One cannot burn the candle at both ends

You wouldn't light a candle at both ends and expect it to last very long. And you can't attend your many duties as wife and mother, then pile on wash-day labor, and expect to keep yourself fresh and vigorous. Why not let us take care of washday toil and trouble? One of our many services will fit exactly both your needs and your purse. And you can "keep the home fires burning" without burning the candle at both ends.

Doings of the Mosquito Fleet which is the chief source of Prince Rupert's prosperity

The beautiful summer weather has permitted the nauticals to get into a real summer season stride along the waterfront this week. There has been much "slapdabbing" of paint brushes and boats arriving in port are stopping over to take advantage of the excellent opportunity for putting on copper and decorative coverings in this line.

Boats of the sealing fleet are practically ready to make their initial jump of the season while the trollers are putting in long hours on the trolling grounds. The salmon run at Hippo Island has improved greatly during the past week while the run in the Dundas Island district is picking up well.

The halibut landings were heavy during the first part of the week but have fallen off somewhat towards the end. A feature of the sales this week has been the good prices offered for Canadian fares, which in some cases have exceeded the American catches by a cent for both first and second class fish. The weather on the deep sea fishing grounds has been all that could be desired and full advantage has been taken of it.

The waterfront machine shops are fairly busy on cannery work and related boat overhauls while the local shipyards are fully occupied.

Arrivals

Arrivals this week include: American—Eastern Point, Atlas, Senator, Rainier, Cora, June, Tahoma, Hilda, Ford, Foremost, Valor, Summer, Reliance, Royal, Liuyia, North, Sentinel, Oona, Flattery, Naomi, National, Uramus and Tye.

Canadian—Muirneag, Gibson, Nuba, Livingstone, Kain, Maude, Fanny F., White Lily, H. & R. M., M. Christopher, Selma, Fisher, Swing, Mab, Sea Maid, Prosperity, A., Verna, N. & S., Alli, S.A., A., Verna, N. & S., Alli, S.A.

The coastal cruiser Leinsh, skippered by her owner Thor Johnson, was out with a large party last week end on a fishing trip and captured some speckled beauties.

The cruiser Vaquero, owned by A. Macdonald, has been given her finishing touches in anticipation of a long summer cruise. She looks resplendent in a coat of white and green paint trimmed with a fine red line.

The power boat Shawlans, skippered by Stan Taylor, was out with a party last week end when some excellent fishing was accomplished, and Sunbeam II, Doug Stork's boat, also indulged in a piscatorial exploit with much success.

A Horrible Death

On Thursday morning the Waif man heard of the horrible death of an old sailor in Winchester, England, in the year 1700. It seems that the old fellow was fond of a glass of beer at frequent intervals but his income would only permit of him taking small glasses at a sitting. The fact that he could not afford to take big glasses of the beverage so undermined his health that he lay down and died with a poor constitution. The fact is recorded on deceased's headstone in Winchester graveyard, according to assistant commodore Snell Thompson.

Canadian schooners taken up on the Ward ways for painting and overhaul this week include the Onanah, Selma, Beaver Cove, Kobe and Cape Spear. The Beaver Cove has recently been sold to Japanese interests.

Bob Goes Swimming

Bob Thomas sweating in the sun exclaims "I'm fairly on the bum" He mops his brow and says "Let's see, I think I'll take the twenty three."

And so across the bay he goes With lots of speed and little clothes, Arriving on the other side He makes a dash for Salt Lake tide.

No soul in sight, he's all alone, "By gad! I've left my Jantzen home."

He doesn't give a darn — the brute, He's still got on his birthday suit.

And like a porpoise in the sea The skipper of the twenty three Enjoys a bit of relaxation, Cap. Swanson says "Twas Bob's vacation."

Boat Launched

The new halibut boat, built for Capt. John Wicks on the McLean ways, was launched on the high tide early on Thursday morning. The gurdy is yet to be installed and the gear get ready. Trial trips of the new boat will be run over the week end.

The keel of the Havmoller 40 foot halibut boat will be laid next week at the McLean yards.

The tugboat Tide Rip and Cumshewa of the George Bushby towing fleet are to be taken up on the McLean ways for general overhaul.

The Canadian schooner Sea Maid, Capt. Candow, which is engaged on halibut research work under Prof. W. F. Thompson, returned from the Hecate Straits where 600 halibut were tagged on Wednesday and marketed 5,000 pounds of halibut caught on the trip. The Canadian schooner Scrub brought in the first tagged halibut on Thursday morning, the fish having been caught in Hecate Straits.

The Vancouver tugboat R.F.M. on Monday towed the Vancouver Dredging & Salvage Co.'s dredging scow to Hastings Arm near Stewart, where it will be used in the securing of gravel for the elevator superstructure.

Captain Don Yelf arrived in port this week from the Hippo Island trolling grounds with 32,000 pounds of spring salmon. Cap reports that the salmon run in that district was good when he left on the homeward trip.

Chance in Port

The power boat Chance, formerly owned and skippered by Stewart Steel, arrived in port from Anyox last week with her new owner Capt. Simpson on the

For Lasting Service

Two things account for the popularity of Barrett Sheathings: their uniformly high quality, and their low cost per year of service.

Barrett Tarred Sheathings are unexcelled for siding, for lining under roofs and floors—for all purposes demanding a rugged, wind-proof sheathing that is proof against rot, mildew and vermin.

Barrett Dry Sheathings are equally satisfactory for use wherever a tarred sheathing is not required.

Barrett
SHEATHINGS

We recommend Barrett Sheathings. We know that they're 100% right—always give satisfactory service.

There is a Barrett Sheathing and a Barrett Roofing to meet every building requirement. Come in and talk it over.
