CALLIES BEAT ENGLISHMEN

Hard Fought Football Match But Losers Play With One Man Short

In a game that was featured by hard fast play all the way, the Callies defeated the Sons of England two to nothing in last night's city championship soccer match.

The Sons of England, who were one man short right through the game, won the toss and elected to kick down hill in the first half. The play was even throughout the period and no scoring resulted. Both sides missed good scoring chances and there was too much heavy kicking.

With the grade in their favor in the second half, the Callies had the best of the play except for a few dangerous breakaways which, however, the Sons failed to finish to advantage. Jimmie Hamilton scored the first for the Callies and R. McDougall the second from a penalty.

Considering the state of the weather, a good crowd was in attendance.

W. Murray refereed the game in the absence of Tom Jones who was called away on account of his child having sustained an accident. A. Clapperton and George Waugh were the linesmen and the teams took the field as follows:

Callies — W. Hamilton; H. Hamilton and M. Andrews; J. Harris, S. Currie and R. Woods; A. Mitchell, R. McDougall, W. Mitchell, J. Hamilton and J. Andrews.

Sons of England—R. Howe; H. Hanson and G. Kelsey; P. Cameron, A. Bales and Dr. E. S. Tait; G. Howe, J. Johnson, A. Dickens and J. Farquhar.

The league standing to date is as follows:

	W.	L.	Pts.
Callies	2	0	4
S. of E.	1	1	2
G.W.V.A.	1	1	2
Cold Storage	0	2	0

CRICKET DYING IN ENGLAND

Leading Journal Deplores Lack of Effort to Develop Young Players

LONDON, Eng., June 12—(By Canadian Press). — England's vain attempt to wrest the cricket laurels from Australia in the test matches last winter has brought out considerable criticism from numerous sportsmen, many of whom express the opinion that the national game has not the hold on the British public that once was the case. The necessity of fostering the spirit of the game is put forward by representatives of practically all the country clubs and many have established "nurseries" where youthful aspirants to first class honors are given every opportunity to attain proficiency in all branches of sport.

In an article published recently "The Field," England's leading sporting journal adds its voice to the demand pointing out that opportunities for youthful cricketers to realize their ambition of one day playing for "the county" are decreasing as the years pass.

"How far have we drifted since the days of the all England elevens may be easily discovered from a brief examination of the history of the game," says the writer of the article.

"With very few country matches the All England Eleven, the United All England Eleven and, later, the United South of England Eleven, were able to oppose various provincial twenty-twos, who all took their places in the field. These matches gave chances of distinction to innumerable local players who would otherwise have never been heard of, and many men who became famous first gained attention by a good bowling or batting performance against the greatest players of the day. With the continued increase of county matches these elevens gradually dropped out. But the M.C.C. sent strong teams to each of the Universities, who were also visited by still stronger Gentlemen of England teams, organised firstly by Mr. C. I. Thornton, secondly by Mr. A. J. Webbe. Furthermore, there were desperately keen matches between North and South and Gentlemen vs. Players, as well as encounters between the Gentlemen and Players of the South and the M.C.C. and the counties at Lord's. Thus in ever so many ways there were chances for young players to try their luck in games against the greatest players of the day. All these matches, except Gentlemen vs. Players at Lord's and the Oval have died out entirely, and the match at Lord's is alone representative.

"To replace the lost matches we have nothing—absolutely nothing. Even the match at Lord's seems to be regarded as a reward for past excellence rather than for present ability. In fact, our cricket has now become subsurvient to the country championship. So much is this the case that unless a player is specially qualified for a first class county he has practically no early chance of playing in first class cricket at all."

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up-stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HELEN KELLER ON THE AIR

Voice to be Heard Round the World on Radio Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. — The voice of Helen Keller, created by herself after years of patient effort, will be radiated over the Pacific Ocean tonight, June 13, at 11.50 p.m., and heard by millions on the other side of the earth. This feat will be accomplished by the world's most remarkable blind and deaf woman speaking softly before a microphone in the San Francisco studio of KGO, the General Electric Pacific Coast Station.

Sensitive Fingers

Recent practice before KGO microphones showed that Helen Keller's voice over radio was even more distinct than when coming through the air direct from her mouth. While speaking she touched the vibrating discs of radio head-phones and felt the rhythmic pulsations of her own voice. Her sensitive fingers even detected the difference between speech and music. When her name was pronounced three times over the air she recognized it twice—saying with the KGO announcer, "Helen Keller, Helen Keller." With her face beaming she declared: "It will help me to speak!" Sounds like "d," "e," "b," she said "felt" much alike to her. But with practice it was said she believed a difference might be detected.

Several years ago, at the suggestion of Thomas A. Edison, Helen Keller began practicing talking into a small cedar box, feeling the vibrating wood, in her struggle to form mental pictures of different sounds and then make the sounds herself. Just the small practice in the KGO studios, it was declared, improved her voice, giving it more natural rhythmic qualities.

8,000 Miles in Instant

Owing to the difference in time, listeners on the other side of the earth, will hear Helen Keller's voice in the evening of the day before she speaks at KGO. However, it was explained by engineers, the actual energy radiated from the KGO antenna will reach Australia, 8,000 miles distant, in one-fifth of the time between ticks of a watch.

Ann Sullivan Macy, life-long friend and teacher of Helen Keller, will also be heard. She will tell the story of Helen Keller's life, and explain how she taught her to understand "the swaying of trees," "the strength of a lion," and many other interesting things, seemingly impossible to communicate to a person who could neither hear, see, or at the time, speak a word.

LAKE KATHLYN DANCE PROVED ENJOYABLE

Young People Visited Mrs. Birnie's Summer Camp Over New Road

SMITHERS, June 13. — A pleasant dance was held at Mrs. Birnie's summer camp at Lake Kathlyn on Tuesday night when a number of young folks motored from town and enjoyed several hours dancing in the hall on the lake shore.

Mrs. Birnie's camp is now in full swing and as she is prepared to serve refreshments to campers it should make holidaying at the lake very popular this summer.

The new road is now open for traffic and the Auto Club is planning to put in a number of improvements in the way of recreation grounds and more camping sites which should make a hit with the public, as at times the playground space was very limited.
