and fairness carried him through. Now he is assailed by the Vancouver Journal in a most indecent manner, just because he does not happen to live in Vancouver. It has become now that any person outside of Vancouver getting a public appointment must expect to be attacked by the people or newspapers of our big neighboring city.

Leave Route To Engineers.

The conference on the Peace River railway decided to leave the matter of route to the engineers and after all that is the only reasonable thing to do. We know little of it except what the engineers tell us. The difficulty is that engineers are often biased by political considerations and may not realize economic values. Engineers will have to provide the data on which the railwaymen will decide what route shall be taken and doubtless they will be in consultation with the politicians because they will have to have state aid in the building of the line.

Value Of Sport To The World.

John Galsworthy, the famous novelist, says: "Sport which still keeps a flag of idealism flying, is perhaps the most saving grace in the world at the moment, with its spirit of rules kept, and regard for the adversary, whether the fight is going for or against. When, if ever, the fairplay spirit of sport reigns over international affairs, the cat force which rules there now will slink away and human life emerge for the first time from the jungle."

Of course sport has other uses but the training in obedience to law and consideration for opponents is one of the most important.

Don't Stand Around Waiting For Things.

Dr. Clem Davies the other day said some very pungent things to the people of Victoria. He preaches to two thousand people every Sunday evening in Victoria's biggest theatre and hundreds are turned away. That is because he always has a message. Here is something he told them that might apply here: "There are some things we need to bury around Victoria and one of them is crepe hanging. The crepe hanger sits in his store and wonders why business doesn't come to him. He criticizes the railroads, the government, his employees, his wife and family, his environment, his city, anything and anybody but himself; or he stands around waiting for a job to come to him instead of going after the fellow to give him a job. "Business men and city leaders in Victoria haven't awakened to the fact that this is an age of publicity. Time was when a business man simply hung a sign giving his name and business. But that was a century ago. To attempt to do 'business' today without publicity, to attempt to bring prosperity to Victoria without telling the world about all the wonderful things we have here is like winking in the dark."

SOME people's idea of "cash and carry" is to keep the cash in their pockets and ask the stores to carry them.

IT would be all right to call Henry Ford "Hen" because his plans have a habit of hatching.

GOSH old dear
It was so nice
I kissed the little
Lady twice.
But she was sore,
For don't you see,
I should have made, z
The number three.

SHE put him to sleep,
And she rocked him, I saw;
He said not a peep
As she put him to sleep,
Into slumber so deep
That I watched her with awe,
She put him to sleep
With a right to the jaw!

BACHELORS ENTERTAIN

Masset, Jan. 1, 1925.
Editor, Daily News.

A very enjoyable social evening was put on by the Bachelors Club in Mr. Lunds' Hall on New Year's Eve, and at which every household in both Delkatla and Massett were represented. Also a very jolly crowd arrived from Tow Hill to spend the evening with us. These young joy hunters braved broken down bridges, washed out culverts, and riding on trucks, the floors of which were at times washed with the floods of melting snow water and rain, in their efforts to get to Massett to help us spend the last few hours of the old year together, as well as to usher in the new.

The Bachelors' Club led by the old timer, Mr. Ghas. Spence, certainly gave everyone a very enjoyable time. And it is the sincere wish of everyone that the Bachelors' Club, now that it is born will develop into a bouncing asset to our community. And may the spirit that it has developed be strengthened and encouraged in this New Year.

SKIDEGATE INLET

The Government "spotter" who was here last week stated that this Inlet would be a good resort for "Tubercular patients" as it is the "driest place on the coast."

E. Wiggins and R. Roberts were down from T'ell and spent the holidays in Skidegate.

Geo. McRae has returned home to his bungalow "Bluenose" to celebrate the holiday season, after an absence of many months.

UNGUARDED WOMEN STORY OF GIRL'S FALSE IDEA OF HAPPINESS

Bebe Daniels, Richard Dix and Mary Astor are featured in the principal roles of "Unguarded Women," an Alan Crosland Paramount production, adapted from the Saturday Evening Post serial, "Face."

The story has to do with a young fellow who, through a moment of cowardice on the battlefield, feels that he owes a great debt to the young widow of his buddy who had died "out there" while he had hesitated. The girl, without the restraining hand of a husband to guide her, has ruined her reputation in the eyes of society and is rapidly plunging herself into perdition in her blind quest for her false idea of happiness. Bebe Daniels plays the girl, Bebe Daniels, and Richard Dix is the boy, Douglas Albright. Miss Astor has the role of the other girl whom Albright really loves, though he sacrifices himself by doing what he believes to be his duty—offering Mrs. Banning the protection of his name. What does Bebe do? That's the question "Unguarded Women" is answering for hundreds of fans daily.

THE RECKLESS AGE IS FULL OF EXCITEMENT

Picture Here for the Mid-week
Sothes with Action

In "The Reckless Age," the mid-week showing at the Westholme, is a mad, joyous whirl of high society excitement—and the redoubtable Denny mingles comedy and thrills in a remarkably swift moving story, with a little of everything Denny is famous for. He stages a fight as thrilling as any in "The Leather Pushers."

The story is an adaptation of Earl Derr Biggers' Saturday Evening Post story "Love Insurance," and Denny, as an insurance "trouble shooter," is assigned to the strenuous task of watching over the romance of a nobleman who has taken out a policy against failure to marry an heiress. A blackmail plot, a necklace, a thief, a threatened breach of promise suit add comic complications—and to cap it all he falls in love with the girl.
